A few days afterwards a woman called at his house, and, after some conversation, asked him if he did not recollect her. He replied that he did not. She then told him that she had even him at the did not. She told him that she was an astrologer, and that she was well acquainted with its inysteries. She saw at once that he was an extraordinary person, and knew that he had been have a strategies of these houses as far south as the "Town School House," which was also consumed.

the whole affair as an attempt to humbug than $500,000. him. Not at all discouraged, the woman called again the next day, and wound up her conversation by saying that she knew where three hat-crowns full of gold had been buried upon his farm, and that, if he would do as she directed, they could recovsum of money must be present with them at the incantation. She thought that five thousand dollars would be required, but was not sure as to the amount; and she proposed, if he would go into it, and furnsh the money, that she would give him wo-thirds of the treasure, while she would reserve the other one-third as her share.

Up to this time, the farmer appears to have had no confidence in the woman; but as she took his hand, and traced the mysterious lines therein, telling him the great things in store for him, he began to place some confidence in her, especially as she had told him some things that had occurred in his life that he supposed had never been known. About this time he sold a large lot of cattle, for which he received in cash about $4,000. The next day the woman called again, and said that $3,000 was the amount required to be present to allay the spirits. The farmer then produced the package of money received for the cattle, and the two sat down to a table and counted out $3,000 in bank notes, excepting four small gold coins. The money was

The next day and the day after the woman called again, each time counting the money as before, making the same signs, &c., but leaving the money with the farmer, wrapped up in the handkerchief. At the next visit, she required him to take a solemn oath that he was not to tell to a liv. ing soul the object they were in pursuit of, that she was going away, to be absent a short time; he was not to look at the package of money at any time excepting when she was present; and, after making an earnest prayer, she took hold of him while she held the package of money in her hand, and swung him around, so that they came together back to back. She then gave him back the handkerchief, as he supposed, all right, and told him that she would return on the 15th, 16th, or 17th of August, and then they would go in company and secure the hidden treasure. On the 15th he hardly expected to meet her, and was not disappointed that she dil not come. On the 16th he set up late at night expecting her

After waiting till near midnight on the 17th, he began to suspect all was not right, and he feared all this might be a trap to rob him. So strong did this suspicion fasten upon him, that he took up his gun, loaded it, and went out into the shrubbery surrounding the house, where he could see all who approached without being seen, and remained there until two o'clock in the morning. But no one came. As the time had elapsed that was set by his fair visiter, he considered himself absolved from his obligation, never doubting in the least but that his money was safely deposited in the hand-

Unrolling it carefully, what was his dismay at seeing, not a roll of bank bills, and four pieces of gold, as he had left it, but a package of brown paper and four cents, in lieu thereof. Even the handkerchief had been changed; instead of being his own, it was one precisely similar. One of the strangest things in all this strange transaction is that a counterfeit five dollar bill that was placed in the package of money was taken out of it, and returned in the roll of brown paper. How this was done is a my stery we cannot solve. The farmer who Unrolling it carefully, what was his dismystery we cannot solve. The farmer who has been so completely bamboozled out of $3,000, now seeks to find some remedy at

Strange as this story may appear to many, we have the facts from the most undoubted authority, and we have given them just as they occurred. We can sympathize with our friend the farmer, in the loss of his money, for he is not the first of the masculine gender who has been, and alas, who will be duped by a pretty woman.

MARRIAGE. Should reflect that a sound mind and body are the most necessary requisites to promote connublary happiness. Indeed, without these, the journey through life becomes a wears pligrimage, the prospect hourly darkens to the view—the mind becomes shadowed with despair, and filled with the melancholly reflection, that the happiness of another be-comes blighted with our own. The girl whose praises I have sung, With pen, with pencil and with tongue, Said NO! and I fell flat!

The Mg is op! I have been flung,

Now, I will neither war nor rant,

Why should a fellow look aslant, If one girl says she won't or can't,

While there's so many more.

Nor my hard fate deplore,

Sky high-and worse than that,

Is false-for she with softest guile, Lur'd me 'mong rocks near loves bright isle, And then she-ent me dead. My vanity was wounded sore. And that I hate the worst; You see, a haughty look I wore, And thought she could not but adore.

Of all men me the first.

