THE JOURNEYMAN'S SECRET.

From the Diary of a Journeyman Printer. "You can take this case," said the foreman; "here is a stick - here is some copy and if you would like a quiet and steady partner, you will find this gentleman still enough in all conscience."

The "partner" merely looked up and faintly smiled in acknowledgement of the foreman's compliment, and kept on with his work, while the foreman turned away to attend to something else.

We worked on steadily until dinner, as we were in a hurry to get the paper up. without exchanging a word or even a look In the afternoon I had more leisure to study the physiognomy of my neighbor He was a young man, of about three or four and twenty, with handsome features squeezed to death. and a rather intellectual cast of countenance His face was quite pale, and the raven darkness of his hair, evebrows and eyes, made me immediately come to the conclusion, after thoroughly studying his physiognomy, that he was a hard student during his leisure hours, or that, depriving himself of recreation, of books or other sources of enjoyment, he spent all his waking hours at the case. The latter supposition time proved correct.

As day after day passed by I became more acquainted with him; and I found him to be a singular character. Beneath his stand, he had constructed a kind of closet, which contained a spirit lamp, a mattress with bedding, a few cooking utensils, and a small stock of the plainest kind of food. When the hours for meals arrived he would light his lamp, and put ting some food over it to cook, would work until al the rest of the hands had left the office, when he would sit down to his frugal repast. He worked incessantly during work hours, hardly leaving the office, unless to purchase food, or some errand of that kind. Morning, noon and night, when I returned from my meals, I invariably found him at the case, working away with all his might, as if some great issue depended upon the improvement of every minute. I supposed he slept upon the cot which he always kept in his closet; but as he was always at work when I left at night and when I returned in the morning. I could not positively assert that he did so I was not long in discovering that there was some mystery connected with hun and that his intense application to labor was not prompted merely by a desire to would have selected from spendthrift. Occasionally his check would flush, his eyes light up, and a happy smile overspread his features; then the smile would go away, his eyes would fill with tears, while an expression of sadness-almost despair-would seat itself upon his countenance. I have been tempted a thousand times to ask him the cause of this. but as he appeared so cold and isolated I

"Well, how do you like your neighbor ! asked one of the journeymen of me, as we were descending the stairs one evening. "I can hardly make him out," said I "he appears to be a strange sort of a being You are better acquainted with him than I how do you like him ?"

refrained from doing so, as it is not pleas-

We've insulted him a dozen times; and he has less spank than your way! I think he has if he don't resent it some day. We'll get him into a quarrel then, and have him discharged."

"But," said I, "do you know anything about his history? He may have some all-absorbing end to accomplish, which is the cause of his untiring assiduity You should have a little charity for the fellow, good bills, I shall be ready to start to Euand taking Crocket's motto, 'be sure you're rope in about two months. right before you go ahead."

twenty years successful practice, exclusively devoted to the cure of diseases if a delicate or private nature. To which is added, receipts for the cure of the above diseases, and a treatise on the causes, sympoms and cure of the Fever and Ague, for twentyfive cents a copy; six copies one dollar; will be forwarded to any part of the United States, by mail free of postage. Address, postage paid, Cosden 4 , Publishers or box 196, Post Office, Philadelphia 'This is, without exception, the most comprehensive and intelligible work published on the class of diseases of which it treats. Avoiding all technical terms it addresses itself to the reason of its readers. It is free from all objectionable matter, and no parent, however fastidious, can object to placing it in the hands of his sons. The author has devoted many years to the treatment of the various complaints treated of, and with too little breath to puff. and too little presumption to impose,' he has offered to the world at the merely nominal price of 25 cents, amination of his sales' book, finds that the number the fruits of some (wenty years most successful prac-

"No teacher or parent should be without the knowledge imparted in this invaluable work. It would save years of pain, mortification and sorrow the youth under their charge."-PECPLE'S ADVO-A Presbyterian elergyman in Ohlo, in writing of Hunter's Medical Manuel, says: "Thousands of our youth, by evil example and the influence of the passions, have been led into the habit of self-polluion without realizing the sin and fearful consequences upon themselves and their posterity. The constitutions of thousands who are raising families have been enfectied. If not broken down, and they do not know the cause or the cure. Any thing that can be done so to enlighten and influence the public mind as to check, and ultimately to remove this widespread source of human wretchedness, would confer

PROF. ALEX. C. BARRY'S Tricopherous, or Medicated Compound FOR Beautifying, Curling, Preserving, Restoring, and Strengthening the Hair, Relieving Diseases of the Skin, Curing Rheumatic Pains, and Hear ing External Wounds. Bounded by no geographical lines, the reputation of BARRY's TRICOPRESON pervades the Union The sales of this article late years have increased in a ratio that almost exceeds belief. Professor BARRY, after a careful ex

of bottles delivered to order, in quantities of from half a gross upward, during the year 1552, was with in a trifle of 950.000. It is unnecessary to present at length the eviden es of the wonderful properties of the Tricopherous when the public have furnished suchan indorse ment as this. The cheapness of the article and the explanations given of its chemical action upon the hair, the scalp, and in all cases of superficial irrit tion, first recommended it to the attention of the people. This was all that the inventor desired Every bottle advertised itself. The effects of the flu exceeded expectation. It acted like a charm. The ladies would not be without it. Country design every section of the United States found the must have it; and thus was built up a wholess trade of an extent hitherto unheard of as regards at ticles of this kind. The highest point has not v been reached, and it is believed that the sales thi year will be a million and a half of bottles.
