Transportation Agent. tf 63. Aug.ust 12. WHOLESILE WATCH AND JEWELRY STORE.

L. H. MILLER & CO.

IMPORTERS, Manufacturers and Jobbers of WATCHES, JEWELRY, & FANCY GOODS, have leased the Old Stand formerly occupied by Messrs. Canfield, Brother & Co. SOUTH-BAST COR-NEE OF CHASLES AND BALTIMORE STREETS, (No. 227,) which they are putting in complete order for the WHOLESALE WATCH AND JEWELRY BUSINESS, to be opened about the 20th of July. In calling the attention of the trade to the new concern, we mention the fact that we are associated with one of the most extensive JEWELRY MAN-UFACTURING ESTABLISHMENTS in the country, which must give a decided advantage over all others in this market, for supplying dealers with Jewelry at manufacturers' prices, a feature in this branch of trade long since needed, between Balti-more and the Southern and Western Merchants. We desire to call particular attention to the Watch department, which will at all times be supplied with a great g sortment from the most celebrated manu-facturers, and kept in perfect running order, so that purchasers may at once take them, with a written guarantee that they will perform correctly. This branch of the business will receive the especial attention of one of the firm, whose exten-sive and practical knowledge of the business, will we hope, give us a place in the confidence of buyers. We respectfully invite you to call upon us when you next visit our city, confidently believing that an examination of our Goods will prove to you, that they are better styles and cheaper than you have ever seen in this market, and assure you that no effort shall be wanting on our part to make the acquaintance one of mutual benefit.

"MY FORTUNE'S MADE."

WHOLE NO. 888

My young friend, Cora Lee, was a gay; dashing girl, fond of dress, and looking al-ways as if to use a common saying, just cet of a band-box. Cora was a belle, of course; and had many admirers. Among the num-ber of these, was a young man mimed Ed-ward Douglass, who was the very "pink" of neatness, in all matters pertaining to drass, and exceeding particular in his observances of the little proprieties of life. I saw, from the first, that if Douglass pres-sed his suit, Cora's heart would be an easy conquest; and so it proved.

conquest; and so it proved: "How admirably they are fitted for other," I remarked to my husband or night of the wedding. "Their fastes similar, and their habits so much alike no violence will be done to the feeling either, in the more intimate associations to marriage brings. Both are neat m per and orderly by instinct; and both have go principles."

"From all present appearances, the match will be a good one," replied my hashand,---There was, I thought, something like reser-vation in his tone.

"Do you really think so ?" I said a little ironically; for Mr. Smith's approval of the marriage was hardly warm enough to suit my fancy.

"Ob, certainly ! Why not ?" he rep lielt a little fretted at my husband of speaking; but made no further remain the subject. He is never very enthusing nor sunguine; and did not mean; in this is stance, to doubt the finess of the parties is happingess in the maximum of the parties is happiness in the marrings state, as I half imagined. For myself, I warmly approved my iriend's choice, and called her husband a lucky man to secure for his companion through life, a woman so admirably fitted to through life, a woman so admirably fitted to make one like him happy. But a visit which I paid to Cora, one day, about six weeks after the honeymoon had expired, lessened my enthusiasm on the subject, and awoke some unpleasant doubts. It happened that I called soon after breakfast. Cora met ma in the parlor, looking like a very fright. She wore a soiled and rampled morning wrap-per; her hair was in papers; and also had on dirty stockings, and a pair of sid slippars down at the heels.

"Bless me, Cora !" said I. "What matter ? Have you bein sick "No. Why do you ask? Is my dis bille rather on the extreme ?" "Candidly, I thing it is, Cora," was frank answer. "Oh, well ! No matter." she careleasly r plied, "my fortune's made."