Well, thank the fates, once more I'm free, At every shrine I'll bow ; And if again a girl cheats me, Exceeding sharp I guess she'll be, I've cut my eye-teeth now. THE LABORER AND WARRIOR

BY EPES SARGENT. The camp has had its day of song, The sword, the bayonet, the plume, Have crowded out of rhyme too long The plough, the anvil, and the loom ! Oh! not upon your tented fields Are freedom's heroes bred alone; The training of the workshop yields

More heroes than the war has known. Who drives the bolt, who shapes the steel, May with a heart as valiant smite As he who sees a foeman reel In blood before his blow of might; The skill that conquers space and time, That graces life, that lightens toil, May spring from courage more sublime Than that which makes a realm a spoil.

Let labor then look up and see His craft no path of honor lacks; The soldier's title yet shall be Less honored than the woodman's axe; Let art his own appointment prize, Nor deem that gold or outward light Can compensate the worth that lies In tastes that breed their own delight.

And may the time draw nearer still, When man this sacred truth shall I. ol, That from the thought and from the will Must all that raises man proceed; Though pride may hold our calling low For us shall duty make it good, And we from truth to truth shall go, Till life and death are understood.

CHARITY. A beggar, crippled, starved and blind, Rehearsed his doleful story To half a score of auditors Who all looked vastly sorry Some pitied much, some very much, Some very much indeed!

But not one cent did they bestow To help the man of need. At length a Frenchman forward stepp'd In pity half, half choler, And emptying his purse-" by gare!

ARRIVAL OF THE STEAMER WASHINGTON The Queen's Speech-Spanish Affairs, 4-c.

Washington from Havre and Southampton, arrived at 12 o'clock this morning. Her news is superseded by the Europa, but she brings some interesting details not forwarded from Halifax. THE QUEEN'S SPEECH.

· NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—The steamer

Parliament was prorogued on the 12th 1000 OZS. German, French, and English 50 lbs. Blue Pill Mass; 16 ozs. Sulph Morphia; 20 ozs. Sulph Cinchonia, and the largest supply of Chemicals ever officied for sale in this State. For other, and the largest supply of C. & D. Duphkes. by the Queen in person. She was received along the whole route by the most enthusiastic cheers. The following is the substance of her speech: After returning thanks for the zeal and energy shown by Parliament in providing means for the vigorous prosecution A NEW supply of Linen Drills, Angola Cassi-meres, Colored and Black Cashmarcts, with a of the war, she said: In cordial co-operation with the Emperor of the Freuch, my efforts will be directed to the effectual repression of DEALERS IN CORN. MEAL. HOMONY. PEAS and OATS, and COW and HORSE FEED, that ambitious and aggressive spirit on the part of Russia, which has compelled us to take up arms in defence of an ally and to secure the future tranquility of D. DUPRE, JR of Europe; you will join with me in Our Steam Grist Mill is now in successful opera admiration of the courage and persevertion. We will have it in our power to deliver the above articles at short notice. We have a 23 horse power engine and shall run two pair of four feet Sultan in defence of Silistin, and in various military operations on the Dan-Orders can be addressed to C. DuPre & Co., or

The rest of the Speech is quite locall in character, and matters connected with the war prevented the consideration of subjects promised to be brought forward Da. T. B. CAil R has returned from at the opening of the session.

Da. T. B. CAil R has returned from the North with a largely increased stock of Teeth. Instruments, &c.—
Having consulted many eminent Dentists, he has perfect co-fidence in the superiority of Allen's Patent mode of inserting teeth with artificial gums Pull sets inserted inmediately after the extraction of the teeth, and remodelled after the gums have healed without additional charge. They can be worn without pain, and removed from the mouth by the wearer, and are cleaner and stronges than teeth interested in any other way, and are warranted to give perfect satisfaction. All other operations per formed in the most approved manner. Reference to individuals in this place now wearing teeth with the patent improvement. 'The soldier-monks are the most sanguinary among the troops of Charles V. They are charitable enough to offer their conso-lations to the ill-started prisoner who has fallen into their hands; but they always insist on the 'shriving time' being short-glad, no doubt, to send a soul of their leansing before its Maker. The horrible massaere of Keridea, where one hu and sixteen prisoners were skot, five and-five after a march of fifteen miles, naked, over the mountains, was committed and hastenthe mountains, was committed and hastened by the same organs. The government threat, of shutting up and confiscating the property of every monastery whose inmates should join the rebels, had deterred but few from braving all its consequences.

Let every American bear the above historical facts in mind, and when he hears the allies of priests prate about socret organization, direct their amention to that WORTH OF BOOTS, SHOES, AND BRO-gans.—Having purchased our entire stock just from the manufactories, we are prepared to offer inducements to the COUNTRY MERCH-ANTS equal to any establishment South of Boo-
