NEW YORK MONEY MARKET.

Oct. 11 .- There is more capital offering for loans on call, as well as street discounts, and rates for the former are lower. Prime business paper is less plenty, and more enquired for, and the best names can be negotiated on easier terms. There is generally a better feeling prevailing among our monied men, and as the Banks are disc unting more freely, we trust that no farther panie can be realized.

The report of the failure of a large house in the Jewelry trade at Boston, to which we alluded this morning in part of our edition, grew out of the fact that the co-partnership of the house was about to expire. We learn from good authority that each of the partners is possessed of an ample

The Baltic left to-day with only about eight thousand dollars in specie on her freight list, so that the shipments of coin are probable over for the year. There is a large supply of cotton bills offering, and a telegraphic account received this morning from New Orleans quotes sterling dull at 84. We have also received notices of various shipments of coin from different ports for this city. Now that the market is easier on the seaboard, we may look for more stringency in the interior, and must bear with patience any little delay in expected remittances .- Jour. Com.

TREASURY CIRCULAR.

Our readers wat remember that in commenting a few days since on the C-rcular of the Secretary, imposing onerous restrictions upon shipments to California, over the Isthmus route, we expressed our confidence that Mr. Corwin would see its practical injustice, and modify it accordingly. We are very glad to learn that he has done so, and has suspended the action of the circular, as will be seen by the following, just received. Journal of Commerce.

To Hugh Maxwell, Esq., Collector at the Port of

Until farther instructed on the subject you will suspend the execution of the circular No. 60, of the 18th uit., except as to the securely cording of the packages, with a lead scal attached. The expense of cording and scaling which is to be chargd to the parties, will be placed on a reasonable footing, and in no case to exceed the actual cost, THOS. CORWIN. Journal of Commerce.
