

WOMEN'S INTERESTS

Women Run Eagerly In The Political Races

Elections This Year Find Them Making Many Political Speeches and Seeking All Sorts of Public Offices Just Like the Men

New York, Nov. 1.—The sturdy old campaigners who applauded Susan B. Anthony was arrested for voting in the presidential election of 1872, little dreamed that 52 years later women would not only have the franchise nationally, but would be candidates for office, and that women would be running for the office of state governor.

In the present national campaign women are matching candidates, speeches and speaker with the men, and are actively working shoulder to shoulder with the male political workers of all parties. Although their vote in the presidential election of 1920, their interest in that campaign was largely restricted to a visit to the polls on election day, but this year finds them with equal representation on the national committees of the major parties, under state option, and entering politics on a fifty-fifty basis with the men, they now have a solid foothold in party councils, national, state, district, county or local.

Never before have women so actively sought public political office. Mrs. M. A. Ferguson, Democratic candidate for governor of Texas, and Mrs. Nellie G. Ross, Democratic nominee for governor in Wyoming, are prominent in the list because no other woman seeks a gubernatorial chair, but conspicuous before the voters are the names of several women candidates for Congress, as well as for state, county and city offices.

Pennsylvania has six women candidates for a seat in the national House of Representatives. They are: Elizabeth R. Colburn, running on the Prohibition and Labor ticket; Daisy M. Detterline, Labor; Anna Van Skike, Prohibition; Mrs. L. Blankenbush, Prohibition; Jennie Dornblum, Socialist-Labor; and Jessie L. Collet, Democratic-Independent-Labor.

In other states the Socialist party has named as its candidates for the House: Isabel C. King, California; Mrs. Kenna Sissman, Illinois; Ruby Herman, Washington; and Mrs. Minnie McFarland, Oregon.

Women Democrats seeking election to the House are Mary Ward Hart of Illinois; Nellie Cline of Kansas; and Mary T. Norton of New Jersey. The Republicans have only one woman congressional candidate. She is Mary Giles Howard, of Tennessee. Luella Barton of Nebraska is running on the Prohibition ticket and Carrie L. Engle on the Independent.

A list of the candidates, however, gives little indication of the work women are doing in national politics this year. At Republican headquarters in New York women have their own "war chests" raised and spent by themselves or in co-operation with the men; they have their own strategists, their own election bureaus; their own election officials, their canvassers, and their representatives on election boards.

The offices of Mrs. Charles H. Sablin, member of the Republican national executive committee and director of women's campaign activities in the east division, occupy an entire floor of the party headquarters. In a room walled with varnished "walnut" maps Mrs. Sablin sits at a desk covered with telephones and wires of flowers, and directs a feminine offensive along a front that embraces all of New England, New York and New Jersey. She organizes schools for women orators; administers a staff of 8,000 active workers; has a speakers' bureau that already has supplied 300 major political meetings. Through a network of affiliated clubs and societies Mrs. Sablin has enlisted campaign subscriptions from 6,000 women. Only six women subscribed to the Republican "war chest" in 1916.

The same is true and to a like degree in the offices of Mrs. Mrs. Dorothy R. Jackson, who holds the title of assistant general manager at the Democratic eastern headquarters. Her zone of operations stretches from Maine to New Jersey, and she has organized women politicians and voters into a powerful auxiliary of the party organization.

Probably the most striking indication of the extent to which women have joined the political campaign is seen at Progressive headquarters in New York, where Mrs. Gordon Norris presides over an organization that operates independently and yet in co-operation with the La-Follette-Wheeler machine.

Mrs. Norris daily consults with hundreds of workers. Her aids, concentrating on the clubs, societies and unions of professional working girls, are, she says, moving a "fundamental" backbone of the campaign. Her speakers, notably Jane Addams and Harriot Stanton Blatch, undertake

What Family Can Beat This?

Six generations of one family are represented in this picture. In the bottom row from left to right are Mrs. Julia Baker, 75; Mrs. Lydia Fox, 84; Mrs. Maude Langdon, 71; and Ruby Alvin Lee, just one year old. In the top row are Mrs. Clara Weston, 97; Mrs. George Weston, 72; Mrs. Mary Weston, 68; Mrs. George Weston, 64; Mrs. George Weston, 60; and Mrs. George Weston, 56.

