The Commercial. WILMINGTON, N. C.: THURSDAY, MARCH 30, 1854. EN ALFRED DOCKERY.

OR JUR DOMMERCIAL MR. Entrop :- It is apparent that an ef-fort will be made at the next Legislature to practicable, the truffic in suppress us far as the success of which will mostly depend on the energy manifested by the different tem perance organizations, and this fact should prompt them to action, and, to make arrangements to nominate their candidates.

The traffic in spirituous figuors is an injurious one ; it benefits no portion of the commubity, while the injuries springing from it are many and are to be tougd in every station, organization, and profession-every community furnishes its delegation of drunkards, in the courts of justice as well as in the national and subordinate Legislatures this evil has made its way and committed its depree bloated form, the imbecile mind dation y guil are warning bencons, and daily bear witness to the truth of these assertione. In every point of view the traffic is a serious matter, for at an appalling rapid rate it is continually producing poverty. immorufity, wretchedness, disease, and deaththese are legitimate offsprings of the liquor traffic, and the vender is accessary to all.

And these Mr. Editor. are but a small item of the catalogue of evils caused by the liquor traffic, evils which are daily before us. and are to be found in the streets, at the market, at our homes, and even in the sa cred house of God.

To suppress the cause of all these evils, now lurking in communities, is the sole object and purpose of the temperance organizations in advocating the passage of a law by our next Legislature prohibiting the traffie in intoxicating liquors, and Mr. Editor. I and thus curing all Humors, Sores, Ulcers, Cutanebelieve, there is no lover of order, morality, and virtue, who would oppose any move ment, aiming, as this evidently does. to ameliorate the condition of society, and if there should be any who will oppose this magnan. imous object, which for humanity's sake, 1 an enemy to his country and not a friend to man. MOXE EVIDENCE. J. G. Moore. Esq., of the Daily News, said, Oct 31. "Dr. HOOFLAND'S GERMAN BITTERS.—We are trying this renowned medicine for a stubborn disease of the bowels, and can with truth testify to its efficacy. We have taken the contents of two bottles, and we have derived more benefit from the experiment that we derived previously from years of all-phatic treat-ment at the hands of our first physicians."

Hon. C. D. Hineline, Mayor of the City of Camden. N. J., says : "HOOFLAND'S GERMANS BITTERS.-We have seen many flattering notices of this medicine, and the source from which they came induced us to make inquiry respecting its merits. From inquiry w were persuaded to use it, and m. st say we found specific in its action upon diseases of the liver and digestive organ, and the powerful influence it exerts ipon nervous prostration, is really surprising 1 calms and strengthens the nerves, bringing them Ir to a state of repose, making sleep refreshing.

If this medicine was more generally used, we are satisfied there would be less sickness, as from the stomach, liver and nervous system, the great majority of real and imaginary desenses cmanate. Have them in a healthy condition and you can bid defi-ance to epidemics generally. This extraordinary medicine we would advise our friends who are at all indisposed, to give a trial-it will recommend it-self. It should, 'n fact, be in every family. # POETRY. HARRIAGE SONG. BY MISS &. H. BROWNE.

In Cana was a banquet spread, And Hebrew youths and virgins gay Thither with joyous footsteps sped, To share the nuptial holiday. But darkly drag the weary hours, The grape no generous tribute pours ! And friends deplore, and guests repine, That water must be qualled for wine.

They whisper of a joyless life Which glooms before the wedded pair, And sorrow, wretchedness and strife Foretokened by a scene so rare ! The bride was sad, the bridegroom frowned And dashed his goblet on the ground ! When, lo ! there came a Guest Divine, And turned the water into wine !

And thus it is that they are blest,

Who would their troth in wedlock plight-They bid the self-same Heavenly Guest They ask his presence, power and light ! Then, though the storms of grief may lower, And sorrows darken many an hour, That ever-tarrying Guest Divine Shall tury life's water into wine.

But they who rush profanely on, Who lightly speak the solemn vow, Nor ask nor wish that Living One Their homes with blessings to endow. Though Pleasure's torch a moment stream, 'Tis but an ignis fatuus gleam ! Their lamp of joy shall darkly burn, Their wine shall into water turn!

Then fill the sparkling goblet high, And drain it quick, and drain it deep! No "serpent-stings" within it lie. No adder's fangs beneath it sleep ! The sweet, the cold, the crystal well Written for the "Spirit of the Times," by Whistler, French and English were contending for the possession of the country, that the valley of the Mississippi was the scene of warfare and bloodshed, which gained for Kentucky the name she bears to this day, "of the dark and bloody ground." A number of forts had been taken from the French by surprise; when a certain French commander determined upon making a descent on Fort St. Vincent, it being the nearest fort to his post, and take them by surprise if possible, and to pay back in part for

He accordingly started from his post with a large force, and after pushing many miles through the wilderness, through water, and mud, bushes and brake, he at last, with his gallant array of frog-eaters, halted just out of reach of the guns of the fort.

He soon found he was discovered by the enemy, as they run out a long gun directly in the face of his forces. Now the French commander did not like the looks of the gun pointing in his face, and thought he should be sufer in the fort than out, but how to get there was the question. At last he thought he would open a parley with the enemy, and accordingly an officer was sent forward to demand the surrender of the fort. After some talk, the fort was surrendition that the officers should keep their side arms, and that the garrison should depart with all the honors of war. These terms were agreed to by the French commander, and his troops were drawn up in line to receive the enemy; when, to the surprise, the vexation, and dismay of the French commander, instead of a garrison of two or three hundred men, he saw marching from the fort only a captain by the name of Helm, and one poor soldier, which The Turkish slave-dealer, who preferred even the chill blasts of Siberia, to a grave even in deep water, made a signal of distress, and the stcamer came up in time to rescue the ship and its living cargo from destruction. But so deeply is hatred implanted in every Circassian heart, that the spirit of the girls revolted at the thought of becoming the helpmates of the gray-coated soldiers, instead of sharing the sumptuous couch of a Turkish pasha. They had bid adieu to their native mountains with little emotion, but as the Russian ship approached, they set up a terrible and despairing scream. Some sprang headlong into the sea, others drove their knives into their hearts; to these heroines death was preferable to the bridal bed of a detested Muscovite. . The survivors were taken to Anapa, and married to Cossacks, or given to officers as servants.

A REMARKBBLE BOY.

As the train was about to leave for Lockport this morning, a boy was discovered under the platform of one of the cars hanging to the brakerod. He was taken out, and gave the following account of himself and his adventures :- His name is John King-his age fourteen years; he is a native of Galway, Ireland. He concealed himself on board a ship in that port, and secured a passage to New York; he secreted himself under the platform of a car on the Hudson River Railroad and came to Albany. At Albany he met a gentleman who took so much interest in his case as to pay his fare to Syracuse. At the latter place he again concealed himself under a car, and came to this city. He says he is going to the Suspension Bridge, and that he has an uncle at work at the "Devil's Hole," near that place. He was taken to Colonel Thompson, overseer of the county poor, who gave him the means of travelling safely to Niagara Falls. Depend upon it that boy will make his way through the world on his own hook Rochester Union.
