MISCELLANY.

THE DEAD DOVE.

"It is only a bird, Ada," said the young lover of the gentle girl; "why should you grieve over its death?"

"If the song sparrow had died, or the little wren, or even the robin," replied Ada, sadly, "my heart would not have felt the pain that now oppresses it; but to look upon a dead dove touches my feelings deeply."

"But why should you feel more pain because a dove has died? Its life is the same as the life of a robin, a sparrow, or a wren."

"No, not the same, Henry."

"Wherein lies the difference?"

"Are not their bodies different?"

"It is because their lives are different that their bodies vary in appearance; each is a form of affection; the sparrow, of one affection, and the dove of another. And this is the reason why, in looking upon one, we are affected differently from what we are when we look at another."

"A strange doctrine, Ada, is it not?"

"Oh, no. What makes the wolf differ from the lamb? Is it not his affection, of which his body is the repulsive form? The wolf is embodied cruelty, and the lamb is embodied innocence. And how good is our all-wise and merciful Creator in thus placing before our eyes, in this world, embodied affections, that we may more fully understand their evil or good qualities! When we look upon a cruel beast, we have a more perfect idea of the direful nature of those affections in our hearts which originate in self-love; and when we look at an innocent lamb, or a gentle dove, we perceive the beauty of good affections."

"You are a beautiful theory, Ada; and, if true, how full of life! With what new eyes would I look around me on the visible forms of nature, if I could believe as you believe!"

"I cannot believe otherwise," said Ada, as she lifted her eyes from the bird in her hand, and looked tenderly at her lover.

"And this dove--to what affection does it correspond, and why are you so deeply touched by its death?"

"Need you ask, Henry? Is it not the embodied form of a pure, confiding love--such love as only a woman's heart can feel? And do you wonder that I am pained to see the death of such a love? Can I help thinking of woman's trusting heart betrayed--of affection trampled under the foot of neglect and wrong?"

"And tears came into the eyes of the poor girl."

"Dear Ada!" said the young man, earnestly, "why will you let such painful thoughts come into your mind? They have no business there; your heart will never know betrayal; your affection will never be trampled under the crushing foot of neglect."

"I did not think of myself," returned Ada, quickly; "I thought only of others."

The young man pressed his lips to hers, and his eyes drooped from each other's, and rested upon the form of the dead dove.

"Never shall her heart feel the pang of neglect; never, no, never!" said the lover, in earnest self-communion.

May his words prove a true prophecy; and if, in after life, his heart swerve, even for an instant, from its affection, may the form of the dead dove present itself, and warn him of the ruin his infidelity would occasion!

MEDICAL HOUSE,

No. 10, SOUTH FREDERICK STREET,
BALTIMORE, MARYLAND.
Established in order to afford the Afflicted
sound and scientific Medical Aid, and for the suppression of Quackery.

DR. R. B. SMITH has for many years devoted his whole attention to the treatment of Private Complaints, in all their varied and complicated forms. His great success in those long standing and difficult cases, such as were formerly considered incurable, is sufficient to commend him to the public as worthy of the extensive patronage he has received. Within the last eight years, Dr. S. has treated more than 25,000 cases of Private Complaints, in their different forms and stages; a practice which no doubt exceeds that of all other physicians now advertising in Baltimore and not a single case known where his directions were strictly followed, and medicines taken at reasonable time, without effecting a radical and permanent cure; the cases, persons afflicted with diseases of the above nature, or who have had recourse to other means, and who have failed or who are suffering from the effects of a more or less difficult or long standing case, will do well to call on Dr. S. at his office, No. 10, South Frederick St., and if not effecting a cure, no remuneration will be required for his services. His medicines are free from all violence, and may be taken in a public or private house, or while travelling, without exposure or inconvenience, and no change of diet is necessary.

