MISCELLANY.

JOHN RANDOLPH AND POLITICAL CLERGY MEN.

in the Virginia convention of 1829 '30-John Randolph thus expressed his views with regard to the interference of the clergy in politics. The debate was upon the quesion of excluding ministers of the gospel from the legislature. Mr. Randolph said-"Sir this is no exclusion on account of the profession of any opinion. It is an exclasion of an occupation; an occupation incompatible with the discharge of the dulies a member of either branch of the legislature. The task of legislation is at war terly incompatible. No man can mingle tice. with duties of the pastor. The two are uttouch that pitch without being defiled. No man can so employ himself without being disqualified for those sacred duties which every minister of the gospel takes upon himself, and for which he is accountable, not to his constituents at home, but to the God who made him, and who will call him to a much more rigorous account than that he renders to his parishioners.

"Sir, there is an indecency in this thing. We hear much about exclusion of the ladies; but there is not greater indecency and incompatibility in a woman thrusting herself into a political assembly and all its cabals, than in a clergyman undertaking it. One of the greatest masters of the human heart, and of political philosophy too, declarges that while the French are in their manners more deferential to woman than any other people, they have less esteem for woman than any other nation on earth. Let me illustrate this. The Turk shows that he values his wife by locking her up. It is to be sure a mistaken mode; but he shows that he estimates the value of the treasure-by putting it under lock and key. The Frenchman permits his wife to mingle in political affairs; and if Madame Roland had not been engaged in such affairs, Madame Roland would never have ascended the scaffold. If they unsex themselves, and if priests (what shall I say?) will degrade themselves by mingling in scenes and in affairs for which their function renders them improper and unfit, they must take the consequences. If ladies will plunge into the affairs of men they will lose the deference they now enjoy; they will be treated roughly, like men. Just so it is with priests; they lose all the deference Lineral lash advances made on Consignments. which belongs and which is paid to their office (whether they merit it or not.) Rely upon it, if you permit priests to be made members of the legislature, they will soon constitute a large portion of all your assemblies. And it has been truly said that | Particular attention given to sale and purchase no countries are so ill-governed as those of Naval Stores. which were ruled by the counsels of women, except such as have been governed by the counsels of priests."

Among the numerous discoveries Science has ade in this generation to facilitate the business f life-increase its enjoyment, and even prolong the term of human existence, none can be manded of more real value to mankind, than this contrioutlon of Chemistry to the Healing Aft. A vast has proven beyond a doubt, that no medie.ne, or combinations yet known, con so surely control and cure the unmerous varieties of pulmonary disease which have hitherto swept from our midst housands and thousands every year. Indeed. there is now abundant reason to believe a Remedy has at length been found which can be relied on, o cure the most dangerous affections of the lungs. Mirried persons, or those contemplating marriage, Our space here will not permit us to publish any proportion of the cures affected by its use, but we would present the following, and refer further inmry to my American Almanac, which the agent ow named, will always be pleased to furnish free wherein are full particulars, and indisputable proofs of these statements: Office of Transportation, J. C. Aven. Dear Sir, -My little son, four years old, has just recovered from a severe attack of malignant Scatter Fever; his throat was rotten. and every person that visited him pronounced him a dead child. Having used your Cherry Pectoral in California, in the winter of 1850, for a severe attack of Bronchitis, with entire success, 1 vas induced to try it on my little boy. I gave him a teaspoonful every three hours, commencing in the morning and by ten o'clock at night I found a decided change for the better, and after three days use he was able to cat or drink without pain. Its use in the above named disease will save many child from a premature grave, and relieve the anxicly of many a fond parent. For all affections of the throat and lungs I believe it the best medicine extant. A feeling of the dispest gratitude prompts me in addressing you these lines. But for your important discovery my little boy would now have een in another world:

I am yours, with great respect, J. D. POWELL, Supt. Trans. L. R. R. Rock Hill, (Somerset Co.,) N. J. July 21, 1852. Da J. C. Aven, -Since your medicine has be-come known here, it has a greater demand than any cough remedy we have ever sold. It is spoken of in terms of unmeasured praise by those who have used it, and I know of some cases where the best they can say of it, is not too much for the good it has done. I take pleasure in selling it. ecause I know that I am giving my customers the worth of their money, and a feel gratified in eeing the benefit it confers. Please send me a further supply, and believe me

MISCELLANY I was just rising from dinner, when widow desired to speak with me. I a

ed her to be shown into my study. dear sit, I entreat you to excuse me," said, "I must pay my house rent, and am six dollars too short. I have been if month and could hardly keep my children; from starving. I must have six dollars today or to-morrow. Pray hear me, dear Here she took a small parcel out of her cket, untied it, and said, "There is a book encased in silver; my husband gave it me when I was betrothed. It is all I can spare, yet it will not be sufficient. I part with it reluctantly, for I know not how

POOR WIDOW.

