> AN EXTRAORDINARY TRAGEDY AT NEW HAVEN

The murder of Justus Matthews at New Haven, Connecticut, (briefly mentioned yesterday) is a most extraordinary affair, almost surpassing belief in this enlightened age. From a long statement of the case given by the New Haven Courier of Mon-tified : I told Matthews he was killing the old woman and that I would not let him into my house sooner than I would a mad dog. I asked him if he knew he had a bad spirit This Mr. Sly has no wife or family, but in him, and said that he ought to renounce has a woman living in the house with him, this evil spirit. merce, Were, W E know that the interests of the People of our State demand such a paper, and believing that one free from political strifes and quarrels of the day, devoted to such topics, will be the kind they desire, we confidently enter upon this enter-prise with the assurance of meriting and meeting their approbation and sopport. Our object is to make the Times the mirror of the State, is which all can see their true interests held ap and encour-aged.

INTERNAL IN PROVENENTS.-To this sub-ject we expect to devote as much space as a full statement of the various operations will require; for as our works of improvement advance, so do all the other interests of the State. EDUCATION.-It is a source of regret to all interested in the Educational interests of our State, (and who is not?) that our papers are so much devoted to party polities, &c. that this great cause has been too much neglected; we propose, therefore, to devote to this subject, s portion of our space. We will foster and our fully note the sub-advancement of Education, not only in our higher our space We will fosier and carefully note the advancement of Education, not only in our higher Schools, but also in our Common Schools. AGRICULTURE, MANUFACTURE AND COMMERCE, at this stage of our history, are commanding the attention of all our good State and monsy-loving cithens. Therefore, the Mark-ets will be reported with care, and all items, calcu-lated to throw light on either of these inseparable branches of industry, will be carefully gleaned and inserted every week; It is unnecessary to say more if we had time.
