

Do You Remember?

From The Johnston County News
Sept. 10, 1931

With President Hoover holding meetings with bankers, both national and international, in an effort to work out some plan by which foreign countries may be able to purchase cotton from this country to use in the manufacture of goods, and the legislature in both Texas and South Carolina getting ready to "consider" the cotton situation, it is possible that the price of cotton will advance within a short time.

H. V. Marrow, superintendent of the Johnston County schools, announced Monday that the Board of Education will meet the latter part of this week to set the opening date for the fall term. Oct. 7 will probably be the first day of school. An eight month term will be instituted throughout the county except at some rural schools where the term has been cut to six months. About 33 less teachers will be employed in the county than in 1930.

State Highway Patrolman V. Mallard, Smithfield, has warned farmers who are bringing tobacco to the local market on unlicensed trailers that he will arrest any persons whose automobiles are not properly licensed.

The R. H. Ryals family re-union will be held at Old Hannah Creek church house.

The Home Demonstration Agent is planning a farming itinerary for the 11 clubs of the country.

With an average price higher than a majority of the Eastern North Carolina markets, Smithfield is selling a great deal less tobacco now than the warehousemen though just before the markets open. Some tobacco manufacturers report that they have on hand enough tobacco of the old crop to last four years. Whether this is true or not and whether this is merely an effort to depress the price or not, the fact remains that the price is low. If it is true that there is an enormous surplus on hand, and government reports indicate that such is true, the tobacco manufacturers are doing a pretty commendable piece of work offering to buy tobacco at any price.

Jim Ellis, former night policeman in Clayton, was appointed chief of police Monday night by the board of city commissioners to fill the position which was vacant due to resignation of former Chief of Police B. A. Smith.

L. A. Pollard who had been day policeman was appointed to take

Ellis' place at night. By their appointment Monday, the commissioners cut the police force in Clayton from three to two, paying the city the salary of one of their officers.

A stor ynow going the rounds is to the effect that the talkie picture employers of Johnny Mack Brown, former football star of Alabama's Crimson Tide, have employed a "speech specialist" from Brooklyn to teach Johnny to talk like a Southerner. And he hails from Dothan, Ala.

Circle Reviews Primer Of Prayer

The Carey Newton Circle met Tuesday morning with Mrs. Rudolph Barnes.

Upon arrival the members were served hot cinnamon buns, cheese straws, hot coffee and salted nuts.

Program chairman, Mrs. W. F. Weathers called on Mrs. Dwight Barbour for the scripture and devotional, and Mrs. Sam Anderson reviewed the last chapters from "Primer of Prayer."

With Mrs. Hocutt presiding reports from all committees were given. Concluding the business session the meeting was adjourned with prayer led by Mrs. J. W. Massey.

Wesleyan Service Discusses Goals

Mrs. Sam Strickland discussed "The Goals for the Quadrennium" of the Wesleyan Service Guild at the regular meeting of the Guild on Monday evening, Sept. 16, in the home of Miss Sarah Richardson with Miss Rena Johnson as associate hostess. Mrs. Strickland's quadrennial theme, "The spirit of Christ for all of Life."

During the business session Miss Virginia Lee Satterfield, president, called for reports from the treasurer and the corresponding secretary and announced the Revival meeting beginning Oct. 20, and a Wesleyan Service Guild District meeting for Oct. 6 at Edenton Street Church in Raleigh.

The group then heard the plans for a Tom Thumb wedding and Fashion show which the Guild will present in the school on Thursday evening Oct. 3.

Miss Harrison Is Circle Hostess

The Alda Grayson Circle met with Miss Addie Bell Harrison on Tuesday night at 8 o'clock, Sept. 10th.

Mrs. McDonald Ellis was in charge of the program and gave a portion of the book "The Primitive Primer of Prayer."

The hostess served ice cream, nuts and cookies to the 13 members present.
