MISCELLANY.

ELOQUENT AND TRUE

The Portsmouth Globe says: In the course of his late speech, in an impromptu part of it, called out by a side remark of a member, Mr. Millson thus eloquently describes and rebukes the rampant Young America, which before it has yet got out of its swaddling clothes, bestrides an "avalanche" and presumes to be Captain Genetal of the land forces:

Young America cannot wait. It is perpetually screaming "Progress ! progress !" The course of nature is altogether too slow. Nature is superannuated-a driveler-----A Member. An old fogy.

Mr. Millson. Yes; un old fogy. All that is wise, and prudent, and just, and temperate, and patriotic, and respectable, it culls "fogyism" Shallow, saucy, headstrong, fool-hardy, it sees no danger, and avoids none. The disciple of young America would loose the avalanche from its One of the horses being clumsy, the robbers bed, and leap on it to guide its course leit it at Mr. Cu-ica's, and, in genuine Paul down the steep side of the mountain; and the same rocks against which he would be between two aid three Lundred dollars in hurled, and which would throw back his specie, and made good their escape. mangled and lifeless body to the ground. would echo his wild shouts of triumph. These advocates of progress would plunge into the swift current of Niagura, and wave SATCADAY at $5 per annum, payable in all cases their hands delighted, while the rapids in advance. were burrying them to their dreadful fate ; and even when borne to the very brink of the torrent, their song of exultation would mingle with the roar of the cataract.

That is beautiful and correct.

But we want to give Mr. Millson another idea : there are sometimes those older than "Old Fogies"-doted, "superannuated" persons, who will not get out of the way of "avalanches," although instead of Young America, wise America guides and directs its course. Such are overwhelmed, and great is the overwhelming thereof.

TOUCHING TRAGEDY.

That realities, the actual events of life, are sometimes as romantic as the dreams of fiction, and appeal more deeply to the feelings and sympathies, we do not doubt, and we, have besides a case in point to demonstrate the truth of the trite idea. Thus says the New Orleans Crescent, of Tuesday, Narch 22 and proceeds. No Alvertisements is included in the contract March 23, and proceeds :

for the sale or rent of houses or lands in town or An inquest was held yesterday upon the country, or for the sale or hire of negroes, whethbody of Mrs. Mariana Lowe, a beautiful er the property is owned by the alvertiser or by other persons. These are excluded by the term German lady, aged 16 years, who had "immediate business " peen matried but a short time and who up to a few days previous to her death, had hved in apparent happiness with her hus-JOB, CARD AND FANCY PRINTING, band. They resided on Thalia street, between Camp and Prytania, and not long after their marriage the exacting love of the wife became alarmed by strange reports of the conduct of her husband, which were confirmed by various circuinstances ling blit. coming under her own knowledge-his altered manners towards her, his frequent absence from home, etc. Her jealous fears were awakened-she dreaded their confirmation, but she sought and obtained the truth; and that truth brought the con iction with it, that she no longer enjoyed her husband's love; it carried despair to her soul She learned that her husband had formed an illicit connection with a woman in their immediate neighborhood ; and last Tuesday evening she traced him to the house and became convinced of his guilt; she returned home and penned a letter addressed to him, in which she indulged in no reproaches, but expressed her affiction for him and her grief at his faithlessness in lasses, Tobacro, Cigars. Snuff, Candles, Soap, Forthe strongest terms, declaring that nothing was left her in the world worth living for, Shoes, Leather, Agricultural Implements, and a va-and that she would forgive his injustice riety of other articles, suitable for family and planand die. She then procured an ounce of laudanum from an adjoining drug store, swallowed it and in a few hours was a

REV. F. H. BARING. It will be seen from the subjoined letter, that the notorious i dividual whose name heads this article, so far from being dead, as he advertised himself to be, is again imposing himself upon the public in a Clerical character. Our informant below is a gentlem in whose veracity is unquestionable, and his note may be implicitly relied on .-We are glad to see the scamp recognized and exposed in his villainy :

To the Editor of the Spirit of the Age: Rev. F. F. BARING alias Rev. Mr. Picor, NOT DEAD !!- There was a gentlemen from near this place, recently, (my six weeks ago) who left here to go to Waterpool, Louisiana. to live with his broth r. A lew days after he arrived there, on going into his brother's store, who should he meet there but the Rev. Mr Picot, formerly F. H. Baring ! He ac costed him with the usual salutation-"how do you do, Mr. Baring ?" With cool impu-dence, Mr. Baring replied-"I don't know you sir; never saw you before; ah, perhaps I may have met you in Philadelphia." The gentleman replied-"Why, don't you re-member seeing me in Wilmington, N. C. where you preached ? I recollect you, well. if you dou't recollect me." No; he never was there, and never saw him before; so said Mr. Baring, atius Mr. Picot. It appears Mr. Baring had changed his name to and had an appointment to preach in Waternool the pext day after my friend H. saw him; (he was then passing as a Babtist minister) which appointment he did not fill ; for during the night after my friend H. saw him. he took the first boat down the river to New Orleans, and did not stay to fill his appointment.

I make these lew statements in justice to the public, which he has imposed upon and trusting that this fetter will be given publicity to, that others may not suffer by such a vile imposter. I know that my friend H. knew him well, and coold not be mistaken a him, for he heard him preach for one year bere. You will please request the Rich-mond Christian Advocate, the Biblical Recorder and other papers to copy the above. J. H. B.
