MISCELLANY.

A CLEVER ANECDOTE.

THE EMPEROR AND HIS DAUGHTER. Translated for the Pennylvania Inquirer from the Gazette Franneaiese .- O. N. TURNER.

A few years since, there was in the city of St. Petersburg a young girl, so beautiful and so lovely that the greatest prince of Europe, had he met her, even in a peasant's hut, might well have turned his back upon princesses to offer her his hand and

But far from having first seen the light in a peasant's hut, she was born in the shadow of the proudest throne on earth.-It was Marie Nicolewna, the adored daughter of the Emperor of Russia, As her father saw her blooming like the

May flower, and sought for by all the heirs of royalty, he cast his eyes upon the fairest, the richest, and the most powerful of them, and, with the smile of a father and a king, said to her :-

'My child, you are now of an age to marry, and I have chosen for you the prince who will make you a queen, and the man who will render you happy.' The man who will render me happy, sigh, which was the only objection to which her heart gave utterance. Speak father,' she said, as she saw a frown gathering upon the brow of the Czar. 'Speak, and your Majesty shall be obeyed.' 'Obeyed !' exclaimed the Emperor, trembling for the first time in his life, is it then only as an act of obedience that you will receive a husband from my hands.' The young girl was silent, and conceal ed a tear.

'Is your faith already plighted?'
The young girl was still silent.
'Explain yourself, Marie; I command

At this word, which sways sixty millions of human beings, the princes fell at the feet of the Czur.

Yes father, if I must tell you, my heart is no longer my own; it is bestowed upon a young man who knows it not, and who shall never know-it, if such be your wish. He has seen me but two or three times at a distance, and we will never speak to each other if your majesty forbid it !

The Emperor was silent in his turn,-He grew pale. Three times he made the circuit of the saloon. He durst nor ask the name of the young man.

He who would have braved, for a carice, the monarches of the world at the end of their armies-he, with his omnipetence, feared this unknown youth, who disputed with him the possession of his learest treasure.

Is it a king? he demanded at last. 'No father.

The heir of a king, at least.'

'No, father.! 'A Grand Duke?' 'No father.' 'A son of a reigning family?'

At each step in the desending scale, the Czar stepped to recover breath.

The Emperor fell back into an arm

'Yes, father,'

And the voice of the young girl grew Where shall I see him P said the Czar. rising with a threatening aspect.

"l'o-morrow, at the review." 'How shall I recognize him?' repeated the Czar, with a stamp of his foot. By his green plame and his black Tis well. Go, my daughter, and pray God to have pity upon that man, The Princess withdrew, in a fainting condition, and the Emperor was soon lost in thought 'A childish caprice,' he said, at length 'I am foolish to be disturbed at it. she will forget it. She shall forget it !' and his lips dared not ofter what his heart added,

'It must be; for all my power would be weaker than her tears.'

On the following day, at the review, the Car, whose eagle eye embraced all at a glance, sought and saw in his battalions, The neivillars of Annual Advertisers is strictly finded to their swa famediate business; and all advertisements for the benefit of other persons, as well as all advertisements not immediately connected with their awa business, and all excess of advertisements in length or otherwise beyond the limits engaged, will be charged at the usual rates. No Advertisements is included in the contract for the sale or reat of houses or lands in town in country, or for the sale or hire of negroes, whether the property is owned by the advertiser or by other persons. These are excluded by the term "Immediate business."

Carr, whose eagle eye embraced all at a glance, sought and saw in his buttalions, nought else than a green plume and a black charger. He recognized in him, who were the one and rode the other, a simple Colonel of the Bavarian Light Horse, Maximillian-Joseph-Eugene-Auguste Benuharnois, the Duke of Leuchtenberg roungest child of the son of Josephine (who was, for a brief time, Empress of Frence) and of Auguste Amelie daught who were the one and rode the other, a COMMISSION MERCHANTS berg, youngest child of the son of Josephine (who was, for a brief time, Empress of COMMISSION MERCHANT & GENERAL France) and of Auguste Amelie, daughter of Maximillian Joseph, of Bavaria, an admirable and charming cavalier, in truth; waa, as a simple soldier to an Emperor.

'Is it possible,' said the Caar to himself, as he sent for the Colonel, with the design of dismissing him to Munich. But, at the moment when he was about to crush him with a word, he stopped at tice. the sight of his daughter-fainting in her caleche.

