Series To End In Washington

Polo Grounds, New York, Oct. 8.—Again Washington's peerless Walter Johnson failed today to stem the tide of the Giants' batting, and the Senators went down in their third defeat, putting New York within one game of the series.

McGraw had been expected to use his big berth against Johnson, but Nel's injured thumb, though much improved, was still sore and the winner of the first game of the series was not used.

Walter Johnson was given his second trial at the Polo Grounds today in the Washington Series, which the Washington Senator was anxious to win, so that they might for the first time take the lead in the game standing. He was opposed by Jack Bentley.

Roger Pockinpaugh, Senator shortstop, was unable to get into the lineup again today on account of an injured knee. The lineup:

Washington
McNeely, center field.
Harris, second base.
Rice, right field.
Bludge, first base.
Ruel, catcher.
Miller, third base.
Johnson, pitcher.

New York
Lindstrom, third base.
Frisch, second base.
Young, right field.
Kelly, center field.
Terry, first base.
Wilson, left field.
Jackson, shortstop.
Gowdy, catcher.
Bentley, pitcher.

Umpires—At the plate, Connelly; at first base, Klem; at second base, Dineen; at third base, Quisenberry.

Batteries—Washington, Johnson and Ruel; New York, Bentley and Gowdy.

First Inning
Senators—Lindstrom robbed McNeely of a hit with a leaping catch. Wilson took Harris' long fly and Terry captured Rice's hoist. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Second Inning
Senators—Goslin started off with an infield single, his fifth straight hit in two days. Wilson took Judge's fly and Terry dropped Bludge's hoist, but Frisch recovered the ball and threw to Jackson in time to catch Goslin at second. Ruel walked, Miller was thrown out at first by Frisch. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Third Inning
Senators—The stands rose and cheered Johnson as he walked to the plate. He singled into left but was thrown out trying for second. McNeely beat out a bunt to Lindstrom. Harris scratched a hit to second. Rice popped to Gowdy, and Frisch threw out Goslin. No runs, three hits, no errors.

Fourth Inning
Senators—Judge started off the Senators fourth inning with a single against the right field wall and was sacrificed to second by Bludge. Ruel went out, Jackson to Terry. Judge scored on Miller's single to right field, but Miller went out, Young to Frisch, when he tried to stretch his blow to a double. One run, two hits, no errors.

Fifth Inning
Senators—Lindstrom led off the Giants' fifth inning with a single to center field, but Miller took Frisch's high fly and McNeely gathered in Young's fly and New York's 18-year-old third baseman went out trying to steal second, Ruel to Harris. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Sixth Inning
Senators—Rice fanned. Goslin also struck out after hitting the ball into the right field stands and it was ruled foul. Judge singled past Frisch, but Bentley fanned Bludge. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Seventh Inning
Senators—Ruel walked, Miller went out to Terry unassisted, Ruel going to second and Kelly took Johnson's sky scraper. McNeely walked and Young took Harris' fly. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Eighth Inning
Senators—Frisch threw out Ruel at first on a close play. Goslin got a home run to the right field bleachers. Judge singled to right and Bentley was sent to the showers. McCallan relieved him. Frisch threw out Bludge. Judge going to second and Lindstrom threw out Ruel. One run, two hits, no errors.

Ninth Inning
Senators—Lindholm batted for Miller in Washington's ninth. He flied out to Kelly. Tate batting for Johnson, walked, and Taylor was sent in to run for him. He went to second without a play being made for him. McNeely fanned and Harris flied out to Wilson. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Tenth Inning
Senators—Lindholm batted for Miller in Washington's ninth. He flied out to Kelly. Tate batting for Johnson, walked, and Taylor was sent in to run for him. He went to second without a play being made for him. McNeely fanned and Harris flied out to Wilson. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Eleventh Inning
Senators—Lindholm batted for Miller in Washington's ninth. He flied out to Kelly. Tate batting for Johnson, walked, and Taylor was sent in to run for him. He went to second without a play being made for him. McNeely fanned and Harris flied out to Wilson. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Twelfth Inning
Senators—Lindholm batted for Miller in Washington's ninth. He flied out to Kelly. Tate batting for Johnson, walked, and Taylor was sent in to run for him. He went to second without a play being made for him. McNeely fanned and Harris flied out to Wilson. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Thirteenth Inning
Senators—Lindholm batted for Miller in Washington's ninth. He flied out to Kelly. Tate batting for Johnson, walked, and Taylor was sent in to run for him. He went to second without a play being made for him. McNeely fanned and Harris flied out to Wilson. No runs, no hits, no errors.

