at Liverpool declared that the Sultan would place himself at the head of his troops.

The general news from other parts of the vontinent of Europe possesses but little inte rest. England, for the time being, appears pencenbly disposed, but the French feel warlike, and their Emperor thinks the "Czar of Russia has gone too far and the moment is at hand when neither honor nor interest will permit the sword of France to slumber in its scabbard." Of course, the people of Paris were greatly excited, but whether the war fever would lead many of them beyond the confines of their own city seemed to depend in a great mensure, judging from the tone of their journals, upon the policy to be adopted by England. Prussia, in the meantime, "reserves to herself full liberty of action."

The Turkish War.

By the intelligence from the seat of war it is extremely difficult to arrive at anything like a connected narrative, in the confusion of contradictory and undated dispatches that war having broken out in spite of the forfollow each other to the markets of Paris and bearance shown by the Porte. there was no London. From the materials before us we are enabled to gather the details of the longer any question of the solution of a specal point. A new treaty must now regulate events that have transpired up to the present the relations between Turkey and Russia. time. A decisive battle was hourly looked and the Sultan hopes, will the aid of God for. Report save the battle has already been and his allies, that the new treaty will raise lought, at or near Bucharest, and victory is a solid barrier against that Russian ambition variously assigned to either side.

The only authentic statement of any rethat incressantly endangers the peace of the pulse the Turks have met with, is that on world. But with any negotiation having for the morning of the 9th, their force of 2100 its starting point the recent Vienna diplomamen was compelled to evacuate the island in fr ut of the strong Russian position of Giurgero. The Buttle of Oltenitza.

We have now detailed accounts of this first encounter between the Moslem and the Russians. It proves to have been an affair of much more importance than at first stated. Atter a continued fire from midnight of November 1st to daybreak of the 31, the Tarkish ammunition became exhausted, and with the ish allies These forts are Cartoor, which wild cries of Moslem warfare the entire Turkish force charged the enemy with bayonet and sabre, and scattered them at all points. The Russians left twelve hundred on the field in killed and wounded, and were driven back upon Bucharest, where a heavy fire from the artillery of the place brought up the pursuing Turks who then returned to 4th. Oltenitza and encamped upon the field, their first care bying to forthy the position. The hattle was longht within a triangle of land formed by the waters of the Argis and Dan ube.

Only nine thousand Turks were engaged but they had occupied a strong quarantine building, and an old redoubt situated in the plain near the Danube, as well as the village. From this position they threw shot and shell with great effect, up to the centre of the village where Gen. Dannenberg was directing the attack. A telegraphic dispatch sent to the French government, and immediately (on the 13th histant) communicated to the Turkish minister at Paris, says that the Russians twice drove the Turks from their position, but that on the third day (by the dispatch called Nov. 4) the Turks dispersed the Reusians with the loss above stated. The Russian loss in officers was particularly severe, the enemy's marksmen having apparently endeavored to pick off as many as they could. It is particularly noted that the disabled officers are almost without exception wounded by the conical balls of the chasseur regiments, organized on the model of the cel-chrated French chasseurs of Vincennes. The Turkish artillery was beautifully served. The Russiaus, too, stood manhully to their arms, and the affair had all the features of a pitched battle. Omer Pascha did not command in person. The position of Oltenitza is very strong; the left wing of the Turks being protected by the river Ardis (Ardrisch) the right by a swamp impassable to horse, and the rear by the forcess of Silis- don, for the purpose of clearly defining the tria and the fort of Tustakai. The garrison in Turtakai fired with such precision during the battle that shots passing over the heads of the Turks, did great execution among the Russians. A report says that the Russians lost 8 mans.

Referring to this engagement, a Vienna itter of the 10th says :--

"It is not likely that the following startling mews will fud its way into papers, but you may rely implicitly on its truth. The victory of the Turks, (which was owing to treachery) was more complete than is generally supposed. The outposts nearest the river were Poles, and they not only permitted the Turks to cross without giving notice of their upproach, but actually assisted them in the work of death. The cannonade lasted, with slight intermission, twenty-eight hours. The night, between the lat and 2d, and lasted to mong the Affghane, had led to a reinforcethe 3d."

A Decisive Battle Locked for, and ere this Probably Fought.

On learning of the defeat of Dannenberg at Oltenitza, Prince Gortschukoff, without delay, took measures to attack the Turks ere of siege, and with the exception of Bassein they had time to recover from the casualties the whole of the new provinces are in the of the former action. Dr. Hunter's Medical Manuel and hand Book for the Afflicted, containing an outline of the origin, progress, treatment and cute of every form of discontracted by promiscuous sexual intercourse. by self-abuse, or by sexual excess, with advice for their prevention, written in a familiar style avoiding all medical technicalities, and everything that would uffend the ear of decency, from the result of some twenty years successful practice, exclusively devoimmediately cured and full vigor testored. ted to the cure of diseases of a delicate or private nature. Remedice sent to any part of the country. To which is added, receipts for the cure of the above diseases, and a treatise on the causes, symp oms aud cure of the Fever and Ague, for five cents a copy ; six copies one dollar ; will be for varded to any part of the United States, by mail free of postage. Address, postage pair, Cosden 4 Co., Publishers or box 196, Post Office, Philadelphia "This is, without exception, the most comprehen-sive and intelligible work published on the class of diseases of which it treats. Avoiding all technica erms, it addresses itself to the reason of its readers. It is free from all objectionable matter, and no parent, however fastidious, can object to placing it in the hands of his sons. The author has devoted many years to the treatment of the various com-plaints treated of, and with too little breath to puff. and 'too little presumption to impose,' he has offered to the world at the merely nominal price of 25 cents, the fruits of some twenty years most successful pracice."-HEBALD.

Credentials or diplomas always hang in his office. "No teacher or parent should be without the knowledge imparted in this invaluable work. It would save years of pain, mortification and sorrow DR. HARRIS, GRADUATE OF CAMBRIDGE; CLASS 1624. CFFOUNDER OF THE o the youth under their charge."-PEOPLE's ADVO-CATE

A Presbyterian ekrgyman in Ohio, in writing of Hunter's Medical Manuel, says : "Thousands of our youth, by evil example and the influence of the passions, have been led into the habit of self-polluion without realizing the sin and fearful consequeners upon themselves and their posterity. The con-stitutions of thousands who are raising families have een enfechled, if not broken down, and they do not know the cause or the cure. Any thing that can be ione so to enlighten and influence the public mind as to check, and ultimately to remove this widepread source of human wretchedness, would confer the greatest blessing next to the religion of desus Christ, on the present and coming generations — Intemperance, (the use of intoxicating drinks.) hough it has slain theusands upon thousands, is no a greater scourge to the human race. Accept my thanks in behalf of the afflicted, and believe me, Dr. H. will cheerfully give, when applied to, supprivate references as will fully satisfy all who re your co-worker in the good work you are so activeauire his services vengaged in." One copy will be forwarded (securely enveloped and postage paid,) on receipt of 25 cents, or six copies for $1. Address. dials, advertised to cure all persons under tarief forms of disease.