STILLBORN CHILDREN. Dr. S. has discovered a new method by which he can cure the worst form of stricture, and that without pain or inconvenience to the patient. It is a simple and safe method, and the glandular neck of the bladder, is sometimes mistaken for stricture by general practitioners or charlatans, and others afflicted with Seminal Debility, whether originating from a Certain Deleterious Habit, or from any other cause, will do well to call on Dr. S. at his office, No. 10, South Frederick St., and if not effecting a cure, no remuneration will be required for his services. His medicines are free from all violence, and may be taken in a public or private house, or while travelling, without exposure or inconvenience, and no change of diet is necessary.

BALTIMORE LOCK HOSPITAL.

DR. JOHNSTON has discovered the most efficacious and safe plan for treating particular diseases that has ever been presented to the world. By his plan, founded on observations of the Hospital of Europe and America, he will cure

A CURE IN TWO DAYS, OR NO CHARGE.
[No Mercury or Nauseous Drugs Used.]
Pains in the Loins, Constitutional Debility, Impotence, Weakness, Excess of Fatigue, Discharge of the Kidneys, Palpitation of the Heart, Dyspepsia, Nervous Irritability, Diseases of the Head, Throat, Hoarseness, and all those secret and unwholesome disorders arising from the destructive habits of Youth, which destroy both body and mind, those secret and unwholesome practices more fatal to their victims than the sword of the Syrens to the mariners of Ulysses, blighting their most brilliant hopes, transmuting their marriage, &c., &c., impossible.

YOUNG MEN.
Especially, who have become the victims of Salubrity Vice, that dreadful and destructive habit which annually sweeps to an untimely grave thousands of young men of the most excellent talents and brilliant prospects. Dr. J. has discovered a safe and efficacious method, which he can cure the worst form of stricture, and that without pain or inconvenience to the patient. It is a simple and safe method, and the glandular neck of the bladder, is sometimes mistaken for stricture by general practitioners or charlatans, and others afflicted with Seminal Debility, whether originating from a Certain Deleterious Habit, or from any other cause, will do well to call on Dr. S. at his office, No. 10, South Frederick St., and if not effecting a cure, no remuneration will be required for his services. MISCELLANY.

WAIKS AND STRAYS.
The prettiest thing for a bonnet, is a sweet face. Flashes are flying colors, which maidens carry becomingly.

If a man waits patiently while a woman is "putting things on," or "shopping," he will make a good husband.

The bride's orange blossom often bears bitter fruit.

Don't reckon too much on the honeymoon; it may prove all moonshine.

Royal lovers exchange portraits; their simple suits--hears.

There are wide wastes of intellect yet unclosed.

The heart that beats for no woman is a niche without an image.

How often do we say we love to those we never care to marry!

Ye who would marry on small means, remember ye cannot exist on love--at least beyond the honeymoon.

There is no man so deep but that he has a shallow place.

There are two sorts of people whose statements are to be taken with caution; lovers when they speak of the objects of their affections, and grandmothers when they praise their grandchild.

She that marries a man because he is a good match, must not be surprised if he turns out a Lucifer.

When a woman makes you a pair of slippers, you have your foot in it.

CONTEMPTIBLE.
Politicians and legislative bodies often shape their policy so as to gain the favor of foreigners, with a view to obtain their votes, but the most remarkable instance of the kind we have known is afforded in a recent movement of the New York Legislature. The Bill for promoting medical science (regarding dissection) now before the Assembly, has been amended, according to the New York Medical Gazette, to avoid the objections of the Irish and German residents of New York, by exempting the bodies of paupers of those races from its provisions, and confining the dissecting privilege to the bodies of native born paupers only. --Boston Journal.

CONTEMPTIBLE.

Politicians and legislative bodies often shape their policy so as to gain the favor of foreigners, with a view to obtain their votes, but the most remarkable instance of the kind we have known is afforded in a recent movement of the New York Legislature. The Bill for promoting medical science (regarding dissection) now before the Assembly, has been amended, according to the New York Medical Gazette, to avoid the objections of the Irish and German residents of New York, by exempting the bodies of paupers of those races from its provisions, and confining the dissecting privilege to the bodies of native born paupers only. --Boston Journal.
