VOLUME XI--NUMBER 13.

WILMINGTON, N. C., TUESDAY MORNING, APRIL 15, 1856.

WHOLE NUMBER 1268

POETRY.

The reader perceive that the following poem is built on the text prefixed, and that the first line of each Stanza, is borrowed from it.

*Behold, alas! our days are sped!
How vainly they have flown, how soon they end!*

*How short a span
Was lent to us of old
In those well-temper'd days, his time was then
Survey'd, cast up, and found but three-score years and ten.*

*Alas!
And what is that;
They come, and slide and pass,
Before my pen can tell these what,
The poets of time are swift, which having run
Their seven short stages o'er, their short-lived task is done.*

*Our days
Begin, we think
To waste, to waste play
And toys until the first stage end;
Twelve waning moons twice five times told, we give
To uncover'd loss; we rather breathe than live.*

*We spend
A ten year's breath,
Before we apprehend
What 'tis to live, or fear death;
For childhood dreams are fill'd with painted toys
Which please our sense awhile, and waking prove but toys!*

*How vain,
How wretched is
The poor man that both remain
A slave to such a state as this;
His days are short at longest; few at most;
They are but hard at best; yet lavish'd up or lost.*

*There is
The secret springs
That make our minutes flee
On wheels more swift than eagle's wings!
A slave to such a state as this;
Breathes forth a warning grief, till every grass be death!*

*How soon
Our new-born light
Attains to full-aged noon!
And this, how soon to grey-hair'd night!
We spring, we bud, we blossom, and we blast,
Ere we can count our days, our days they flee so fast.*

*There is
When seasons run
And ere we apprehend
That we begin to live, our life is done:
Man count thy days: and if they fly too fast
For thy dull thoughts to count, count every day the last.*

MISCELLANY.

A GUILTY PAIR DISCOVERED.

One of the Bowling Green (Ky.) Standard furnishes the following interesting scene as having occurred in Munfordville on the 7th ult. to wit:

A degenerate artist, with a lady who was not his wife, had been operating in the quiet town aforesaid—the gentleman taking pictures and the lady teaching music—for some months. They had gotten music, instruments and all necessary "et ceteras," and were meeting with great success.

On Friday, the 7th, they were seated at the dinner table, enjoying the natives with the following wonderful dialogue. Mr. Penbrooke, (the gentleman's name) addressing his dear lady, said:

"There seems, my dear, to be some prejudice in Kentucky against us Yankees."

"Oh yes," she replied, "but you and I will leave no grounds for prejudice; we'll clear ourselves and!"

"Mr. Penbrooke, allow me to introduce you to the sheriff of Nelson county," said a hoarse voice behind him. The sheriff then, upon a warrant, proceeded to hand cuff the aforesaid Penbrooke and lady. The facts are these: Penbrooke had living in the East a wife and one child; the lady had living in New York a husband and two children. But Cupid being stronger than law or duty, they eloped to the far West to live as husband and wife!

The man who introduced the sheriff was the lady's father, who, immediately on seeing his daughter faint. He resides in New York, is a man of great wealth and had lavished vast sums upon his only daughter, whom he tenderly loved. He had followed them 1,700 miles when he found them. She is young, beautiful and accomplished, and married well. Here, in deed, was a "bankruptcy of the heart." The guilty pair was placed in a vehicle in company with the wretched father, and are now "gone East."

FIRE AT BRIDGEPORT, CT.

A barn belonging to James C. Loomis, Esq., at Bridgeport, burned down Tuesday evening, 1st instant. The Standard says:

"A noble instance of mind and courage, which would have done credit to one of the opposite sex, was displayed by an Irish girl, in the employ of Mr. Loomis, who, when she discovered the fire, procured a knife, rushed to the stable, (the roof of which was enveloped by flames,) took off her apron, and placing it over the eyes of the horse, cut the halter by which he was fastened, and led him out. The horse secured, she returned for the cow, which she saved after the same manner, and then returned again and succeeded in saving two carriages, which she rolled out and placed on the opposite side of the street; all the time neglecting her own trunk, which lay in an apartment of the building, but which, we are happy to know, was removed by some of the firemen, in a perfectly sound condition."

The fire was undoubtedly caused by the carelessness of a man, who, during the afternoon, had been employed in the building, and who had been seen smoking a pipe in the vicinity of the hay-loft.

LYNCH LAW IN VIRGINIA.

