In offering to the community this justly celebra ted remedy for diseases of the throat and lungs, it is not our wish to trifle with the lives or health of the afflicted, but frankly to lay before them the opinions of distinguished men and some of the evidences of its success, from which they can judge for them selves. We sincerely pledge ourselves to make no wild assertions or false statements of its efficacy, nor will we hold out any hope to suffering humanity which facts will not warrant.

Many proofs are here given, and we solicit an inquiry from the public into all we puplish, feeling as sared they will find them perfectly reliable, and the medicine worthy their best coulidence and patron-

Dear Sir: I delayed answering the receipt of your oreparation, until I had an opportunity of witnessing its effects in my own family, or in the families of my friends. This I have now done with a high degree of satis-

Lowell, Aug. 10, 1849.

Dr. J. C. Ayer: I have been cured of the worst cough I ever had in my life, by your "Cheany Pactopal," and never fail, when I have opportunity, of recommending it to others.

> The Mormons of Beaver Island number about eight hundred, and are governed by one Strang, (the successor of Jo. Smith,) one Strang, (the successor of Ja. Smith,) who was some time since, with great ceremony and estentiation, crowned "King of the Earth, Prophet of the Lord, and Disciple of Jesus Christ." Government is administered under a code of laws claimed by Strang to be of Divine origin, and revealed to him directly and personally. One provision of this code requires of his followers the annual rontribution of one tenth of their incomes, which is cheerfully acceded to. is cheerfully acceded to. A partial necessity, at least, for such a supulation urises from the enlarged scale on which the domestic affairs of the king are conducted—his household comprising not less than seven wives, and a progeny proportionably numerous.

Beaver is barren and of small extent, but picturesquely situated at the northern extremity of Lake Michigan. The surrounding islands and bay are said to possers many natural attractions. It is but little frequented by vessels of any class, and its inhabitants are chiefly dependent on agricultural pursuits for sustenance. In dress these Mormons are not less peculiar than in their religious belief—that of the women consisting of a sort of combination of the Bloomer with the "bilarcated garment."
