Almost home,' said Mr. Humphreys in a low voice; almost home, dear child." 'Yes, yes, I see the blessed hearen .-Come my Saviour? Come, Lord, come in beaven.'

'Yes, in heaven !' repeated Mr. Humph-Little Alfred, and Arthur, and dear mother, too!' added the exhausted and rapidly sinking girl. 'O, we shall never be separated again ! 'No more death ! said Mr. Humphreys no more tears-no parting. Blessed be Jesus for his dear promises to us all.'

'Yes, blessed Jesus !' she repeated; 'dear father, do give yourself to God; it will make me die so happy; I shall know then that you will meet us again. Only tell me before I die, that you will give up your heart, STEAM ENGINE AND SAW MILL. all your heart, dear father. I cannot stay long; my breath is so hard!'
The father wept as a child; he was per-feetly unmanned. This was the sinking away of his last hope and stay. Hence-'Yes, yes, my child?' he cried; 'I do,

'All, father? your whole heart?' asked the dying girl, her pule face lighting with an expression still more heavenly.

Dear Ellen, I hope I may live the rest of my life as I should. I will try and reach heaven."

It was all he could say. He wept afresh, bowing his head. The answer was sufficient.

"O, I am so happy!" she exclaimed; "I am dying so easy! How long shall I be slying, Mrs. Humphreys? It does'nt seem to me like death; I do not fear it; I think I shall be happier with Jesus; and no more sorrow, and no more sickness, and trouble, por pain-O, this is death !

Her fragmentary expressions so deeply affected her father, and her dear friend, Mrs. Humphreys, that they were unable to auswer her much. Mr Humphreys, alone remained calm through the whole

She thanked both her friends over and over again for their kindness and care, and hoped they would always be happy here, and finally obtain their exceeding great reward. Then she asked Mr. Humphreys if he would not repeat that hymn which was a favorite of hers, containing-

"Jesus can make a dying bed Feel soft as downy pillows are," which he did, she repeating many of the lines after him, and seemed to realize the sep truth of each one of them.

She at length lay quiet for some minutes. It was evident that the flame was flickering just preparatory to going out. She Suddenly she opened her eyes widely, and looked round at each one of them. Farewell! farewell! we shall meet quickly I' she exclaimed in a voice but little above a dying whisper.

A CAT EXTRAORDINARY. A gentleman living at Elk Run, in the lower end of Fauquier county, Virginia, has the good fortune to possess the most remarkable grimalkin yet known of the cat kind. Its body is of usual length, Con racts with worrly advertisers, will be made its legs like those of a bench legged on the most liberal terms.

No treasfer of contracts for yearly advertising will be permitted. Should circumstances render whole beautified with black spots and streaks of different figures; they are long in the back and round on the belly and jaws. Black stripes run across the ears, which are very long and tipped at the ends with a blue turf of hair. Its physiognomy is fierce and its nature savage. Ordinarily it is perfectly docile, and like Wormley's very sensible cat, never says a word, though he answers readily (by the wag of his tail) to the name of "Billy."

> snakes, which had been bred in a neighboring stone fence, he took it into his head to eschew such game as rats and mice and make war upon the snakes, all of which he soon destroyed. Having acquired a taste for this kind of sport, he extended the field of his operations, frequently making excursious more than a mile distant from the house, and returning each and every day with a snake, ranging from two to seven feet in length. He has continued this practice for eight | General Commission and Forwarding Merchant. Prompt personal attention given to Consign-ments for Sale or Shipment. weeks. On one occasion he returned to the house much fatigued, perfectly wet and covered with saliva. It was supposed that he had encountered one of those arge but rare serpents known as the goobat. This turned out to be true, for the day thereafter Mr. Harvey B. Ralls found the snake dead, and signs of a dreadful conflict on the sand. Most or nearly all the wounds had been inflicted on the back of the neck. The weight of the horrid serpent was 14 pounds eleven ounces This class of serpents is a native of Eastern Virginia with a very large head and great jaws. The mouth is armed with cutting crooked teeth, among which are two longer than the rest, placed in the fore part of the upper jaw. All around the mouth there is a broad sealy border, and the eyes so large that they This affecting description of a Child's give it a terrible aspect. The forehead GENERAL COMMISSION MERCHANTS Death-bed Scene is taken from a work re- is covered with large scales. Each side of the belly is marbled with large square Carrie sat down near Ellen, on the side spots of chesnut color, in the middle of opposite her father, and held her other which is a spot perfectly round, and like burnished gold. They have been known O, my Saviour !' sweetly exclaimed the to swallow small pigs, musk rats, opossums, &c. They avoid the sight of man, and consequently are rarely seen. Indeed the existence of the goobat has been doubted by many.