A man named Wm. Hornbeck, living in Lewis county, Va., for the alleged ill treatment of his family, was lynched by the young men in neighborhood, one night last week. The Western Herald says:—He was taken a few nights since by a party of men, who stripped him of his clothing, and rode him for a length of time in that condition on a rail; he was then taken to a briar patch and made to run through it. Whenever he evinced a disposition to move less swiftly, a stout paddle, bored through with augur holes, was applied, which accellerated ted his movement astonishingly. This exercise being over, a coat of tar and feathers was applied, which Mr. Hornbeck was made to wear, much against his will. During this operation he tried to faint, but the paddle soon restored him to consciousness, after which he was left alone in his glory.

ENCOUNTER WITH A WOLF.

Some two or three weeks since, says the Cumberland Telegraph, a very large male wolf, driven by hunger from the mountain forests, made his appearance in the region of coventry in this county, known as the Crossings Forks. He commenced his depredations upon stock and began to be considerable of an annoyance to the husbandmen of that locality. He kept out of harm's way for several weeks. At last a young man named Christian Beachy, who had frequently encountered his tracks in the deep snow, declared his intention to give him chase if he ever came across him when he (Beachy) was on his favorite horse, a powerful and swift footed animal, capable of endurance and able to withstand the hardships of a vigorous dash against the unscrupulous invader of sheepfolds and stock yards.

A few days since, Beachy, in company with another young man, also mounted, beheld the wolf's track in the snow. It was fresh, apparently just made, and a pitch for him was at once determined upon. The snow was upwards of two feet deep, but nothing daunted, Beachy, on his powerful horse, plunged through it into the forest, followed by his companion, who was unable to keep within halting distance. The wolf finding himself pursued dashed boldly forward, but the gallant steed of Beachy after a rapid chase of half an hour bore him by the side of the wolf. Springing from his horse, he (being unharmed) caught the animal by the tail. Then a battle ensued of a fierce character. The wolf snapped his powerful jaws in perfect rage, but by continually jerking him about, and administering, at every favorable opportunity, a powerful kick with a heavy boot in the side, he managed to hold on uninjured until the arrival of his companion, when the ferocious animal was dispatched with one well-aimed blow from a club.

Beachy is a man of great muscular power and courage, and the two combined enabled him to retain his hold upon the wolf until he was dispatched. When his companion arrived he was nearly exhausted. The wolf would not have been so easily captured, but having been indiscreet in his young days, he had put one of his feet into a steel trap, and had thereby lost the entire foot to the first joint.

WONDERFUL SAGACITY.

One of the most astonishing instances of the sagacity of the dog transpired this morning which ever came to our knowledge. The Messrs. Straud, Tobaccoists, No. 35 Congress street, closed their store last evening, leaving their favorite Newfoundland inside. This morning, on opening the store, the floor in the back room was found to be on fire, and the dog was laboring with his fore feet and mouth trying to subdue it. A pail of water which stood in the room had been poured down the hole. The faithful animal had so successfully combated the fire as to prevent its spreading beyond a spot two or three feet square. How long he had stood sentinel and fought down the advancing flames can only be conjectured—it must have been several hours. His feet, legs, and mouth were badly burnt, and it is feared that he is seriously injured. He refuses food and is apparently in much pain. This is the same dog which discovered the man Lally on the ice a few weeks since.

Troy Daily Times, April 3.

THE LAKE SUPERIOR FISHERIES.

The Detroit Tribune says:—"As another step towards the commercial greatness of the Lake Superior country, a greatness to be based entirely upon productive industry and owing nothing to fictitious causes, the citizens of Superior have resolved, in public meeting, to organize a company for the purpose of prosecuting the fisheries of the Lake. The company is to have the title of 'The Lake Superior White Fish, Salmon, Trout, Siscowit, and Herring Fishing Company,' with a capital of $100,000. Congress will be memorialized to extend the fishing bounties of the Newfoundland coast to the lake region, and also to constitute the town of Superior a port of entry for fish."

SOUTHERN EMIGRATION TO KANSAS.

On the 5th inst., Maj Buford, with his Kansas emigrants arrived in Montgomery, Ala. The Journal says they consist of some hundred and sixty good young men, all robust and healthy, fully capable of doing good service in a new country. With others there expected to join them, 200 men would leave Montgomery, Ala., for Kansas in a day or two.

ASTRONOMERS, IT IS SAID, EXPECT THE APPEARANCE THIS YEAR OF THE COMET OF 1856, CALLED CHARLES V., AND SO NAMED FOR HAVING, ACCORDING TO SOME HISTORIANS, CAUSED THAT MONARCH TO ABDICATE AND RETIRE TO THE CONVENT OF ST. JUST. IT IS THE IDENTICAL WANDERING STAR, SOME SAY, WHICH APPEARED IN 1264, IN 1996, AND IN 1663. ITS RETURN WAS FIXED FOR 1848, BUT IT DID NOT ANSWER THE CALL, FRIGHTENED, PERHAPS, AS A MONARCHICAL COMET, BY THE ECCENTRICITIES OF THAT EPOCH. THE NEW CALCULATIONS OF THE SAVANS DO NOT, HOWEVER, ADMIT OF MUCH DOUBT AS TO THE PRESENT NEARNESS OF ITS VISIT.

