natural dams in creating the pools above them. In the pools there are many points not affording 3 test water at all times.

In deciding apon the plan for the improve-ment of the Yadkin, I have been governed in my conclusions by the depth of water up-on the different shoals, the fall at the shoals, the extent and depth of water throughout the still pools; and an essential element in the decision also, is the importance to the vast trade which must be borne upon this river. in having at all times and at all seasons a safe and reliable aavigation.

I have heard the opinion expressed by several that with a few wing dams and by sluicing the different shoals, a good navigation could be obtained. I am of a different opision, believing that a sluice nivigation. however perfectly constructed, must always be an imperfent one, for the following rea-SOUR.

A canal or sluice cut in any shoal will increase the depth upon that shoal, but with a proper charge upon the water line, is to show certainty of drawing off the water from the at what rate they charge upon the great SKETCHES OF NORTH CAROLINA.

The effect would be precisely similar to to our line. that of cutting a notch or gap is a mill dam, whether a steamboat ascending the Yadkin ing 363 miles, is 622 cents. could be made to pass through such sluices Freight & tolls on wheat per bushel, 17 cts. as would be required at the different shouls.

Suppose the steamboat ascending against the current with a speed of six miles per hour; on entering a stutce where the current was running, say four miles an hour, her Add the charge as above stated on the speed would be reduced to less than two miles per hour; for one entering the sluice. the Boat would fill a considerable portion of From Wilksboro' to Fayetteville, it, and the water would necessarily accumulate at the head of the Boat and thereby increase the area of resistance-the Boat would cease to mind her helm, all steerage way would be lost upon her, and she would necessarily swing to one side of the sluice and ground,

Such must necessarily be the effect of sluicing; and Wing Dams are also objectionable-a few inches may be obtained by their use, but they always add greatly to the velocity of the current at the Dam and oppose to that extent the upward navigation. ESTIMATE OF COST. Cost of Dams. $116.698 101 700

WORK will be published by the undersigned thi A Spring, entitled as above, giving an accurate account of each County in our State, in Alphabetical order, the derivation of its name, date of forma ion, its Colonial and Revolutionary History, a Biography of its distinguished citizens, an accurate list its representation in each branch of the General Assembly, its Towns, Rivers, Population, Resources, Products and Topography. The undersigned has for many years been collec-

ing and condensing the material for this work .-The archivso of our own State have been carefully examined, and copious extracts made from its reords. He has procured from the offices of the Board of Trade and Plantations in London many valuable documents. Rare and valuable works have wen purchased from abroad, touching the early history of our State, and each County, which have never seen the light. He has been kindly aided by gentlemen in different sections by copies of original doc uments and faithful traditional statements, highly uportant and interesting.

He does not aspire to the position of the Historian, but hopes from records and statistical facts to af-ford materials to other abler hands for this pleasing 17] cts. and less laborious duty. This work, it is hoped, will be useful as a book of reference to the state-man and scholar, and man of business or leisure. Occa-sional extracts have been published in the Standard and other papers of this State, over the signature " l'aritus."

The History of North Carolina is yet to be writ-124 cts. en. The remark which one of the ablest Histori-24 cts. ins of the age, (Bancroft,) has been compelled to make, that "so careleasly has the History of North Carolina been written that the name, merits and end of the first Governor is not known," is a reflection 11] cloon us. An examination of the early history of the founties of North Carolina shows a record of the 4 cls. urest patriotian and indomitable courage. This reord is now covered by the dust of age, and unknown by neglect. It is a debt which the present genera-191 ets ion owes to the past as well as the future to preserve these memorials; for it often occurs in the history 91 cls of our race, that facts known to one generation are 2] ets. controverted by the next, and at a succeeding period are considered as doubtful legends, unworthy of his-11 cls. torical faith. Our Mecklenburg Declaration of Independence, in May 1775, has almost been an illus-3] ets tration of this truth.

MEMPHIS Tenn. July, 1850. The Faculties, for intellectual abilities, moral worth and protessional acquirements, will compare avorably with the most distinguished in our counry. The medical faculty constitutes an anomaly in this or any other country-all of them are able recturers and the best of teachers.

Those who will contemplate our geographical position, and the extent of our population, can have no Joubt as to the eligibility of our situation for an enterprise of the kind. As to nealth, including all seisons of the year, we deny that ANY OTHER CITY

HAS MURE. A common error exists in the minds of many students relative to the place of studying modicine; those who intend practicing among the discusses of the West and South should certainly educate themselves at a school whose Faculty are practically acquainted with those diseases.

That the public may be satisfied of the permaneney of thisschool, we feel it our duty to state, that the Trustees and Faculty form a UNIT in action, which augurs well for its future success; and that the pecultar internal organization which connects them, cannot be interrupted.
