THE LAST APPENDIX TO YANKEE DOODLE.

Yankee Doodle sent to town His goods for exhibition; Every body ran him down, And laughed at his position— They thought him all the world behind. A goney, maff, or noodle; Laugh on, good people—never mind— Says quiet Yankee Doodle, Chorus—Yankee Doodle, &c.

Yankee Doodle had a craft, A rather tidy clipper, And he challenged, while they laughed, The Britisheers to whip her. Their whole yacht squadron she engaged, And that on their own water; Of all the lot she went ahead, And they came nowhere after. Chorus—Yankee Doodle, &c.

O'er Panama there was a scheme, Long talked of, to pursue a Short route—which many thought a dream— By Lake Nicaragua. John Bull discussed the plan on foot With slow irresolution, While Yankee Doodle went and put It into execution. Chorus—Yankee Doodle, &c.

A steamer of the Collins' line, A Yankee Doodle's notion, Has also quickened out the brain, Across the Atlantic Ocean, And British agents, howays slow Her merits to discover, Have been and bought her—just to tow The Chuard packets over. Chorus—Yankee Doodle, &c.

Your gunsmiths of their skill may boast, But that again don't mention; I guess that Colt's revolver, which Their very first invention, By Yankee Doodle, too, you've beat Downright in agriculture, With his machine for reaping wheat, Chawed up as by a rature. Chorus—Yankee Doodle, &c.

You also fancied, in your pride, Which truly is tarantion, Them British locks of yours defied, The rogues of all creation; But Chubb's and Bramah's Hobbs has pick'd 'And you must now be shew'd all As having been completely lick'd By glorious Yankee Doodle. Chorus—Yankee Doodle, &c.

THE YANKEES CALLED FOR.

Having tested the qualities of our locks, ploughs, reapers, steamships and sailing vessels, the Europeans are now disposed to have a look at our fighting. At least the radicals both of England and the continent, argue that the absolute governments of Europe will not be thoroughly republicanized, until the Americans lend them a hand. Thus the London Leader—edited by a son of Leigh Hunt, and which represents one of the advance guards of the European democracy—in discussing the late arbitrary decrees of Austria, remarks as follows:— "What hope remains of resisting the march of Cosmickism across Europe. We see but one; and it is time to call forth that hope into active life! It is an appeal to the democracy of Europe; indeed, not only of Europe, but the democracy of the whole world. England has waived her right to the post of honor; but there is another Imperial England not so bound by the concealed cords of diplomacy and court intrigues—the Anglo American Republic. That republic is the natural head of the democratic movement. True, her fathers' forewarned her against European intervention; but when Cosmickism has established itself on the shores of the Atlantic it will be too late to discuss the policy of intervention, too late to take the initiative. Besides, the people of that republic can act without waiting for the governor. Nor would it be really an alien intervention. Her sons can act with us; they are more than cousins; they are brothers of the whole blood, needing only a common action to develop all our brotherhood. And to the democracy of the world they are the very brothers of their reliance. "An American force in the battle-field of Europe, raising the standard of democracy, would call forth every people of the continent, in hope, courage, and irresistible numbers. Flouting in that field the star-spangled banner would strike terror and despair into the heart of old despotism; conscious of its doom, its very coming would be victory."

The writer then proceeds to show that while the governments of the more liberal powers are too hopelessly embarrassed to intervene with effect in the coming struggle of the people, the first word of dissent from America would be the signal for a more ardent and more democratic movement than has ever taken place in the old world. "The government of Great Britain," he says, "may be deluded by diplomacy; but the people sympathize with the people."

"Fellow-citizens!" said a stump orator, "we have the best country in the world, and the best government. No people on the face of the globe enjoy more privileges than we do. Here we have liberty of speech, and liberty of the press, without onerous taxation. What fellow-citizens is more desirable than this? Do you want anything more, my countrymen? Yes, sir—see me sing in a red-faced leader, 'this dry work I want a suck out of that stick out of your coat-pocket behind.'"
