Victory by Sir Charles Napter .... 1,500 Russian Prisoners Taken-Japan Ports Open to the United States, 4-c

From our foreign files to the 28th ult. by the Arctic, we take the following ex-The Eastern War.

Admiral Napier, after 8 hours' bombardment, destroyed the fortresses of Gustaffsvoern, at the entrance to the Gulf of Finland 1,500 Russians were taken prisoners. The British steamer Tiger, taken by the Russians near Odessa, had been burnt .-Her Majesty's ship ran aground. The Russians soldiers immediately surrounded her. Captain Gifford lost one of his legs, and a midshipman both legs, and five seamen were wounded. The Russians had two killed and several wounded. Two hundred and twenty-six prisoners were captured by the Russians. On the 10th several large men of war appeared off Odes. sa, and sent in a flug of truce to the town. Nothing further known, but we may be sure the Admiral will make serious repri-

Six more Russians vessels had been taken as prizes, and put into the port of Memel, where prize-masters were put on board, and they were despatched to England.

There is a confirmation of the news that the Russians, losing all hope of defending the coast in consequence of the blockade, have evacuated their position from Batoum to Anapa-an extent of 200 leagues.

Plan of Operation in the Black Sea. The Paris correspondent of the Times gives the following as the plan of operations said to have been determined upon, namely, to land 30,000 men in the Crimes, while the fleet will attack and destroy Sebastopol; the Anglo-French fleets then to leave the Turco-Egyptian squadron in the Black Sea, and Cronstadt to be attacked by the whole overwhelming forces of the combined fleets. The arrangement for despatch of the English contingent at Constantinople on the 15th gives probability to the above. It was said the whole English army could be embarked in 24 hours.

The Austro Prussian Treaty. The trenty between Austria and Prussia has been made public, and its stipulations. (says the London Times.) however involved in intricacy of language, bind those powers to interfere if the Czar persists in the prolonged occupation of the Principalities, and to interfere by force of arms if he attempts the passage of the Balkan, or incorporate the Principalities into the Russiandeminions. However the most ambiguous language is employed to enable the King of Prussia to play false without violating the terms of the treaty, the Times is confident that a regard for his own interests will keep him "in the right groove."

The Siege of Sillistria. Constantinople advices state that on the 15th Marshal Paskiewitsch, with his staff, crossed the Danube below Silistria to reconnoitre. On the 16th, terms of capitulation were offered to the commander of that fortress, and the bombardment was suspended. On the 17th Musa Pasha rejected all terms, and on the same day the bornbardment re-commenced. On the 13th Paskiewitsch had his head-quarters at Kalarasch. This shows that the bombardment had not been finally suspended, as was inferred from the previous dispatch .-It is stated that the vanguard of Gen Luders, about the 13th, experienced at the hands of a Turkish division a defeat, accompanied with very serious loss. Subsequently however, a telegraphic dispatch from Bucharest, of the 20th inst., states that an encounter took place on the 18th, on the road from Rassowa to Silistria, and that the Ottomans retreated to Silistria .-Bridges were thrown over the river on the following day, and three Russian divisions ered that he had some business down street crossed; so that Silistria is now enclosed and departed. on all sides by the Russians.

It appears that at St. Petersburg the war is becoming highly unpopular. Count Nesselrode has been mobbed. New taxes are levied to a great amount upon the people, and, as usual, their property is placed under sequestration if they do not cash up These rigorous proceedings, superadded to the frightful conscription which is going on all over the Russian Empire, are expected to have some tragical results at no very distant period. Memel, Biffa, Libau, and Windau have been formally blockaded

Messrs. Brach & Brownson-Sirs: I send for another bottle of your "Marchisi's Utarine Ca-cholicon" My wife has been afflicted for cleven years, and a variety of means has been resorted to for relief, but none was obtained until I received this medicine from you. Its influence seems almost magical: there was a manifest improvement rom the day it was taken. As there are a great many females in our country laboring under the affliction for which your mediine proposes a remedy, I feel it a duty to recomnend it to all such.

MISCELLANY.

From the Providence Sournill June 6.

A FURIOUS ELEPHANT AT LARGE. The large elephant Hannibal, attached to the Broadway menagerie, which was on exhibition at Pawtucket on the 3d inst, got loose from his keeper on the way from Pawtucket to Fall River, early yesterday morning. Before starting, his keeper made him lift the hinder part Womb; FLOUR AL. of a wagon loaded with 3,500 pounds; for the purpose of getting it into line .-It is supposed that this, although not unusual, might have suggested to him the mode of attack which he adopted afterwards. When about seven miles from Pawtucket he became furious, turned upon his keeper, who had to fly a horse and wagon belonging to Mr. Stafford Short, he thrust his trunk into the horse and lifted horse, wason and rider into the air. He mangled the horse terribly and carried him about fifty feet, and threw the dead body into a pond. The wagon was broken to pieces, and Mr. Short considerably hurt. The elephant broke one of his enormous tusks in this encounter. A mile further the elephant, now grown more furious, attacked in the same manner a horse and wagon, with Mr. Thomas W. Peck and his son. He broke the wagon and wounded the horse, which ran away. Mr.

Peck was pretty badly hurt in the hip. While the keepers were engaged in securing the smaller elephant, who had not, however, manifested any signs of insubordination, the larger one got off from them, and went through Barneyville, when Mr. Mason Barney and another man mounted their horses and kept on his track as near to him as was prudent, giving warning of the danger to the passengers whom they met on the way. The elephant would occasionally turn to look at them, but did not attempt to molest them.

The next man in the path was Mr. Pearce, who was riding with his little son in a one horse wagon. He was coming towards the elephant, and being Hudro Electic Volcanic Chains. warned by Mr. Barney, turned around elephant overtook him, and seizing the wagon, threw it into the air, dashing it to pieces, and breaking the collar bone and arm of Mr. Pearce. The horse. These chains were first introduced in the city of disengaged from the wagon, escaped New York less than one year since, and after be with the fore wheels, and the elephant gave chase for eight miles, but did not catch him. The elephant came back from his unsuccessful pursuit, and took up his march again on the main road, where he next encountered Mr. J. Eddy, with a horse and wagon. He threw up the whole establishment in the same way as before, smashed the wagon, killed the horse, and wounded Mr. Eddy. He threw the horse twenty feet over a fence into the adjoining lot, then broke down the fence, went over and picked up the dead horse and deposited him in the road, where he had first met him. He killed one other horse, and pursued another, who fled to a barn; the elephant followed, but at the door was met by a fierce buildog, which bit his leg and drove him off. Once on the route, the keeper being ahead of him, saw him plunge over a wall and make for a house. The keeper got into the house first, hurried the frightened people within to the upper story, and providing himself with an axe, succeeded in driving off the furious beast. The elephant finally exhausted his strength, and laid himself down in the bushes, about two miles from Slade's Ferry. Here he was seenof the chain over the region of the abdomen and red with chains and carried over the ferry to Fall River. A part of the time he ran at the rate of a mile in three