'There is no longer a doubt,' thought the Czar; Vis indeed he.' And turning his back upon the stupified

For six weeks, all that prudence, tem pered with love and severity, could inspire. was essayed to destroy the image of the Co'onel in the heart of the Princess. At the end of the first week, she was resigned; at the end of the second, she wept; at the end of third, she wept in public; at the end of the fourth, she wished to sacrifice perself to her father; at the end of the fifth, she fell sick; at the end of the sixth, she

Meanwhile, the Colonel, seeing himself in disgrace at the court of his host, without daring to confess to himself the cause, did not wait for his distnissal to return to his regiment. He was on the point of setting out for Munich, when an aid-de-camp of the Czar came for him.

"I should have set out yesterday," he said to himself: I might have a roided what awaite me. At the first flash, save yourself from the thunderbolt."

The bolt in reserve for him was the following: He was ushered into the cabinet. where kings only are allowed to enter -The Emperor was pale, and his eye was moist; but his air was firm and resolute.

'Colonel Duke,' said he enveloping and penetrating him with his glance, 'you are one of the handsomest officers in Europe. It is said, also, and I beleive it true, that you possess an elevated mind—a thorough Drugs, Medicines, Chemicals, Paints, OII, education, a lively taste for the arts, a no. Dye Stuffs, Glass, Perfumery, Cigars, education, a lively taste for the arts, a noble heart, and a loval character.

What think you of the Grand Duchess my daughter Marie Nicoloewna? This point-blank question dazzled the young man. It is time to say that he admired, adored, the princess, without being fully aware of it. A simple mortal adores an angel of Paradise as an artiste adores the ideal of beauty. 'The Princes Marie, she !' exclaimed he, reading at last his own heart without daring to read that of the Czar; 'your anger would crush me if I told you what I think of her, and I should die of joy if you permitted me to say it.'

'You love her; tis well,' resumed the Czar, with a benignant smile; and the royal hand, from which the Duke was awaiting the thunderbolt, delivered to the Colonel Emperor—the brevets of commandant of the Calvary of the Guards, and of the regiment of Hussars—of Chief of the Corps.

title of Imperial Highness, and several millions of revenue. "Now," said the Czar to the young man, who was beside himself with joy, "will you quit the service of Bavaria and become the ausband of the Princess Marie?" The young officer could only fall upon his knees, and bathe with his tears the hands of the Emperor. "You see that I also love my daughter,' said the father, raising his son-in-law in his

His great success in those long standing and difficult cases, such as were formerly considered incurable, is sufficient to commend him to the public as worthy of the extensive patronage he has received. Within the last eight years, Dr. S. has treated more than 29,500 cases of Private Complaints, in their different forms and stages; a practice which me different forms and stages; a practice which no doubt exceeds that of all other physicians now advertising in Baltimore, and not a single case is known where his directions were strictly followed, and medicines taken at reasonable time, without effecting a radical and permanent cure; therefore, persons afflicted with diseases of the above nature, 'no in after how difficult or long standing the case may be,'' would do well to call on Dr. Smith, at his office. SANDS' SARSAPARILLA.

IN QUART BOTTLES. For Purify :- g the Blood, and for the Cure of Scrofula, Rheumatism, Stubborn Uleers, Dyspepsia, Salt Rheun, Fecer Sores, Erysipelas, Pimples, Biles, Mercurial Diseases, Cutaneous Eruptions, Liver Complaint, Bronchitis, Consumption; Female Complaints, Loss of Appetite, General Debility, 4.c. N this preparation all the restorative properties L of the root are concentrated in their utmost strength and efficacy; but while Sarsaparilla Root forms an important part of its combination, it is, at the same time, compounded with other vegeta-bic remedies of great power, and it is in the peculiar combination and scien the manner of its preparation, that its remarkable success in the cure of disease depends. It sets simultaneously upon the stomoch, the circulation and the bowels; and thus three processes, which are ordinarily the result of three different kinds of a edicine, are carried on at the same time, through the instrumentality of this one remedial agent which gently stimulates while it disinfects and expels from the stomach and bowels all that is irritating, and at the same time estores vigor and tone. Many other preparations imitate in pearing the name of Sursaparilla, and in that their resemblance ends, being often prepar-ed from worthless and inert roots, and of course possess no healing or curative properties, and pa-tients in making choice of which they will use, should take no other, but that one entitled to their confidence, from the long list of cures it has effect ed on living witnesses, whose testimonials and residence have been published, and who are still bearing daily testimony to its worth.

June 9th, 1851.

