'Tis hard to get my pay! For once let reason be your guide, Attend without delay, How can a poor mechanic live,

Unless he gets his pay. Come thou and pass this new resolve, And to yourselves then say, Although I negligent have been, I now myself will pay.

From the N. Y. Express. ANOTHER GREYTOWN EPIC. "C. S.," of Brooklyn, sends us another epic, commemoratory of the recent resplendent achievvent at Greytown, by Capt. Hollins:

THE BURNING OF SAN JUAN. Good people all, both great and small, Attend unto my ditty! 'Tis of the fate of San Juan! That famous little city. They gave an insult to our flag,

And burnt out all the little folks, From out that little Land. We sent brave Hollins out with speed To cruise upon that station!

For which we bade them stand!

Who burnt that little City up, For our great Yankee Nation. When Cuba, with defiant brow, So boldly seized our ship. We slided down into our Boots, But gave San Juan fits.

Let Pierce and Marcy wear the palm, So well becomes their Station! Their great exploits will bear the test,

Of this great Yankee Nation.
