MISCELLANY.

BETTER THAN DIAMONDS. I was standing in the broad, crowded street of a large city. It was a cold winter day. There had been rain, and although the sun was shining brightly, yet the long icicles hung from the eaves of the house, and the wheels rumbled loudly as they passed over the frozen ground. There was a clear, bright look, and a bold, bracing feeling in the air, and a keen west wind that quickened every step. Just then a poor, ill-clad child-and her clothes were scant and threadbare, she had no cloak norshawl and her little bare feet looked red and suffering. She could not have been more than eight years old. She carvering child! I, even I, who could do nothing else, pitied her. As she passed her feet slipped on the ice, and she fell with a cry of pain; but she held her bundle tightly in her hand and jumped up. to run as before.

"Stop, Lttle girl, stop," said a sweet voice; and a lady in a shawl, with furs : Il around her came out of a jeweler's store close by. "Poor little child," said she, "are you hurt? Sit down on these steps and tell me." How I loved her and how beautiful she looked! "Oh, I cannot," said the child, "I cannot wait, I am in such a hurry. I have been to the shoemaker's, and mother must finish this work to-night or she will never get any more shoes to bind." "To-night!" said the beautiful woman, "to-night!" "Yes-" said the child, for the stranger's kind manner made her bold-yes, for the great ball to night, and these satin slippers must be spangled,

The beautiful woman took the bundle from the child's hand and unrolled it. You do not know how her face flushed and turned pale; but I, yes I, looked into the bundle, and on the inside of the slipper I saw a name-a lady's name-written, but I shall not tell it.

"And where does your mother live, dear little girl ?"

So the child told her where, and then told her that her father was dead, and that her little baby brother was sick, and that her mother bound shoes that they might have bread, that sometimes they were cold. and that her mother sometimes cried because she had no money to buy milk for her little sick brother. And then I saw that the lady's eyes were full of tears, and that she rolled up the bundle quickly, and gave it to the little girl, but gave her nothing else-no not even one sixpence, and turning away, went back into the store from which she had just come out. As she went away, I saw the glitter of a diamond pin and a handsome carriage rolled off. The little girl looked after her for a moment, and then with her little bare feet colder than before, ran quickly away. I went with the little girl, and saw her go to a narrow damp street, and into a small dark room, and I saw her mother -her sad. faded mother, but with a face so sweet, so patient, hushing and soothing a sick baby. The baby slept, and the mother laid it on her lap, and the bundle was unrolled. A dim candle helped her with her work : for though it was not night, yet the room was very dark. Then, after a while she kissed her little girl, and bade her warm her poor little frozen feet, over the scanty fire in the grate, and gave her a little piece of bread, for she had no more; and then she heard her evening prayer and folded her tenderly to her bosom, blessed her and told her that the angels would take care of her. And the little child slept and dreamed-oh! such pleasant dreams-of warm stockings and new shoes -- but the mother sewed on alone. And, as the bright spangles glitter ing on the satin slippers, came there no repining at her heart? When she thought of her child's bage, cold feet, and of the scant mersel of dry bread, which had not satisfied her hunger, came there no visions of a bright room and gorgous clothing, and a table loaded with all that is good and nice, one little portion of which spared to her would send warmth and comfort to her humble dwelling? If such things come, and others-of a pleasant cottage, and one who had dearly loved her, and whose strong arm had kept want and trouble from her and her babes. but who could never come back-if these thoughts did come repiningly, came also another; and the widow's hands were clasped, and her head bowed low in deep contrition, as I heard her say, "Father, forgive me, for thou doest all things well and I trust in thee." Just then the door opened, and some one entered Was it an angel? Her dress was of spotless white, and she moved with noiseless step. She went to the bed where the sleeping child lay, and covered it with soft, warm blankets Then presently a fire sparkled in the grate, such as it had never known before. Then she passed gently before the mother, and drawing the unfinished slipper from her hand, placed there a purse of gold, and said in a voice like music, "Bloss thy God, who is the God of the fatherless and the widow"-and she was gone; only as she went out, I heard her say " Better than diamonds-Better than diamonds." What could she mean? I looked at the mother. With clasped hands and streaming eyes, she blessed her God who had sent an angel to comfort her. So I went to a bright room, where there was music and dancing and sweet flowers : and I saw young happy faces and beautiful women richly dressed, and sparkling with jewels; but none that I knew, until one passed me whose dress of simple white, with only a resebud on her bosom, whose voice was like the sound of a silver lute. No spangled slipper was glittering on her foot; but she moved as one that treadeth upon air, and the divine beauty of holiness had so glori-