ALLEGED EXTENSIVE FORGERY.

A man has been arrested at Memphis, Tenn., on a charge of forgery. It appears that he presented to the Branch Planter's Bank, of Memphis, a letter of credit from Smith, Young & Co., of New York, for $50,000. The cashier immediately telegraphed to New York to know if the house mentioned was good, and received a reply in the affirmative, whereupon the bank honored the man's check for $17,000, and he proceeded to buy real estate and other property. Subsequently suspicions were aroused, and a despatch was sent to Smith, Young & Co. to know if they had given the letter of credit. The reply was that they had given no such letter, and the man was immediately arrested on a charge of forgery. When arrested $13,000 in money were found upon his person, sowed up in his clothes, together with enough land scrip to secure the Bank against any loss. It is supposed, however, that there is a mistake somewhere, as the stranger came highly recommended.

A BOY TORN TO PIECES BY A BLOODHOUND.

A young lad named Ephraim Whitehead, living in Cleveland, was killed by a bloodhound on Saturday last. He was missing, when the family became alarmed, and search was instituted for him. A nephew of Mr. Whitehead discovered the boy in a field, about twenty rods from the house, nearly dead, having been attacked and torn in a most awful manner by a bloodhound slut, owned in the neighborhood. The poor little fellow lived only a half an hour after he was found. When he was found, the question was asked whether it was the bloodhound that attacked him. He had barely strength enough to half articulate "Yes." The boy was about eight years old, and was a general favorite with the family.

A SOLITARY FISHERMAN UPON THE OCEAN.

Among the arrivals at this port on Wednesday last, was a fishing schooner, the Echo, belonging to Duxbury. Her crew consisted of one man—master, mate and all hands—Capt. Lewis Winsor. The schooner was in good trim on reaching Commercial wharf, the crew all well, and the cargo well secured and in good order and condition. Capt. W., it seems, was unable to ship a crew at Duxbury, the fishermen preferring newer and faster vessels. But being a man of enterprise and courage, and knowing that the best way to get a thing well done is to do it yourself, Capt. W. started off alone, and though his voyage has been solitary, it has, as we understand, been very successful. The Echo is about thirty tons burthen, and makes one of a large fleet of small schooners that supply the Boston market with fresh fish.—Boston Evc. Trav., April 7.

PROSPECTUS OF THE PLYMOUTH BANNER.

Subscribers having purchased the "Banner" establishment, will commence publishing a weekly Newspaper of the above title, about the middle of January 1856.

Our paper will be "independent in all things, and neutral in nothing," giving all parties and creeds a respectful hearing. It will be devoted to the interests of Plymouth, North Carolina, and the South—to the cause of Education, Agriculture, Internal Improvements, and the development of the resources of the State.

We will do all in our power to make our paper interesting to the general reader, as well as to the business man. Proper attention will be given to the Marine List and Price Current. In short, we will try to make the "Banner" a neat paper, and a companion, to all classes, from the Parlor to the counting Room, and one worthy the support of those favoring us with their patronage.

FOUNDRY AND MACHINE SHOP FOR SALE.

The CLARENCE IRON WORKS, located in the town of Wilmington, North Carolina, now in successful operation, an offer for sale on accommodating terms. The property will be sold to a man of experience in the business, who has capacity to superintend the same. The property consists of a spacious and well-arranged all well supplied with tools, and capable of doing work of any kind that can be done at first class shops. The building will accommodate 500 hands, and the present tools are sufficient for 300 men.—The land and water front is of sufficient extent to admit of any enlargement or addition that may be desired.

The present demand for work is sufficient to keep the establishment employed with a force of well known and reliable mechanics. The price obtained for work as such as to be profitable to the proprietor, and compare favorably with prices at other points; the purchaser will find it to his advantage.

In addition to the many advantages possessed by this location for the business, the opening of the Cape Fear and Deep River works, and the building of the Wilmington, Chambers & Luthersford Railroad, will create additional demands for work, and furnish a supply of fine quality Coal and Iron.

If by whole, or an interest is not sold before the 16th day of April next, the property will be offered at public sale on that day, on the premises.

As the Establishment will continue in operation, order for new work or repairs, will be attended to as heretofore.

Any information that may be desired, will be promptly furnished by application to the subscriber at Wilmington, N. C.
