IMPROVEMENTS ON MARKET STREET.

Among the improvements on Market Street is the splendid front window in the store of Messrs. Brown and Anderson, Watch Makers and Jewellers. Among the attractive articles is a clock, to which is attached machinery which sets in motion in its operations artificial birds, which hop from branch to branch of a tree, while others drink, &c. It is really a fine piece of mechanism, and worth taking a little trouble to examine-as are, in fact, all the articles in the window.

THE BOMAN CATHOLIC BISHOPS. The Roman Catholic Bishops who lately held a nclave in New York, have sent Archbishop ghes and Bishop Fory to Rome. They went the Canada last week. This is charming .serican Bishops going to Italy to get instrucions from a Foreign Prince, the Pope, as to how they shall manage this heretical country. We lare say they will bring a fresh importation of trines relative to civil and religious liberty.

THE RECENT ELECTION. The "removal" has caused us to be late in noticing the election of Thursday last. The Journal in some remarks on that day said, in regard to the opposition to the regularly nominated can-didate, "as we expected"—and we say, in regard to the result, " as we expected." The Herald appears to be very well satisfied—so we see no cause of complaint so far as the Press is concerned, and epeat what we said on Thursday, that we hope the "result of the election is satisfactory to all

We need not say that it is satisfactory to the People of the county-the vote tells that, in a voice not to be mistaken. Mr. McMillan is their choice; their spontaneous unbiassed choice; un trammelled by party drill, and unconnected with the abuse of candidates usual on such occasions He got some little cursing, we learn, in private circles, for being suspected of having the impudence to consent to serve if elected, without authority from a certain quarter, and going contrary to the "usage of party."

The question is now decided, whether the " usage of party" or the " Voice of the People' is to be considered paramount authority in New Hanover County; whether, indeed, the People are to be considered sovereign, or the masses are to be ruled by the "usages" concocted in very small assemblies, and promulgated from the samewhich the people are to look to in terror and amazement. In terror, for fear of the party last, here. The Americans were changed with being or in amazement at the great wisdom emanating from a quarter from whence that quality is not very conspicuous in matters unconnected with the political destiny of our republic. Mr. McMillan is well known as a man of telligence, of strict integrity and great moral worth, and is competent te discharge the duties York, on Priday last, it is found that the report of of his office. He is a democrat, as the Represen-

That Hand Bill, which was issued on the "very day of the election" as the Journal truly says, and of which it complains; not only because it came out on that "very morning," but because it bore the endorsement of "no party" was is-Editor is responsible for it. We say this much, lest the public should be alarmed about "deep laid schemes" and "plots" and the like.

That Hand Bill has met the approbation of two to one of the Freemen of New Hanover, and we are content. We had certainly as much right to make this fair and open and truthful appeal to the people, as others had to use political appliances laring the week. We will endeavor to find room of a different character-sending letters into the country making false statements, which the people did not approve.

It was well known that many would vote for Mr. McMillan eight or ten days before the electionthough some affect they were ignorant of it. He tutions, and therefore uphold the system of public did not choose to electioneer and take a prominent stand in his own behalf, because he did not seek the office, and would only accept it as a duty, should the people desire him to serve, and exhibit that desire by an unsolicited vote. That vote he obtained. If his friends had not made the matter public, they would have acted unjustly towards the people, as the result has shown.

THE SEEKERS AND THE SOUGHT. The above caption we apply to two distinct classes, viz: Those who seek office, and those have been asked the meaning of the word. We who are sought by their fellow citizens on account do not know, and can only guess that it means a of their ability and integrity, to fill stations in the CINCINNATUS did not leave the plow to seek office, but the mantle of authority was carried to him in the field, while he was at work on his farm, following the plow. That illustrious man was surprised at his labor by the highest token of the public appreciation of his worth and patriotism.

WASHINGTON was invited and urged, against his inclination, to take one of the most responsible stations ever held by man; and he yielded to the solicitations of his fellow citizens, without the aspirations of ambition, which his modesty forbade, but prompted solely by a patriotic devotion to his ountry contending for liberty and the rights of

These cases illustrate our view of what should be the practice in regard to the servants of the Republic. Those who make politics a trading matter, and engage the services of those to electioneer for them, who are bought and sold as the offices and their dollars may incite, go into high places with a pledge on their part and an expectation on that of the drudges, that a host of political scamps are to be quarted on the public Treasury, whose chief merits consist in the arts and deceptions of the demagogue, and unworthily hold office to the exclusion of the honest and patriotic citizen, whose heart and mind and noblest aspirations are all for the interest, the honor and glory of our America. Religious Liberty and Freedom of Con science." Under this caption the National Intellige publishes the following remarks, made in Inde-pendence Square, Philadelphia, on Salurday week last, by Judge Pollock, who has just been chosen Governor of Pennsylvania by a majority of probably twenty thousand votes :