These Bitters are worthy the attention of invalids Possessing great virtues in the rectification of dis-eases of the Liver and lesser glands, exercising the iost searching powers in weakness and affections of the digestive organs they are, withat, safe, cer-

READ AND BE CONVINCED.
The Poiladelphia Saturday Gazette," says of Dr. Hoopland's German Bitters.
"It is seldom that we recommend what are termed Parent Medicines, to the confidence and patronage of our readers; and therefore when we recommend Dr. Hoofland's German Bitters, we wish It to be distinctly understood that we are not speaking of the nostrums of the day, that are noised about for a brief period and then forgotten after they have done their guilty race of mischief, but of a medicine long established, universally prized, and which has met the heart y approval of the faculty itself." "Scott's Weekly," said, Aug. 25: "Dr. Hoofland's rman Bitters, manufactured by Dr. Jackson, are now recommended by some of the most prominent men. s of the faculty as an article of much effica-cy in case of female weakness. Persons of debilitated con- 'tutions willfind these Bitters advantageous to their calth as we know from experience the salutary effect they have upon weak systems." MORE EVIDENCE.

J. G. Moore. Esq , of the Daily News, said. Oct 31. "DR. HOOFLAND'S GERMAN BITTERS. - We are trying this renowned medicine for a stubborn disease of the bowels, and can with truth testify to its efficacy. We have taken the contents of two bottles, and we have derived more benefit from the experiment than we derived previously from years of allophatic treatment at the hands of our first physicians."

Hon. C. D. Hincline, Mayor of the City of Camden, N. J., says:

"HOOPLAND'S GERMANS BITTERS .- We have seen many flattering notices of this medicine, and the source from which they came induced us to make inquiry respecting its merits. From inquiry we were persuaded to use it, and most say we found it specific in its action upon diseases of the liver and digestive organ, and the powerful influence it exerts upon nervous prostration, is really surprising calms and strengthens the nerves, bringing them in to a state of repose, making sleep refreshing.

If this medicine was more generally used, we are satisfied there would be less sickness, as from the stimed there would be less steames. As from the stomach, liver and nervous system, the great majority of real and imaginary deseases emanate. Have them in a healthy condition and you can bid defiance to epidemics generally. This extraordinary medicine we would advise our friends who are at all indisposed, to give a trial-it will recommend itself. It should, 'n fact, be in every family. Noother medicine can produce such evidences of merit."

Within the last eight years, Dr. S. has treated more than 29,500 cases of Private Complaints, in their different forms and stages; a practice which no doubt exceeds that of all other physicians now advertising in Baltimore, and not a single case is known where his directions were strictly followed, and medicines taken at reasonable time, without effecting a radical and permanent cure; therefore, persons afflicted with diseases of the above nature. no matter how difficult or long standing the case may be," would do well to call on Dr. Smith at his office. DR. JOHNSTON, of the Baltimore Lock Hos. pital, whose long residence in this city, standing as a gentleman of character and responsibility, exten-sive practice in the various Hospitals of Europe and this country, and skill and experience to which thousands can testify, as well as his ability in the Surgical department of his profession, as evidenced by reports of his operations on the Eyes and Deformed Limbs, published in the Baltimore Sun and other papers, in the years 1341 2, by which the blind were made to see and the lame to walk straight, renders him worthy of all confidence upon the part of those who need his professional services, and who would shun the many trifling and ignorant pretenders advertising themselves as Physicians.
