adhered to in all its departments, have arrived to that eminence in point of intellectual culture that would put to shame in a com parison the happiest and palmiest days of Greece or Rome. Our Government has arrived to that point of political greatness in the short space of a little more than half a century, which astonishes the world, and bids fair to become, under the guidence of Divine Providence, should fanaticism stay its hand, the most powerful, in almost every respect, that has existed since time began.-Well may the philosopher of the old world stand still with wonder and amazement, and gaze upon the political greatness presented to l.is view by the commanding spectacle .-It is the triumph of intellectual cultivation over dormant ignorance, of christianity, enlightened christianity over superstition, bigo try, and their long train of tyranny and despot ic rule. Shall the proud structure be overthrown? One false gtep committed by the guardians of our rights may lead the way for the accomplishment of this fearful work A people reared up in the enjoyment of such political, and religions liberty as is every where realized throughout the entire extent of our land, can never endure tyranny and oppression no matter by whom attempted.

Would that all were sufficiently impressed with this important fact. Our citizens under our form of Government, the best that the wisdom of man has ever invented, if properly until that age spoken of above in the prospec tive shall have taken its iron grasp fast hold of the American hearts. Nothing but christian forbearance, mutually exercised by the sectional divisions of our country, can ever perpetnate this mighty Government "now and forever, one and inseparable." Christianity, in my opinion, lies at the foundation of our Government, and is the only thing that can sustainit ; that Christianity which purifies the heart, and not that which consists in outward formality and obstinately fastidious notions, up to the law punctiliously in their outward professions while their hearts are far from God." Such I look upon as letting religion down to the superstition that reigned over the minds of the people during the dark ages, the rule Popery. You know my religious sentiments, 1 am conscientious, entirely so in the maintenance of them. I do not claim, in the strictest sense of the word, to be a religious character, yet I am emphatically a religious character. No man under the sun believes more heartily in the efficacy of the Christian religion than do I. No man is more strongly impressed with the imperative necessity of the heart-felt Christian religion for the maintenance of good society, governed by wise, liberal, and just Yours mneerely. law.