Social Happenings

Thirty-fifth Wedding Anniversary

South Mills, Nov. 1.—On Friday evening of last week, Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Duncan entertained a host of friends at their home in South Mills. The happy occasion was a celebration of their thirty-fifth wedding anniversary. The color scheme, coral and white, was carried out in every detail. Beautiful pink and white chrysanthemums were used in profusion and delicious refreshments were served. The out of town guests were: Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Perry and daughter of Belvidere, Mr. and Mrs. P. W. Sawyer and daughter of Portsmouth, Mrs. Alice Duncan, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Frank, Mrs. H. D. Reed, Mrs. W. R. Pike, and Mrs. Benjamin Spruill of Norfolk.

stumps, tours lasting for weeks, and scarcely a Progressive party gathering is held that is not addressed by some one or more of Mrs. Norris' staff orators.

Little Lady Coats for Small Women

A lustrous pile fabric fashions this coat—tucked inserts of cloth combination make the distinctive ornamentation.

Coats for the Small Woman

COATS with all the style of modes for larger women—made to fit the small woman instantly without alterations.

Not Junior-miss modes, but coats designed especially for the small woman's particular personality.

In all the newest styles, fabrics and furs. Attractively priced.

Mitchell's

PHONE 100

Gets In

Immigration authorities didn't find Countess Catharine Karolyi, wife of a former president of Hungary, the "radical" S. Stanwood Menken, president of the National Security League, had pictured her. They readily opened the gates at Ellis Island to her. She is in this country on a lecture tour.

and attending the Hum-Ramsay meeting.

Mrs. Walter Twiford of Manns Harbor is visiting her sister, Mrs. R. A. Hopkins on Cypress street.

Leonard Hopkins of Stumpy Point was in the city Thursday on business.

Mrs. D. E. Mann of Manns Harbor spent Thursday with her sister, Mrs. A. B. Gibbs on Second street.

Gismouth Cosby is spending a few days with relatives at Newport News.

Miss Goldy Gray, C. S. Midgett and D. M. Gray of Stumpy Point are spending several days in the city visiting friends and relatives.

THE APOTHECARY SHOP
Phone 400
A Good Drug Store

QUALITY AND ECONOMY

Quality is the foundation of true economy. When quality is considered first our prices are, by far, the lowest.

We are the only cleaning plant in the city equipped to do real Dry Cleaning; therefore why take a chance on expensive garments?

We use only experienced help; not a man with us having had less than five (5) years' experience in a pressing club.

WE DO BLEATING.

When our other equipment arrives we will have the best equipped plant in Eastern North Carolina. Let us Serve You.

Cooper Cleaning Works

PHONE 280.

ALKRAMA

TUESDAY & WEDNESDAY

A THRILLING SCENE FROM FRED NIBLO'S "THY NAME IS WOMAN"

The Fred Niblo Production

Thy Name Is Woman

Adapted by BESS MEREDYTH from BENJAMIN GLAZIER'S American version of the international stage success by KARL SCHOENHERR

Featuring
RAMON NOVARRO
"the perfect lover of the screen," fresh from his sensational success in the title role of Rex Ingram's "Saramouche"

and
BARBARA LA MARR
as the lovely Guerita, a tiger-moth of a woman, vivid, gay and appalling.

It Will Carry You to an Ecstasy of Excitement

Fashion News Notes

Copyright, 1921, by The Advance

New York, Nov. 1.—A new bracelet is a flexible ribbon of platinum set with small square sapphires. Between the sapphires is a design in tiny diamonds. The bracelet snugly fits the wrist.

New York, Nov. 1.—Although the warm shades of brown and beige with a suggestion of roses to them are still very popular today the grays are coming to the fore in hosiery. These new grays range from silver through fog to that interesting black steel tone known as carbon.

New York, Nov. 1.—Deep blue, moss and jade green, and a certain rich heliotrope seem to be the favorite colors for evening cloaks just now. These handsome garments invariably have enormous collars of fur.

New York, Nov. 1.—The large leather fan is going to be a vital part of the winter evening costume. Needless to say, the bigger the fan and the brighter its hue, the greater its smartness.

New York, Nov. 1.—Four colors appear in all sort of combinations when top coats or ensembles suit life in question. On-favorite is black trimmed with squirrel or some other light fur. The other colors are penny, shutter green, and rust.

New York, Nov. 1.—Amber and black onyx make up an unusual necklace which embodies one smart color combination of the season. In this case the amber was cut into cubes, and the onyx was in cylindrical beads.

