Military Preparations in Cuba-Arming of The New York Evening Post trans-

the Cahawba: Duly authorized by Her Majesty's government for the organization of disciplined militia composed of men of color, I thereby order the fomation of said corps under the following rules,

1-There will be sixteen companies of disciplined militia of men of color, each company to be composed of 125 men, according to regulation of January 13, 1769, with all the military privileges granted in the same, with the difference, that the officers of said companies shall be white, and from the regular army, the said companies to join, as soon as formed, the regular army.

2-The companies of colored disciplined militia will depend immediately upon the subinspection of infantry, and will be commanded by an officer of the rank of colonel.

3-The sixteen companies will be composed of free mulatoes and blacks, and will be organized in the following places, viz :- Three of mulatoes and free negroes in Havana; one of each color in Matanzas; one of negroes and two of each mulatoes at Cinco Villas; one of negroes at Puerto Principe; two of mulatoes and two of negroes in Cuba; and the rest in the eastern department.

4-They will proceed instantly to the enlistment of all the negro or mulatto volunters who posses the quantity of strength, no less than five feet high, of good conduct and character, and from twenty to thirty years of age. If the volunteer enlistment does not promise the tull complement of men, you will resort to laws already provided for such an exigency.

5-As soon as the enlistment is accomplished, each man will be furnished, on account of the Government, with one blouse, musket and sabre-the same to remain in the barracks when off duty.

6-The class of sergeants and corporals will be appointed by the officers, will serve the time laid down in the regulations.

7-The commanders, governors, and heutenant-governors will proceed to the enlistment of all free colored men.

8-The individuals serving in the corps of firemen are exempt from militia duty.

9-The inspection of infantry will immediately proceed to drilling the en-

GLORY, CARNAGE, AND MISERY. Gentlemen who are in the habit of singing or saying fine things in praise and commemoration of "The big wars, that make ambition virtue," thusiastic in their praises could they be 10 by RUSSELL & BRO. would perhaps be just a little less enpersuaded to sit calmly down and calculate the cost, in blood and misery, alone, of that imperial, royal, and right rascally diversion, aggressive war. We limit the cost to blood and misery, because we are quite certain of the sheer impossibility or even approximating to an accurate estimate of the damage that is done to human progress and to human comfort by the very smallest of battlefields. We have before us a rather curious summary of the loss in killed, wounded, and prisoners of all the contending parties in the European wars of the last half century or so. Not a word is said about the European doings in Asia or Africa. The Sikhs and the Affghans, the aborigines of Algeria and of the Cape of Good Hope are

"Unwept, unhonor'd and unsung." Navarina and Acre, Bondia and the red battle grounds of Hindostan find no place in our summary. We include only Europeans, slain, frightfully mangled, and made prisoners on European ground. With even strictly Europe

Received and destruction worked by war in European alone, and in the course of the comparatively brief period of half a century; and in fact we have a just right to say that even that startling statement falls short, very far short, of the truth. Napoleon so notorionsly understated his own losses on all great occasion that when a man wished to give the flattest and most emphatic denial to any statement he had only to call it "as false as a bulletin;" and there are excellent grounds for repeating that his imperial and royal opponents were in no degree more truthful than he as to their statements of killed, wounded, and missing. It is only too probable that A MILLION is far nearer to the real number than that which we have given. A million butchered and horribly mangled in fifty years, and in such a comparatively small portion of the earth as Europe! Surely it is time that the king-ridden peoples of the effete nations of Europe should at length begin to feel and to act lates the following from the La Preso upon the profound truth with which the de la Habana of April 11th, brought by poet long since told them that