The cat still continues his war upon the snakes. These facts may not gain quickly! O my dear father, make your credence at a distance, but they are so peace with God; Jesus stands waiting for well known and attested, that no one in you with open arms. SANDS SARSAPARILLA. IN QUART BOTTLES.

For Purify og the Blood, and for the Cure of Serofula. Rheumatism, Stubborn Ulcers, Dyspepsia, Salt Rieun, Fever Sores, Erysipelas, Pimples, Biles, Mercurial Diseases, Culaneous Eruptions, Licer Complaint, Branchitis, Consumption, Female Complaints, Loss of Appetite, General Debitity, Ge.

IN this preparation all the restorative properties of the root are concentrated in their atmost strength and efficacy; but while Sarsaparilla Root forms an important part of its combination, it is, at the same time, compounded with other vegetable remedies of great power, and it is in the peculiar combination and selen ific manner of its preptration, that its remarkable success in the cure of disease depends. It acts simultaneously upon the stomach, the circulation and the bowels; and thus hree processes, which are ordinarily the result of three different kinds of " edicine, are carried on at the same time, through the instrumentality of this one remedial agent which gently stimulates while it disinfects and expels from the stomach and bowels all that is tritating, and at the same time estores vigor and tone. Many other preparations mitate in pearing the name of Sarsaparilla, and in that their resemblance ends, being often prepar-ed from worthless and inert roots, and of course tients in making choice of which they will use, should take no other, but that one entitled to their confidence, from the long list of cures it has effected on living witnesses, whose testimonials and residence have been published, and who are still bearing daily testimony to its worth.

ASTONISHING CURE. PATTERSON, N. Y. 20th, 1851. Mesers A. B. & D. Sanos: Gentlemen.—Hav ing wi nessed the most beneficial effects from the use of your Sarsaparilla, it gives me pleasure to send you the following statement in regard to my son. In the spring of 1848 he took a severe cold. and after eight weeks of severe suffering the dis-ease settled in his left leg and foot, which soon swelled to the utmost. The swelling was lanced by his physician, and discharged most profusely; after that no less than eleven ulcers formed on the 'eg and foot at on time. We had five diff rent Phy-sicians, but none relieved him much; and the last winter found him so emaciated and low that he was unable to leave his ed, suffering the most exeruciating pain. During this time the bone had become so much affected that piece after piece came out, of which he has now more than twenty-five preserved in a bottle varying from one half to one and a half inches in length. We had given up all hopes of his recovery, but at this time we were induced to try your Sarsaparilla, and with its use his health and ppetite began immediately to improve, and so rapd was the change that less than a dozen bottles ef-lected a perfect cure. With gratitude, I remain truly your DARIUS BALLARD. We the undersigned neighbors of Mr. Ballard cheerfully subscribe to the facts of the above statement.