New York, Nov. 1.—Some of the latest wedding rings are not wholly of platinum. Many brides seem to prefer a carved pattern in which platinum and gold are intertwined.

Paris, Nov. 1.—One way of making the high crown look even higher is to overtop it with two of the lofty, wired loops of moire ribbon. The ribbon is held to the brim by a director's steel buckle.

London, Nov. 1.—A recent fashion show proved that not only frocks but shoes will be very décollete. The return of the waistline is presaged by a belt of soft material and here and there by a flaring skirt of the old time "bell" type.

Paris, Nov. 1.—Applied velvet flowers now appear on evening gowns, boudoir robes, hats and afternoon coats.

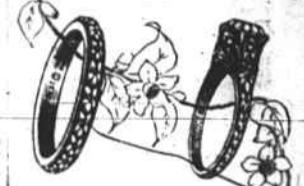

The New Gloves

Correct to the latest detail are these new gloves—Real kid in the popular lengths—also all that is good in fabric gloves—at prices that are right.

M. Leigh Sheep Co.

Seamless and Hand Chased

By selecting the genuine Orange Blossom ring—which bears the Traub trademark and the words Orange Blossom on the inner surface—you will obtain a ring whose design is hammered by hand into the metal, not merely cut.

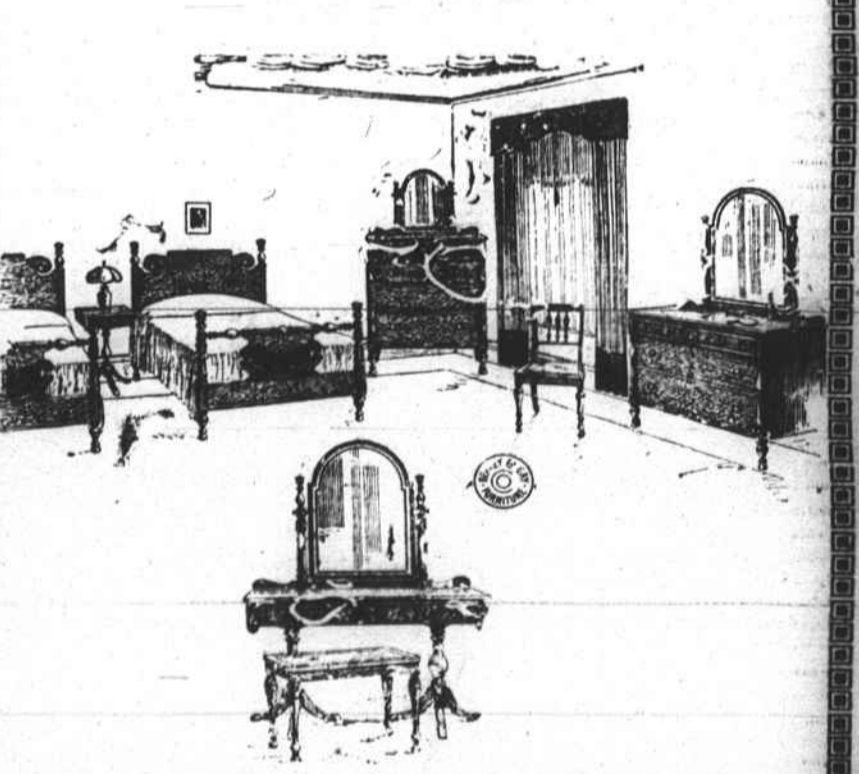

Genuine (641)
Orange Blossom
Wedding and Engagement
RINGS

LOUIS SELIG
Your Jeweler Since 1882

New Designs

—in—

Living Room and Dining Room Furniture

We have just received some new designs—both in living room and dining room furniture. They are beautiful patterns and we want you to see them.

Quinn Furniture Co.

"Mail Order Solicited"

THE VOGUE FOR GORES

The neatest, trimmest idea that has been devised in Shoe Circles for some time, is the Gored Footwear. These clever Gores are made in front and side patterns and are to be found in styles with low, medium and dress heels, in wide variety of fabrics, leathers and sport styles. You will like them for their trig fit, as well as their evident stylish appearance.

OWENS SHOE COMPANY
HINTON BUILDING

MAVIS

FACE POWDER

It does two remarkable things—protects and preserves the skin, gives it beauty. Lastingly fast with irresistible Mavis perfume. In white, flesh, rose and Rachel.

VIVAUDOU