The Pope vs. Spain and Pledmont, Among much interesting matter on our outside Form, will be found on our first page an account of the difficulties between the Pope and his catholic subjects in Spain, Piedmont, and other Catholic countries. The members of the Roman Catholic Church in those places, as well as the secular authority, seem to have taken it into their heads wishes of the Priest who "occupies the place of Him who in wrath remembers mercy." It surely will not be said that we slander the Pontiff when we say he "makes himself equal with God," when his own words avow it, as the reader will

NEWBERN.

A document published by the authorities of Newbern, shows that the disease prevailing in that town is called "variola varicelloides," intermediate between the chicken pox and small pox, highly contagious and requiring sanitary regulations. The disease has been slowly in progress wince the middle of May last, without creating any alarm, until recently, when two persons died " more from imprudence than from the disease." On the 1st inst, there were but 4 cases within the limits and 7 outside of the town.

SHOCKING DEPRAVITY. During the terrible incidents of the late Rail Road disaster at Burlington, robberies were committed on the dying and the dead. A man was seen robbing some of the bodies before they had ceased breathing. A gentleman said that every thing but his watch had been taken while he lay insensible. A box of jewelry, valued at $1,000, was stolen from one of the lady passengers who escaped, and a great many pockets were picked in the confusion.

LONG CREEK MAIL. The Long Creek Mail, which has been for some fime suspended, is again in operation.

LIBERAL DONATIONS. The city of Raleigh has made very liberal do nations to the sufferers of Norfolk and Portsmouth amounting to $865 67. A number of citizens subscribed $329; the Bank of the State, $143; the Roman Catholic Church, $80; the Episcopal Church, $174 80; the Baptist do., 48 87; the Methodist de., $40; other sources, $50.

CONTRIBUTIONS. The contributions in aid of the Norfolk and Portsmouth sufferers, amounted to upward of $60,000, by last accounts. RETURN OF THE PRESIDENT. The President of the United States, accompavisit to Virginia.

YELLOW FEVER IN NORFOLK AND PORTS-MOUTH.

The news relative to the situation of the devoted cities of Norfolk and Portsmouth, is still very the riggging, where he had been sent, into the inst. from Norfolk to the Petersburg Express says: "Norfolk suffered horribly on Saturday night and to-day. I am informed that the number of deaths reached at least fifty, and among them are: Drs. Silvester, Jr., H. M. Nash and Geo. J. Halson, and | Colonel in this way, it saved the Irishman a deal Mr. Wm. Garrett.

"The Baltimore boat brought down a lot of coffins, and when she arrived at the wharf, there were more persons in want of them, than there were coffins to supply the demand. I am informed that there was a regular scramble for them." In Portsmouth, on Sunday, there were 32 burials, besides eight coffins ordered for the Naval Hospital.

The case of one family in Portsmouth, is thus reported by a correspondent of the Express: This afternoon the physicians in visiting her house, found Mrs. Wilson ill in one room; two daughters sick in another, and one about fourteen years old dying in another room, and her servants, two in number, sick in the kitchen, with no one lease of the only two American prisoners there. on the lot to hand them a glass of water. DEATH OF A PREACHER. The Rev. ANTHONY DIBRELL, of the Granby st. M. E. Church, Norfolk, died on Saturday morning last. No minister was more widely known in Virginia, than Mr. Dibrell, and no death will be more universally and sincerely lamented. He leaves a wife and several children to mourn their freparable loss.

Mr. Dibnell was formerly a lawyer, which profession he left to become a Minister of Christ. He was one of the most eloghent preachers of the Conference to which he belonged, as well as one of the most pious. He died at his post, and in a position which shadowed forth realities of a glo- ginning of this century, and many of the issues

JACOB HOWARD. The Baltimore Clipper of Monday says: "We have already stated in the Clipper that this gentleman, who was killed on the New Jersey Railroad last Tuesday, was a native of our city, tho' his place of residence, for many years, has been Lebanon, Tennessee. SHOCKING BRUTALITY ON THE DUKE OF SUTHERLAND ESTATES.

The Northern Ensign (Scotch paper) has the In a small house in Tubeg Skerray, in the parish of Tongue, lived a Highlander and his wife within less than a quarter of a mile of the house in which they were both born and brought up, and which their fathers still occupied as tenants under the Duke of Sutherland, Mr. Robert Horsborough being factor. Shortly before the occurrence which our cotempory relates, William Mc- dred. Kay's wife was confined of her fourth child, and was still in bed, and unfit to be removed from it But on the 26th of June, a neighbor informed M'Kay that a party of law officers were coming to turn himself and family out. The husband hastened to the house to inform his wife, and, of course, console her. In an instant the messengerat arms, with his party, were at the door; their speaking was heard by the poor woman, and she attend. began to tremble; cold perspiration covered her body all over; the officers came in, and soon clearquired to execute their commission. The poor the passengers injured the day before. woman was, in spite of every remonstrance, doons, ed to be removed. These executioners of justice had, they said, their instructions-but, may it not be said, wanted the tenderness which would suggest to them the delicacy and danger of interfering with a woman in such a state?

They surrounded her in the corner in which she lay, laid hold of the sheet or covering which was under her, carried her out of the house, and placed her on the ground at a distance, and sped back to the work of demolition; divots and cabers were thrown in all directions; the hatchet cut down the couple-tree, and in a very short time the roof of the hut disappeared, and so did its destroyers. They had more work of a kindred nature to perform that day. In an agony of feeling, the husband ran off a distance of five miles to procure medical aid, while his wife, with her new born infant, lay on a little straw upon ship Tonawanda sailed from Philadelphia for Livthe ground; and it was not till night that, by the erpool on Saturday with 10 cabin and 267 steerkindness of her poor neighbors, she and her chil- age passengers. dren were deposited in an empty barn. We can not except in some of our English poor law cru elties, recall such a circumstance which has occasioned us deeper indignation than the incidents of this painful narrative, nor one which de mands stricter investigation. In thefformer, we have indeed, had cruelty in its worst possible form as far as the acts themselves are concerned. We can understand the workhouse official, snatched perhaps from starvation by the salary he receives, and eager to recommend himself to known by the name of August, about 16 years of his employers by an economising use of his functions, committing acts of inhumanity at which one Princeton, Capt. Johnson, in Curtis' creek, near feels horrified. But that such things can take place under the eyes of the Dake of Sutherland fills us with as much astonishment as pain. It is not many months since the ladies of England appealed to their sisters in America on behalf of the poor blacks, imploring them to exert their influence to put an end to the deplorable and shocking system of slavery; and the first name which the signature to that appeal bore, was the name of the Duchess of Sutherland. Will that woman look at home and think of poor William McKay's wife, carried in a sheet out of her hut, and laid trembling on the ground, with her new born infant in her arms? Will she speak one eloquent word of remonstrance in favor of the poor whites who have the misfortune, at this moment, to have their holdings on her husband's estate?

"Loose me !" but he clasped the tighter-"Annie, say, wilt thou be mine ?" Then her bright face grew much brighter, Then she whispered, "I am thine."

Then they clasped each other fondly, Close together as two bricks; And they kissed each other soundly, And -I left them in that fix.

In the city of Raleigh on Sunday evening last. n the 35th year of her age, Mrs. Many Jane Gon-Man the beloved wife of A M. Gorman, Esq, Editor of the Spirit of the Age. She had long and unexpected at the time of its occurrence. A few moments before her dissolution, she called her hosband and after embracing him, asked to meet her in heaven-and without a struggle quietly and serenely passed away. And the best of all is, she was ready for the summons.
