MISCELLANY.

"SELLING" A SHIP-OWNER;

The Ship that had a Hole in Her.

"Are you the owner of the fine vessel lying at the foot of Walnut street ?" inquired an inveterate joker of one of our wealthiest snip-owners, a few days since.

"I believe I am, sir," replied the merchant, complacently looking over his spectacles at the inquirer ; "but why that quesuon ?"

"Because in passing her, a few moments since, I observes she had a hole stove in her." responded the wag.

"A hole stove in her !" exclaimed the merchant, hurriedly starting from his desk; "how in the world could that have happenen ?"

"Can't say, sir."

"Is it very large, and is she in a sinking condition ?" eagerly asked the owner, as he seized his hat and overcoat.

"Well, sir, I think you might put that in it," pointing to a scuttle of coal. "Whether that would be likely to sink her or not, I cannot say."

"Confusion !" gasped the merchant; some carelesssness of the stevedores again. Only a day or two since, a fine vessel was sunk by their negligence, in letting a block of marble fall on her deck; and now one of mine is to share the same fate. *

Without stopping to thank our joking friend for his unwelcome intelligence, the shipper started for Walnut stree wharf, at (for him) a very unusual pace.

"She hasn't sunk yet, at all events," exclaimed he, as he approached the vessel, which lay quite unconscious of the accident reported to have happened her. "And there are the men at work loading her with castings. Surely, that fellow must have D. C. FREEMAN. mistaken the vessel." The merchant did not, however, relax his speed, but, walking hurriedly up to the captain, who was quietly overseeing the workmen, he exclaim-

"How is it, Captain C----? A gentleman has just informed me that the Adelia has a hole stove in her "

"A hole stove in her? Where? It's the first tiding I have had of it," cried the captain, looking rather incredulously at-his nothing of the kind could have possibly you that your information is incorrect."

"I am very glad to hear it," dryly replied val Stores or other produce.

From inquiry we were persunded to use it, and must say we found it specific in its action upon diseases of the liver and digestive organ, and the powerful influence it exerts upon nervous prostration, is really surprising It calms and strengthens the nerves, bringing them in to a state of repose, making sleep refreshing.

Among the numerous discoveries Science 11-st mide in this generation to facilitate the lusine s of life-in-rease its orjoyment, and even prolong the terra of human existence, none can be named of more real value to mankind, then this congri-bution of Chemistry to the Healing Art. A vast trial of its virtues throughout this bread country, has proven beyond a doubt, that no medicine, or combinations yet known, can so surely control and cure the numerous varieties of pulmonary disease which have hitherto swept from our midst thousands and thousands every year. Indeed, there is now abundant reason to believe a Remedy has at length been found which can be relied on, to cure the most dangerous affections of the lungs; Our space here will not permit us to publish any proportion of the cures affected by its use, but we would present the following, and refer further in-quiry to my American Almanac, which the agent below named, will always be pleased to furnish free. wherein are full particulars, and indisputable proofs of these statements :

Office of Transportation,

Laurens R.R., S. C., Aug. 4, 1853. J. C. Avga. Dear Sir, - My little son, four years old, has just recovered from a severe attack of malignant Scatlet Fever; his thront wis rotten, and every person that visited him pronounced him a dead child. Having used your Cherry Pecother papers, in the years 1841 2, by which the blind toral in California, in the winter of 1850, for a severe attack of Bronchitis, with entire success, I was induced to try it on my little boy. I gave him a teaspoonful every three hours, commencing in the morning, and by ten o'clock at night I found a decided change for the better, and after three days' use he was able to cat or drink without pain. Its use in the above named disease will save many a child from a premature grave, and relieve the anx-iety of many a fond parent. For all affections of the throat and longs I believe it the best medicine extant. A feeling of the deepest gratitude prompts me in addressing you these lines. But for your important discovery my little boy would now have been in another world.

I am yours, with greatrespect, J. D. POWELL, Supt. Trans. L. R. R. Rock Hill, (Somerset Co.,) N. J. July 21, 1852. DR. J. C. AYER,-Since your medicine has be-come known here, it has a greater demand than any cough remedy we have ever sold. It is spoken of in terms of unmeasured praise by those who nave used it, and I know of some cases where the best they can say of it, is not too much for the good it has done. I take pleasure in selling it; because I know that I am giving my customers the worth of their money, and 1 feel gratified in sceing the benefit it confers.

Please send me a further supply, and believe me

J. C. AYER. Sir :- This may certify that I have used your Cherry Pectoral for upwards of one year; and it is my sincere belief that I should have been in my grave ere this time if I had not. It has cured me of a dangerous affection of the lung.

Atorney at Law, Wilksbarre, Pa., Sept 28, 1950. DR. J. C. AYER. My dear Sir,-Your medicine is much approved of by those who have used it here, and its composition is such as to insure and maintain its reputation. I invariably recommend it for pulmonary affections, as do many of our principal physicians.