DEATH OF LITTLE CHILDREN. If there be a connecting link between earth and heaven, it is little children. The most depraved are melted into contrition before theiri nnocent prattling, and even the wild eyes of the lunatic grow, suddued and are filled with tears when they gaze upon these gentle spirits, which, like birds of heavenly plumage, do not seem to have been intended for this world of sin and shame. If they thus appear to those uninterested in them, except so far as they seem to be the embodiment of purity, how much more dealers, who view the with those sentiments of love and responsibilty which are the ornaments of their station. There are other afflictions which strike more deeply, and which fix a more durable sorrow in the mind, than the death of one of these little ones; but there is none which lacerates a parent's heart, for the time, so keenly, There is something which cannot fail to touch even the most uninterpated in the illness of a little child. It suffers so meckly, and struggles with the King of Terrors in such placid resignation, that the heart of the beholder is melted to tenderness. To parents, as they watch the last flickering breath of the beloved one, and see the mo-D'I owe to the public, and in justice to you, I have thought proper to make known one of the most extraordinary cure, in my own case, that has ever been truly recorded. In the month of October last, I was afflicted with a second of the collection of the beloved one, and see the moment that the pale hue of death settles in evitably upon the lips, there comes an anguish that is unspeakable. It is not the the parent's grief for the death of an infant. They watched without a murmer over its little couch whild disease was doing its work; and when it stretched forth its tiny hands imploringly for relief, how keen was their anguish that they could not adminis-ter to its necessities! The fell destroyer, which smote over 10,000 children in this city, under two years of age, last year, had marked it for his own.

The feeble breath grew more inconstant; the fittle hand was raised less frequently for aid; and finally it sank back upon its pillow-dead. The vital spark had fled. The mother sits by its lifeless form, buries her face in her hands, and weeps. It is the only relief she can find. The father may be away to his business. He knows preparation of Wild Cherry manufactured. Ob. not that the little prattler, which always erve particularly the portrait of Dr. Swayne is greeted his return with such unbounded joy, is no more. He fondly hopes it will recover; but that evening, when he returns from his daily labors, he sees tied upon the knob of the door bell a whith cloth. It is the emblem of the loss of a pure and unspotted spirit, which has been called to a home beyond the skies. He enters the house; but all is as still as the grave -There is a gloomy atmosphere around, him and he feels that he is in the halls of death. Not a word is spoken; for what is so expressive of sorrow as silence? He hears only a feeble sob from the mother, and sees naught but the lifeless form of his child;

They bury the little one where the wild flowers grow, and soon over its grave is growing the greensward of the valley -Genera! Agent Commission and Forwarding Mer-After their grief has subsided, they would not call their loved one back, for they know too well that, innocent as it was, it could not always have remained so, had it been forced to live in this world of sin and shame. There are consolations for every affliction, and this is one which appeals most strongly to parents' hearts. While all the instincts of their nature force them to weep over the loss of the bud which has been nipped by an untimely frost, they yet must feel thankful, when looking at the trials which beset the living, that it has been transplanted to a more genial clime, where it may grow and expand, and in-hale the healthful breezes of a celestial clime — New York Sunday Times.

> MARRIAGE AND MURDER The Cincinnati Gazette, of Aug. 23d, says, we learn from passengers on the train from Columbus, last evening, that a murder of a most atrocious character had been committed about eleven miles east of Xenia, and a short distance from Jamestown .-The circumstances as we learn them, are as follows: A furmer's son, named Joseph S. Baird, was at enmity with another young farmer named - Robinson, because the former, on Sunday evening last, had married a young woman to whom he was also engaged. As Baird, with his bride, was riding in his buggy towards Xenia, Robinson was observed to rush out of a thicket, and taking hold of the horse's head, commanded Baird to halt, at the same time presenting a pistol. Mrs. B. sereamed and sprang from the buggy, Baird followed, and clinching Robinson, in which he was shot dead by Robinson. The young wife then wrenched the pistol out of Robinson's hands and attempted to shoot him. Two balls were fired to no effect, when Robinson jumped into the buggy, drove off and effected his escape. The noise of the murder soon spread throughout the neighbor-hood, and several of the inhabitants started immediately in search of the murderer, who
