POETRY.

- A PRETTY LOVE SONG. I love you-'tis the simplest way
- The thing I feel to tell; Yet, if I told it all the day,
- You'd never guess how well. You are my comfort and my light;
- My very life you seem; I think of you all day; all night
- 'The but of you I dream. There's pleasure in the slightest word
- That you can speak to me ;
- And vibrates still to thee. I never read the love-song yet,
- So thrilling, fond, or true, But in my own heart I have met Some kinder thought of you.
- I bless the shadow on your face, The light upon your hair,
- I like, for hours, to sit and trace The passing changes there;
- I love to hear your votce's tone,
- Although you should not say
- When that had died away. O! you are kindly as the beam;
- That warms where'er it plays; And you are gentle as a dream Of happy future days; And you are strong to do the right,

And swift the wrong to fice ;

And, if you were not half so bright, You're all the world to me MISCELLANY.

INTERESTING DETAILS:

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE. In the Senate, on the 6th of March, Mr. Weller, of California, chairman of the Senate Committee on Military Affairs, made the following report:

On the 7th of January last there was re-Senate, as follows:

erts, captain of the rifles, made to Gen. Twiggs, on returning to him the American flag which had been the first planted upon the capitol of Mexico, and which he had entrusted to the keeping of Capt. Roberts in the storming of Chapultepec and the taking of the city of Mexico, bearing date "City of Mexico, 17th September, 1847." be ta-ken from the files in the office of the Secretary partment by order of the Senate.

Captain (now Colonel) Benj. S. Roberts, of the rifles, was placed at the head of the storming party detailed from General Smith's brigade.-When they were about to start on their perilous mission a stand of national colors was placed by Gen. Twiggs in Col. Roberts' hands, with the charge, "I expect this flag to be the first planted upon the capitol of Mexico." This flag, under the direction of Capt. Roberts, was borne by Sergeant Manly, of the rifles, and it is alleged to have been the first flag displayed at the five-gun battery, (at the base of the Chepultepec) to have been the first planted upon the four-gun battery, (between Che-pultepec and the Garita de Belen,) to have been the first on the batteries of the Garita, first upon the citadel of Mexico, and "the first American flag that ever floated upon and which, in justice to all concerned, the the palace of the Mexican capitol."

It is due to Captain Roberts to say that ed by a larger one furnished by Gen.

Col. W. W. Loring, under date of Washington, January 28, 1856, writes that he saw no flag planted during the charge on the five-gun battery, "on this side of Chepultepec," nor at the intermediate battery between Chepultepec and the Garita.

Major G. B. Crittenden, under date of Washington, January 28, 1856, writes that at the Garita he saw only the flag of the South Carolina regiment, and thinks that the colors of his own regiment were alone displayed from the citadel during "the half-hour's halt" in that fortress .-This regimental flag was also first displaytional archives. The circumstances accompanying the raising of the American flag over the National Palace are thus narrated by this gentleman more fully than by any other writer:

"The column under Gen. Quitmnn's command then moved on to the grand plaza, (the rifles in advance,) where it was halted. The troops, in column of companies, were in the position of "ordered arms" and at a "parade rest," occupying two sides of the square in front of the Palace.

"After remaining a few moments in this position, Gen. Quitman directed me to have our colors placed on the flagstaff over the Palace, saying, "Let it be our national colors, the stars and stripes, not the particular colors of any regiment." Looking alone the line, I observed but two na-Captain Robert's company of the rifles. I told him to have this flag put up on the staff above the Palace, and he proceeded at once with a file of men to do so, in obedience to the order received from the General through myself." Charles Naylor, Esq., late Captain in the second regiment of Pennsylvania volunteers, writes, under date of Washington, February 26, 1856, that he saw no American flag raised over the five-gun battery at the foot of Chepulteper, nor any over the battery between that fortress and the Garita. He confirms the preceding narratives relative to the flag that was raised at the Garita and over the citadel. He had no personal observation of the "flag-raising" over the Palace. March 22. GEO. MYKHS. OR, Woman's Trials and Triumpha. By Laure OJ. Curtis. One vol. 12mo., 384 pp. Cloth;

D. Curtis. One vol. 12mo., 364 pp. Cloth is price $1.

This work, just published, is highly commended by those who have examined it. One, in spenking of the two principal characters of the work, says: "A fine moral and instructive leasant is presented in both those splendidly drawn characters. The stern old father, the basutiful but proud and heartless aunt, the rough, plous and good-hearted Elder Wiggins, are all admired by portrayed. Upon the whole, we think this is the most interesting book we have ever read, and feel sure that no one who once commences it will ever lay it down till finished. For sale at March 29.
