

WOMEN'S INTERESTS

"FEMININE BLUEBEARD" IS A MOST DARING CRIMINAL

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 13—Another chapter in a story of crime-rivaling the famous "Bluebeard" murders in France has been written with the escape of a woman "lifer" from the Indiana women's prison.

Displaying the same clever criminal skill which police alleged caused her to murder two husbands and a father-in-law by slowly poisoning them to death, Mrs. Clara Carl escaped from the prison. So far no trace of her has been found. She is considered one of the most daring women criminals in the country.

There is a cool, calm and deliberate manner about Mrs. Carl. It was manifest when she was charged with the crime three years ago, and again was shown when prison authorities after her escape found that for weeks she had been planning her break for liberty.

Feeding Chickens So cleverly did she outwit the prison authorities that she took all belongings with her. Mrs. Carl had deceived the warden into believing that she could be trusted and she was assigned to feeding the chickens in the prison yard. Just at dusk one evening, she climbed up on the chicken house, then on the prison wall and dropped over on the outside.

Since murder charges were first preferred against her she has been known as "the feminine Bluebeard."

Her life story is a curious mixture of crime, love, happiness and tragedy.

She was the beautiful daughter of a farmer living near New Straitsville, Ohio.

When a young girl she eloped with Robert Gibson, young son of a New Straitsville florist. They had been childhood sweethearts.

Robert and Clara appeared deeply in love. They went to Cleveland, where Gibson was a teacher. His wife was employed on a newspaper.

They conceived the idea of getting rich by going from town to town, writing and selling illustrated histories of various localities.

They went to Huntsville, Mo., where Gibson became suddenly ill. Doctors seemed unable to help him and he died within a short time.

A few months later Clara married Frank Carl at Seneca, Kas. The couple went to New Philadelphia, Ind., and invited the husband's father, Alonzo Carl, 85, to live with them.

Again a mysterious malady afflicted Clara's husband. The father-in-law also became suddenly ill.

Frank Carl was a picture of health, and was noted for his powerful physique.

But within a month his strength left him so fast that he became a living skeleton.

Bodies Exhausted When both the husband and father-in-law died terrible deaths, the county prosecutor was deluged with letters demanding an investigation. Examination of their bodies revealed enough arsenic to "kill a dozen men," according to the prosecutor.

The trial in 1922 resulted in a second degree murder conviction and a life sentence.

Apparently the motive of "feminine Bluebeard" was to obtain the petty fortunes of her two husbands.

Christmas Furs Soon Be Ready

Furriers Busy on Marvelous Creations for the Holiday Trade

By ALLEN LAMONT
Copyright, 1925, by The Advance
New York, Oct. 13—Furriers already are at work on marvelous fur wraps intended for possible Christmas presents this year. For the formal garments, sable, mink or ermine usually are chosen with the skins worked in horizontal, diagonal or sunburst effects.

The ermine coats usually are trimmed with white fox. For street coats, mink, broad tail, caracul and squirrel seem most popular. Caracul, which takes eyes so wonderfully, is often handed, collared and cuffed with silver fox.

Still Uncrushed For a person to sit on another's hat has been good for a laugh for years, both in and out of the theater, but the jokes fall with the new Austrian velour head covers now being worn with nearly every sport costume. These are non-crushable and withstand wind, weather and packing and crushing. The various widths of brim in which they come make it possible to adapt them to any profile becomingly.

Black Legs Again Ankles may be thick and frequently are, but stockings continue to be thin. So sheer are the hose now being exhibited in the smart shops that it is difficult to determine their exact shade when they are on. The new gun metal shade looks like very sheer black chiffon. Real black is beginning again to make an occasional appearance after long retirement.

Gold Flowers Yellow flowers are by no means uncommon but gold flowers are of a departure this season. Gold and silver trimmings have never before been in such evidence. Many Woolen dresses have their collars, collars and cuffs composed of gold leather cut so as to represent flowers. Similar trimmings are being used for hats and with one sleeveless evening costume large gold flowers are worn bracelet-wise on the wrists.

NOTED CON MAN OFF FOR EUROPE

By OWEN L. SCOTT
Copyright, 1925, by The Advance
Chicago, Oct. 13—Joseph R. Weil, the notorious "Yellow Kid" known far and wide as this country's ace among con men, is off to try his stuff on the nobility of Europe.

The Kid, up to the present, has spent a crowded life talking American financiers out of their gold in between the time it has taken to talk various and sundry judges out of always impending prison sentences.

Lately the pace has become too warm. Twice within recent weeks the Yellow Kid has enjoyed a jolting ride in a patrol wagon. Once a timely court order caught up with the wagon just before it reached the housegaw. The Kid was saved. The next time the order of release failed to show up until his offending figure had reposed for 28 minutes within the confines of a cell.

Rather cheeky, alleged to have been signed by Yellow Kid, have commenced bouncing back in quick order, while one judge has been found who hasn't succumbed to the silver tongued eloquence of the Mr. Weil who always pleads his own case in court.

"I have decided to leave today for Europe as representative of several large American business concerns," the Kid advised, in explaining his plans for a hasty exit, just at the time a year's sentence is pending against him on a bad check charge, and when creditors are clamoring for satisfaction.

"Oh, it is needless to say that I shall have stocks and bonds for sale," he replied to a query concerning the nature of his business in Europe.

"There is always a market for high class securities and in Europe belts and cuffs composed of gold leather cut so as to represent flowers. Similar trimmings are being used for hats and with one sleeveless evening costume large gold flowers are worn bracelet-wise on the wrists.

especially, the titled and wealthy classes should be interested in American investments."

Throughout his colorful career the Yellow Kid has had little difficulty demonstrating that the keen financier is just about as glib when it comes to glittering investment opportunities when promoted by a big front and a

ATE TOO FAST
South Carolinian Took Black-Draught For Indigestion, and Says He Could Soon Eat Anything.
Ballentine, S. C.—Mr. W. B. Bouknight, of this place, gave the following account of his use of Theford's Black-Draught.
"Just after I married I had indigestion. Working out, I got in the habit of eating fast, for which I soon paid by having a tight, bloated feeling after meals. This made me very uncomfortable. I would feel stupid and drowsy, didn't feel like working. I was told it was indigestion. Some one recommended Black-Draught and I took it after meals. I soon could eat anything any time.
"I use it for colds and biliousness and it will knock out a cold and carry away the bile better and quicker than any liver medicine I have ever found."
Eating too fast, too much, or faulty chewing of your food, often causes discomfort after meals. A pinch of Black-Draught, washed down with a swallow of water, will help to bring prompt relief. Bloating sensations, eructations, bad breath and other common symptoms of indigestion have disappeared after Black-Draught has been taken for several days. NO-154