"I affirm to-night, notwithstanding the can ting resolutions passed on this spot, before this people and the country, my undying attachment to the Constitution of my country and to every provision that guaranties freedom of conscience and a right to worship God in any way or form Shall I dictate to my fellow man the right to worship as his conscience desires ? The right is too sacred; I would not triffe with a right so holy; I claim it for myself, and I hold it too holy. The tongue of slander may do what it may: I stand before you, fellow-citizens, the advocate of the rights of conscience and civil and religious liberty so long as I can utter a word responsive of the call of freedom." [Cheers ] The same misrepresentations and slanders wer circulated in Pennsylvania that were published inimical to religious toleration, and the cry of properintion and persecution was raised against them. In both cases the slanderers were signally defeated and rebuked. We stated before the election, what we now reliterate, that the Americans are the true and sincere advocates of religious freedom, and their opponents its enemics.-They would resist to the death, if necessary, every attempt to connect Church and State, or to give one sect of religionists supremacy over the others Upon this principle the battle has been fought and won. They believed from the movements open and secret, of a particular denomination of professing Christians, that a struggle was being made to reduce this country to the condition of sued from the office of The Commercial and the the priest-ridden nations of Europe, and they resolved to teach the foreigners who were engaged in this unhaly object, that there exists here a power competent and determined to check any and every effort to bring Americans into subjection to a foreign power. They did not, and will not, war against the religion of any man; but they resolved, and have so decided, that no man, or set of men, shall impose restraints upon the liberty of conscience in this country. They uphold, and will maintain, the Constitution, which guaranties freedom, civil and religious. They believe in the cultivation of the human mind, to enable it to appreciate the blessings of free instischools, as best adapted to the wants of the cour try. It is not, then, true, that the Americans are intolerant on any subject, either of Church or State. They only require a pure administration of public affairs, and a non-proscriptive policy in religious matters. Let all sects confine themselves to just and fair measures to increase their numbers, and they will not be molested by Americans. But, when threats are used and measures taken, to deprive one portion of the community of ce. They will force the bigott tolerant, and the violent to be moderate.

GOING TO ROME FOR INSTRUCTION. The Philadelphia Sun says, the Roman Catho ics having closed their provisional councils, con voked in their different bishopries, Archbishop Kenrick, of Baltimore, accompanied by the Rev. Mr. Foley, his secretary; Rev. Bishop O'Connor, of Pittsburg, and Rev. Archbishop Hughes, of New York, are on their way to Rome, to attend the great convocation ordered by Pope Pius. We suppose we shall soon have a Bull of anathema against the "Know Nothings." Something new will undoubtedly be devised during this pow-wow against universal republicanism and the heretic Protestants of the United States, but we are now prepared at all points to encounter and defeat their machinations .- Ib. From the National Intelligencer. MR. FILLMORE'S ANTECEDENTS. Certain Democratic papers are engaged in rehis letter of 1838, in which are expressed antislavery sentiments, and they also reprint his letter of June, 1848, after his nomination for the Vice Presidency. He was elected, and his course was liberal and just.

The letter of June, 1848, was written after his omination for the Vice Presidency. In reply to Mr. Gowen, the interrogator, Mr. Fillmore said, among other things-

"While I never have, and trust I never shall, shrink from any official responsibility that may be cast upon me, I am admonished by the experience of others that, as the candidate of the party that has put me in nomination, I am not at liberty now to make up and publish my political faith. "A Whig Convention, without solicitation on

The prevalence of incorrect notions upon the subject of medicine, is a great cause of misery.—
Medical practice should be governed by principles cautiously deduced from the contributions of long experience and close observations. DR. SWAYNE: Dear Sir-Believing it a duty have thought proper to make known one of the most extraordinary cures, in my own case, that has ever been truly recorded. In the month of October last, I was afflicted with a severe gather ing in my breast, which formed a large and also communicated to my jungs and very much afflicted them, and discharged large quan tifles of corruption, external and internal. My breath could also pass through my lungs and out ered round his bier to look our last upon his life-less form, and now that he is surrendered to the repose of the tomb, we but yield to the pions loss of appetire, and extreme debility, so that my promptings of duty and affection, in the utterance of a few farewell words to his memory.