City Manager?

"Does Elizabeth City want the city manager form of government?"

This is the question that Councilman L. S. Gordon, chairman of the special committee appointed by Mayor Gowdy, brought before the council today in connection with the applications for the position of city manager of Elizabeth City and to recommend to the council a successor to City Manager Bray, ask readers of this newspaper to answer in order that he may ascertain the sentiment of the people in this matter.

MAYOR BAIN WILL BE HERE THURSDAY

Govt. Sargent Edgar H. Bain, of Goldsboro, will pay an official visit to Elizabeth City on Thursday, Oct. 8, to inspect the new No. 8, Improved Order of Red Men, on Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

It is expected that a large number of the members will attend the meeting of this organization at the head of the order in North Carolina. Mr. Bain was expected to visit the tribe last Saturday night, but conditions developed which prevented him from doing so.

Ham Makes A Favorable First Night Impression

In Quiet Message and With Every Evidence of Sincerity, Conviction, and Faith That He Is Called of God to His Work Evangelist Outlines Campaign Plan

They say that a revival does not last. Neither does a bath. But I hope that Ramsey will not only take them on that account as long as he stays around me.

So said Evangelist Ham, who in his first talk at the Ham-Ramsay tabernacle, instead of preaching the sermon with which he usually opens his campaign, undertook to answer some of the objections to the campaign that have been current here since it was announced.

"Some aspects of a revival," he said, "are not expected to last. Spring doesn't last, but we expect to look forward to its return each year. Summer doesn't last, but we expect to look forward to its return each year. Autumn and winter do not last, but they too serve their purpose. Quiet spoken and not at all sensational, with the ring of sincerity in each tone, Mr. Ham told his audience how he was educated for the law and how, while working to become an evangelist, he spent the practice of his chosen profession, he went on the road as a traveling salesman and was planning for a brief business career and then a return to the law as soon as he had accumulated the nucleus of a fortune when he was called to the ministry.

"Answering that call," he said, "may have meant some sacrifice financially. But I would not exchange the experience of any six weeks that I have had in the work in which I am now engaged for all the wealth that a successful business man can accumulate in a life time."

Asserting that he was "a revivalist as opposed to the rationalist, a trinitarian as opposed to the unitarian, a creationist as opposed to the evolutionist, an expansionist as opposed to the reductionist, a regenerationist as opposed to a naturalist and a supernaturalist as opposed to the naturalist," Evangelist M. F. Ham Tuesday night committed himself most unreservedly to the fundamentalist view of the teaching of the scriptures in his salutatory message to Elizabeth City which he delivered before an audience numbering well over 2,500 at the Ham-Ramsay tabernacle. In this introductory message, which marked the opening of the campaign proper, the evangelist outlined clearly and with definite assurance, and with every evidence of profound conviction, earnestness and sincerity the nature of the campaign which he plans to conduct and gave advice to the local religious forces which participate in the campaign as to how they could best adjust themselves and their program so as to secure the greatest benefit from the meetings.

Mr. Ham, personally impressed, his audience with his message as was evidenced by the throng which pressed forward at the close of the service to greet him and express their hearty endorsement of the program he plans to carry out in the campaign.

The evangelist entered the tabernacle toward the close of the service and, accompanied by S. H. Thompson, pastor of the First Baptist Church, went directly to the audience where he was greeted by the platform where he was greeted by the audience.

At the conclusion of the song service, Mr. Ramsey introduced to the audience D. B. Walters, a prominent traveling man from New Bern and a convert of the Ham-Ramsay campaign in that city some two years ago. Mr. Walters, in a brief but gripping address, told of the great blessing which had come into his life through his surrender to Jesus Christ and predicted that Elizabeth City would reap even greater blessings from the ministry of Evangelist Ham than did his own city.

Mr. Walters and his 24-year-old son, Professor Christ, together during the Ham-Ramsay campaign at New Bern.

Mr. Hampton, in a brief statement welcomed the evangelist to the city and pledged to him the support of the ministry and church forces of the city, after which he introduced Mr. Ham to the audience. Without any preliminary questions, Mr. Ham called the audience to prayer and a brief notice of the great work which he had undertaken, after which he planned at once into his message.

Stating that he felt that a few introductory statements should be made in order to acquaint his hearers with the real purpose of the campaign and to arm them for combating many misconceptions which he had discovered to be prevalent in the community, Mr. Ham announced that he would not undertake to preach a sermon, but would rather talk with the audience and answer their questions.