DR. SWAYNE: Dear Sir—Believing it a duty
I owe to the public, and in justice to you, I have thought proper to make known one of the most extraordinary cures, in my own case, that has ever been truly recorded. In the month of October last, I was afflicted with a severe gathering in my breast, which formed a large ubscess, and also communicated to my lungs and very much afflicted them, and discharged large quantities of corruption, external and internal. My breath could also pass through my lungs and out breath could also pass through my lungs and out through the cavity of my breast with apparent case, attended with a violent cough day and night, loss of appetite, and extreme debility, so that my physicians thought my case extremely hopeless and beyond the power of medicine. I remained in this wretched condition for a long time, until I was wasted to a mere skeleton, and there seemed to be no hope for me, but, having read in the public papers of the many wonderful cures performed by your COMPOUND SYRUP OF WILD CHERRY, I immediately sent to Baltimore for five bottles and commenced its use, and, to my great satisfaction and that of my anxious family, the abscessor opening in my longs began to heat, and the cough subsided and on using ten bottles. I was restored to perfect health. I feel very grate-I was restored to perioci health. I feel very grate-ful, and firmly believe that in your medicine, un-der the blessings of Divine Providence, I am in-debted for this great change, and am happy to say hat I am now enjoying as good health as I ever

Yours, very respectfully, THOS. DIXON. The subscriber is well acquainted with Thomas Dixon, and can testify that he has been afflicted as above represented. I regard his recovery as almost a miracle. He is a worthy member of society.

CARRIAGES.

MISCELLANY.

From the Christain Observer. THE PRIEST SUPPLANTED I was sitting with anxious heart by the bedside of a sick daughter, when the ex-cellent physician, who had been in attendance for several weeks, came running up stairs, much excited, and almost out of breath. "Get ready—get ready," said he, with-out stating for what; "put on you best— make haste—let me help you; Judge I'— —will be here for you in a moment." There seemed to be no time for inquir-It was evident, however that I was come an important actor in some scape of special interest, "Are those your best boots?" inquired the man of physic, now wholly absorbed in the duties of a salet

I began to suspect a marriage. But why such haste? Ought I not to have been The Judge presently drove up in his fine the doctor, he at once informed me that a large wedding party had just been thrown into a disagreeable confusion, by certain exorbitant demands of a Catholic priest, who had been invited to marry the pair.—
The father of the lady was a rigid Catholic; and her own prejudices were strongly that way, but had been somewhat modified of late, by associations which had be formed through the marriage of a sh It was her preference to have the priest; whilst she could regard the ceremony as valid, though it should be performed by a Protestant. His papal holiness—who by the way was a man of eminence—had made his appearance in full dress; and but a few moments now intervened, ere the expected ment when suddenly his reverence requested a private interview with the groom,-Strange interview! "Are you ready now," inquired the man of robes, "to assume the usual vows, and to give bond and security. that should the Lord bless you with pos terity you will sacredly train up your chitdren according to the Catholic faith and practice." Unheard of demands! Astounding ! 1 " Do what, sir? No!" responded Mr. L "No sir! Tam willing to do no such thing !" It was in vain, Church. To such impudence, the highminded Marylander had not been used .--The indecent, arrogant bigot! It was well for him that he was in a gentleman's house; and that it was a festive hour .--Narrowly, indeed did he escape the very shortest reply-a real knock-down argument. Under the circumstances, he was permitted to retire with his "walking papers." His serene holiness was immediately discharged. The intended bride approved of what nuptial bond. The mortified priest was just refreating as Judge P drove up. No time had been lost, the ceremony, was at once performed; and in a few moments the young couple rejoiced as truly in the venty of their union, as though it had received the sanction of the Pope. The father of the young lady-Catholic as he was averred that he never saw anything done so nice-ly; and the minister happy in thus giving satisfaction to all the parties, was about re tiring; when one of the waiters handed over four dazzling half ragles, thus render-ing a poor needy missionary quite as much delighted as the joyous pair themselves.

WHY WE ACT.

Not because we are opposed to foreigners as such. Not because we would block the wheels of the car of Liberry that is now being propelled over the world's surface, not at all. We sympathize fully with all the liberty loving men upon God's footstool.—But we do act, and shall continue to act, because we believe that Romanism, by jesuitical means, is attempting to fasten it-self upon the political institutions of the land, and knowing, from the history of the THE Subscriberhaving accepted the agency of acceptablishments at the North, which willfurnish him an unlimited supply of finished or nafinished, foreign and domestic MARBLE of all qualities, is prepared to fill alterders for MONUMENTS AND TOMES STONES, and every other article in the line of the business. should do injustice to ourselves, to our country, and to posterity, if we failed to oppose its progress upon the free soil of the New World. Therefore, we act for principle — Our faith—political faith, leads us in oyposition to the assumptive foreign born, the machinations of the Jesuit, and the corrupt policy of the Romish Church. We believe that this country has no more deadly for than the Romish Church. We believe its leaders to be destidute of all conscient scruples, when the interests of their Charc are likely to be periled, and that they would resort to the most damning means to avert any threatening danger. We therefore act now, and ever shall for the freedom of America, the liberty of man, and our native land - Amer Sentinel.