I shall redeem it. My dear sir, can you assist me?" I answered, "Good woman, I cannot assist you!" so saying, I put my band accidentally, or from habit, into my pocket; f had about two dollars and a half. "That will not be sufficient," said I to myself. "she must have the whole sum; and if it would do. I want it myself." I asked her if she had no friend who would assist ter. She answered, "No, not a living soul and I would rather work whole nights than beg. I have been told you were a kind gentleman. If you cannot help me, I hope you will excuse me for giving you so much trouble. I will try how I will exfricate myself. God has never yet forsaken me, and I hope will not begin to turn away from me in my sixty-sevently

My wife entered the room. Oh, thou traitorous heart! I was angry and ashamed. I should have been glad to have sent her away, under some pretext or other. because my conscience whispered, "Give to them that asketh of thee," &c. My wife, too, whispered in my ear, "She is on" honest, pious woman, and has certainly been ill; do assist her if you can."

Shame, joy, avarice, and the desire for ssisting her struggled in my heart. I whispered, "I have but two dollars, and she wants six. I will give her something and send her away." My wife, pressing my arm with an af-fectionate smile, repeated aloud what my conscience had been whispering. "Givo to him that asketh of thee." &c. I asked her, archly, if she would give me her ring to enable me to do it. "With great pleasure," she replied, pulling off the ring. The good old woman was too simple to year; and it is my sincere belief that I should have observe, or too modest to take advantage of

When she was going my wife asked her to wait a little in the passage, will diddy "Were you in earnest, my dear, when you offered your ring ?" said I. "Indeed I was," she replied. "Do you think I would sport with charity ?-Remember what you said to me a quarter maintain its reputation. I invariably recommend of an hour ago I entreat you not to make t for pulmonary affections, as do many of our prin an ostentation of the gospel. You have always been so benevolent. Why are you now so backward to aid this poor woman? Did you not know that there was six dollars in your bureau, and it will be quarterday soon ?" I pressed her to my heart, saying, "You are more righteous than I. Keep your ring; I thank you." I went to the bureau, and took the six dollars. I was seized with horror, because I had said, "I cannot assist you." The good woman, at first thought it was only a small contribution. When she saw it was more, she could not offer a word at first. "How can I thank you," she exclaimed. "Did you understand me? I have nothing but this book, and it is old."

"Keep the book and the money," said I hastily, "and thank God, not me I do not deserve your thanks, because I so long hesitated to help you." I shut the door after her, and was so much ashamed I could hardly look at my wife. "My dear," said she, "make your-self easy; you have yielded to my wishes. While I wear a golden ring, you need not tell a fellow-creature in distress, that you cannot assist him." I folded her to my heart and wept - Life of Rev J. G. Karaler.

SALAMANDER SAFES. THE name of Salamander was first applied to Wilder's Patent, and introduced by the subscriber in 1840, who in 1844 purchased the tiget to manufacture. The superiority of Herring's (Wilder's) Salamander Safes over all others induced many to infringe upon the patent right by using the composition; others more cautious, and to evade a tawsuit, in de an inferior article, imitating the exterior in form, 'style, color of painting, and attaching the name "Salamander," improved Salamander," "Fire Proof Salamander," "The Gennine Salamander," "Ce., d'c., and have succeeded in online der," "Fire Proof Salamander," "The Gennine Salamander," & c., & c., and have succeeded in palming off some of the spurious Salamanders as genuine. Those wanting the original Salamander, manufactured by the subscriber, should take the precaution to see that they have upon them a metal plate—"Silas C. Herring, Maker,"—all such being the genuine (Wilder's Patent) Salamander, or Herting's Improved Patent Champion Safe, which received the medal at the Great World's Fair, and which have never failed to preserve the contents in case of fire.
