Ten lines or less make a square. If an advertisement exceeds ten lines, the price will be in proportion.

All advertisements are payable at the time of their insertion.

Contracts with yearly advertisers, will be made on the most liberal terms.

No transfer of contracts for yearly advertising will be permitted. Should circumstances render a change in business, or an unexpected removal necessary, a charge according to the published terms will be at the option of the contractor, for the time he has advertised.

The privilege of Annual Advertisers is strictly limited to their own immediate business; and all advertisements for the benefit of other persons, as well as all advertisements not immediately connected with their own business, and all excess of advertisements in length or otherwise, beyond the limits engaged, will be charged at the usual rates.

No advertisement is included in the contract for the sale or rent of houses or lands in town or country, or for the sale or hire of negroes, whether the property is owned by the advertiser or by other persons. These are excluded by the term "immediate business."

The announcement of marriages or deaths will be considered as news, and inserted free of charge; but all additional matter, beyond the simple announcement of the death of the person, will be charged on the same terms as advertisements.

All advertisements inserted in the tri-weekly Commercial, are entitled to one insertion in the Weekly free of charge.

MARRIAGE CEREMONY.

AS READ BY SOME CARLS.

You bromish now, you goot man dare,
Vat stands upon de floor,
To hab dish voman for you vife,
And lub her ebermore;
To feed her well mit sour-kraut,
Peans, puttermilk, and sheese,
And in all tings to lend your aid,
Dat vill promote her ease.

Yes, and you voman standing dare,
Do pledge your vord, dish day,
Dat you vill dake for your husband
Dis man, and him opey;
Dat you vill ped and poard mit him,
Vash, iron, and ment his clothes,
Laf red he shemiles, veep ven he shighs,
Dun share his shoys and voes.

Well, den, I now vidin dese valls,
Mit choy, and not mit krief,
Announce you both to be von man,
Von name, von mon, von poef;
I booblish now dese sacred pans,
These matrimonial ties,
Pefore mine vife, Gof, Kate, and Poll,
And all deze gazen eyes.

And, as de sachred Skriptures shay,
Vot Got unites togedder,
Let no man dare ashunder put,
Let no man dare dem sever;
And you, bridgegroom, take you shtop;
Ti'l not let go your kollar
Pefore you answer me dish ting,
Dat ish—vare ish mine dollar?

DROWNED.

On Sunday, two weeks ago, four persons—a man, two women and a girl—were drowned in the Big Dam, some nine miles below Pinegrove, in Pa., in Lebanon county. They had visited a tavern, on the opposite side, and after drinking freely, attempted to cross the dam in a small skiff, and were upset.

DETERMINED TO BE MARRIED.

A young German girl, aged 15, who had run away from New Jersey with her lover to get married, on finding him continually intoxicated after she got to Philadelphia, accepted the proposals of another young man, and was married just before being caught by her father.

A SAD OCCURRENCE.

On the last evening of the encampment at Camden, (Friday) a most lamentable event occurred, which is likely to end in the death of Dr. Charles Shannon, of Camden. On Friday morning, owing to the intense heat of the weather, Mr. Fleicher, an officer in Camp, was sun struck, and was placed in the hands of the surgeon. At night he was delirious, and during some firing and confusion in the Camp he started up, seized his musket, and rushed from the tent, thrusting with his bayonet at all persons within his reach. He was not secured until he inflicted severe wounds upon five persons, and among them Dr. Shannon, who is not expected to recover—the bayonet having penetrated one of his lungs. We shall probably receive definite information this evening.—South Carolinian.

REVOLTING SCENE.

A large concourse of citizens of both sexes congregated in Bloomfield on the 25th ult., to witness the execution of Hiram Bland.—A procession was formed, and the prisoner, dressed in his shroud, sitting beside his coffin on a wagon, was conducted to the gallows, where religious services were performed.—His confession, in which he accused some of the witnesses against him of false swearing, and denied striking his sister, and accused the deceased of commencing the conflict, was then repeated by an attending gentleman.—The prisoner exhorted the bystanders to take warning by his sad fate. He appeared very much agitated and moaned most piteously. On his way to the gallows he sung a hymn, in which he spoke of "going home." Just as the fatal noose was being adjusted, and the dark mysterious "after place" gloomed a midnight of death before him, the clerk of the county, Judge Cavins, stepped forward and announced the reception of a respite from the governor. Then there were cheers loud and long against the governor, sent up by the disappointed throng, and as the prisoner was conducted to the jail, imprecations were poured forth against the governor for interposing executive clemency to enable the miserable culprit an opportunity to be heard in the Supreme Court.—Bloomington (Ind.) Reporter.

FEMALE MEDICAL COLLEGE.

The second annual catalogue of this institution at Philadelphia (Pa.) shows that it now has forty female students of Medicine, all of them being from Pennsylvania, except six, one of whom hails from England, two from Massachusetts, and one from each of the States of New York, Ohio, and Vermont.

Professional pomposity is very well taken off in the following anecdote, which we found in a late English paper:—Shields, doctor, (looking learned, and speaking slow)—"Well, mariner, which tooth do you want extracted? Is it a molar or an incisor?" Jack (short and sharp)—"It is in the upper tier, on the larboard side. Bear a hand, you swab! for it is nipping my jaw like a bloody lobster!"
