MR. McMILVAN'S CARD. On account of some typographical errors in Mr. McMillan's Card, published on Thursday, we insert it again to-day, in a correct form. A correct copy was published in the Weekly of yesterday.

The subject is very interesting for a historical Romance, as this purports to be, and the work is would have shut forever the gates that have since which results in their agreeing, jointly, to form cheap at 50 cents.

SERIOUS AFFRAY. A serious affray took place in Buffalo last Sunday, between parties of Germans and Irish, in which one of the latter, named Michael O'Brien, (helmsman of the propeller "International,") was shot dead, and another badly injured. The German who shot O'Brien was arrested. DENUNCIATIONS

There are strong denunciations against the creand employees of the Arctie, for abandoning the passengers, among whom were women and children, to their own fate, while they took care of their ments and exposures ! own safety. There were 159 grown men among the 232 passengers. Why are not they also denounced? They did no more than did the crew in endeavors to save the helpless. We must certainly change the human choracter, if we expect men to hazard their lives for strangers, who have no sympathy with them. A man may be willing would do so for a stranger.

TROUBLE IN KANSAS.

Troubles in Kansas are taking place in consequence of the New England settlers having unwittingly enroached upon the claims of the Missouri settlers. The latter have gathered in armed parties, burned down the log cabins of the New Englanders, demolished tents, and threatened the settlers themselves. These statements we gather Lawrence, Kansas Territory, Oct. 4.

A WHIG.

We took up a paper some time ago, in which we saw printed something that a "distinguished' Whig did say; we have forgot his name-but he said something like this: "I was born a Whig, I have lived a Whig and will die a Whig." Shocking! You don't say so, as Aunt Abigail expresses it. Will you be kind enough to say, dear fellow citizen, whether you mean a Whig, baptised in the blood of our Revolutionary Fathers, or a Whig at whose political baptism, James Warson Webs. the Abolitionist, stood as godfather?

We dislike to be inquisitive, and pry into other people's matters, and really care but very little about it; but perhaps you would like to know yourself your own position. Pray think of this matter, and let the public know, as "far as your recollections will serve."

LIFE IN THE CLEARINGS.

Mr. WHITAKER has laid on our table a book from the publication office of De Witt & Davenport, 160 and 152 Nassau street, New York. A cotemporary says of this work : "Whatever Mrs. Moodie attempts to do, she always does it well, and in such a way as to bring the characters and scenes des_ cribed by her in lifelike reality to our very senses. Whether treating on the causes and the trials which lead her and her husband to leave the land of their nativity, and seek a home in the western wilds—the perils of a long and tedious voyage— the singular characters of her fellow voyagers or, when having arrived at her new home, she pictures the hardships and trials that befell them while " Roughing It in the Bush "-all is written in such a way as to enchain the attention of the reader, and to cause him to feel himself as it were a prominent actor in the pictured scene."

MAKE A SPEECH. It seems as if the sine qua non, as the scholars say, with many people-societies, organizations, &c., is to have somebody make a speech; and somebody is very desirous to do that thing, provided it can be printed. "My speech" on that occasion quoth the politician-buttoning up his vestments, expecting the inspirations of the inward man will burst a button to the edification and admiration of the person addressed-"my speech on that occasion contains all that I have to say on this important subject P' Indeed! Well we think that one good speech on one great occasion, is a grand humbug. You should be talking or writing to your friends in a conversational way. on important matters, and then they will believe you are sincere. We think it is not the best policy to ask people to "make a speech," when you should be talking about cattle, &c., in agricultural societies; in medical Conventions about things that belong to the materia, and in any and all plain matter of fact organizations.

"We do not think, on such occasions, it is neces sary to have a speech equivalent to:

"The tyrant totters and the Senate nods! " Die all-die nobly-die like demi-gods." No. We think it would be better to talk ration ally and reasonably, and keep a little below the clouds above us, while we are talking about matters that concern the earth beneath us.

This is a thinking and utilitarian age in our America. We must place more dependence upon doing than talking.

We are reminded of the remark of the Captain of a Ship, who somewhat dissatisfied at the small doings and loud " Yeo, heave yeo!" of his crew. exclaimed: "Not so much of your blarney-a little more heaving at the handspike."

THE EXPOSURES.

The country is pretty considerably aroused by what is supposed to be the exposure of the secrets of the "Know Nothings;" and it appears to be a well established fact, that several who have entered that organization, have told all they could at the same time acknowledging violated obligations of the most honorable and sacred character,

THREE DAYS LATER FROM EUROPE. HALIFAX, Oct. 25 .- The Royal mail Steamer Nlagara, arrived here this morning, with Liverpool dates to Saturday, the 14th instant, being three days later than advices received per steamer Washington.

The news by this arrival from Crimea, the present seat of active hostilities, is of a highly interesting character. Sebastopol, at the last accounts, was invested by the allies on the south and east, and the guns of their fleets and batteries were playing upon the walls of the fortresses of that famous stronghold of the Czar.

The Paris Debates estimates the Russian force in the Crimea at 85,000 men, and the allies at 90,000, including the seamen.

Seven Russian ships had been sunk with all their guns and stores on board, and the remainder of the Russian fleet was held ready for sinking. Their crews, to the number of 10,000, had been added to the garrison.

The prevalence of incorrect notions upon the subject of medicine, is a great cause of misery.—
Medical practice should be governed by principles cautiously deduced from the contributions of long experience and close observations. How important, then, that no medicine should be taken by invalids, unless it emanates from the hands of men of talent, judgment, and the strictest prob ty. Hoofland's German Bitters, prepared by Dr C. M.
