

SOCIAL HAPPENINGS

Unique Surprise Party

The immediate neighborhood, friends and relatives of Mrs. V. H. Morgan gave her quite a pleasant surprise Saturday evening by the presenting chair and other beautiful gifts. Mrs. Morgan was immensely surprised when she answered the ring at the front door at 6:30 to receive the chair and the crowd of friends standing before her. She was escorted back to the living room where she was seated in the chair and received her other gifts and presents which were as follows:—

Miss V. H. Morgan many happy returns of September 14. With deepest love from her many friends. When her daughter, Mrs. Mae Willey, came in a little later, Mrs. Morgan greeted her with the words, "I love everybody" and told her of the lovely surprise party she had enjoyed.

INTRODUCTION OF AUTUMN FASHIONS

The Portals of Fashion have opened at last evidencing many portending changes and significant innovations, which will be presented at our

Early Showing of Stylish Garments on Wednesday and Thursday September 17th and 18th

While the straight line is the shortest route to dress smartness — there are many subtle changes in the silhouette — the fitted hip line with a softness and looseness above and below — the Directoire influences depicted mostly in high turn-over collars and flowing ties, etc. — the Redingote effect and the flared bottom skirt — All new and good —

In the matter of skirt lengths, they are undeniably shorter — from 8 to 12 inches from the ground, if they are fashionable.

Ribbed silks, coarse bengalies or finest failles, satins or heavy crepes are all popular — Coat fabrics tend to be smooth and suede-like to the touch.

Furs are lavishly used in borders, panels and fancy motives.

Blouses stress the knee-length tunic.

Colors are important and many new shades are introduced and lead verve to the new season — Reddish browns, citrine yellow, artichoke, cedar wood, clay tones, navy and black —

We cannot do more than to invite you most cordially for a personal tour of Fashiondom at our store on Wednesday and Thursday —

Come see the Fall Apparel in a most attractive array.
