POETRY.

Respectfully Inscribed to the Great Women of Our Age and Country.

BY OLIVER PARKER BALDERDASH, S. P.

Illustrious women, wondrous females great! Eloquent Lucy, Reverend Antoinette! Tell us, 0, tell us, (if indeed you know;) What are the " rights " of Women here below?

Say, shall she help to frame our country's laws, And rouse the thundering Senates to applause? Ah! rather kindle soft Affection's fires, Than " wake to ecstasy the living lyres!" For the monopoly of man's affections, Would ye accept his suffrage at elections ?

Fair woman, be a fox among the foxes, And cram with votes the creaking ballot-boxes? For shame, for shame! go home ye prating

MISCELLANY.

THE GAME AT CARDS. 'The darkies are mine,' said the gamester, striking his fist upon the table; 'show 'em up, and let us see what they look

'The young planter, who had lost, sent one of the boat servants below for John and Helen. The passengers awaited the appearance of the servants in silence, for a long time; but they came not. The servant had informed them of the change of of owners. They were attached to the young-planter and wife, and did not like to leave them; beside, they had children of their own at home; and what was to become of them?

The winner began to wax impatient at the delay, and exclaimed :

'Come, Danton; hurry up the niggers .-They must move quicker than this when I send for 'em or they'll never know what hurt 'em.'

The young planter's aristocratic face flushed crimson at this rude and brutal exclamation, but he made no reply. He was about to send another servant for John and Helen, when his purpose was stayed by the appearance of Mrs. Danton. Her husband had been gaming, and she had been weeping ever since the boat left Cincinnati; and we are now far down the Missippi. No wonder, then, that she was pale and wan, and that her eyes looked as though they had been nearly wept away; but she was made exquisitely lovely nevertheless

Although many years have passed since table and looked her husband in the face, nent nothing; the third hand they each He could not bear up under her gaze. He had lost all their money, and in a fit of desperation had also staked and lost the two slaves. Laying her little hand on his arm she said:

'le it true, Charles, that you have lost John and Helen?'

Her husband made no reply; he could not even look up.

The passengers were now fast gathering round and the scene was growing painful. My father (who had come north to fetch me from school, and was taking the longest possible way home,) was holding me by the hand, and I knew by the tightening of his grasp, that he was becoming much ex-

As Danton did not seem inclined to answer his wife's question, the gamester roughly said: 'Yes, ma,am, John and Helen are mine :

and I wan't to see 'em quick.' Danton sprang to his feet, and stooping across the table, hissed in the teeth of the gamester.

'Villian! don't you presume to speak to my wife again'

The look with which this menace was accompanied was perfectly blasting, and made the swarthy and pitted face of the gamester fairly turn white.

How inconsistent is man! That accomplished and high-born husband could deliberately jeopardize the property and corrode the happiness of his wife, hour after hour, day after day, and year after year, but he could not bear that the man whom he had chosen for a companion should even so much as speak to her.

'Yes, Mary; John and Helen are lost,' he said at last, as he let the gamester from under his gaze, 'they are lost, and it can't be quaintance, on the score of having been helped now; so don't let us have a scene

'I shall not let them go,' said Mary firmnow that you have played them away-Oh, Charlie!' and she leaned her head on her husband's breast. 'Ah! here they come!' said the games-ter, as John and Helen approached. John was a powerful and fine looking mulatto; his face indicating unusual intelmuch whiter than her husband, and remarkably handsome. The gamester's evil eyes gleamed as he surveyed her, and turning to a savage looking man near him he Danton could now travel the world over

'I'll sell you John in the morning, Ham-mond; but Helen I shall keep-at least for

'I'm agreeable,' said the slave trader, for such he was; 'but I'd like the gal as soon A look of indignation ran round the group at this brutal colloquy. My father's grasp grew tighter still; and encouraged thereby, whispered to him to buy John and Helen himself; but he shook his head, and motioned me to keep silent.

'I tell you I shall not let them go,' repeated Mrs. Danton, addressing the stranger: 'They were brought up in my moth-er's family; besides, they have children at He was, however, pursued and arrested. home, from whom it would be cruel to sep-

The gamester and slave dealer exchanged sneers at Mrs. Danton's sentimental rea- nia railroad, in Bucks county, to the num-

'It can't be helped now. Mary, let us factions, and the attacking party number-oberboard. O, don't leab your own true made. Helen, who sabed your life when you fell in de byoo." I shall not leave you, Helen. Do not be alarmed. I---' Bress de Lord for dat,' interrupted Helen; 'I knows we're safe now; kase you allers does jes' what you say you will.

I think it's about time this nonsenee was stopped,' said the gamester, rising from the table-You acknowledge, Danton, that these negroes are my property; consequently they are mine, and I've a right to do what I please with them; no bill of sale is necessary between two gentlemen. And now, you niggers, just come along with me, and don't make a fuss, or I'll have you flogged and put in irons

The scece now became extremely excit-ing. John drew Ellen to his side, and clenched his teeth and fists, while their young mistress stood close in front, as if with her feeble arm, she would protect them from the clutches of the gamester. I was wild with excitement, and begged my father either to buy the slaves or shoot the gamester-I lid not care which. A bloody fight seemed inevitable; when a young New Englander, who had been very quiet during the whole trip, elbowed his way to the table, asked the gamester at what sum he valued his slaves.

'Two thousand dollars,' said he; 'do you want to buy ?'

'I have only a thousand dollars,' the young man answered. 'I will give you that for them.' 'No, sir, but I'll stake 'em against a thousand dollars, and play you a game of poker for the pile.' 'Ldon't understand the game,' said the New Englander.

What game do you play?' 'I have played a few games at all fours, but I never gambled for a cent in my

Well, I'll play you a game at all-fours then, if you like, and stake the niggers against your thousand dollars.'

To the surprise of every one present, the young man accepted the challenge, called for a new pack of cards, staked his thousand dollars, and the game commencedthe gamester having the first deal

As the company drew more closely round the table, it seemed as though a watchmaker's shop were in our midst, so distinctly we heard the tick of the watch-

The first hand the New Englander made three to the gamester's one, at which a buzz young wife now, as she glided up to the ond hand the gamester three to his oppomade two, which left the New Englander two to go, while the gamester had but one to make, and it was his turn to beg. This was a great advantage, and every body seemed to give up the thousand dollars as

> The New Englander dealt the cards with a steady hand, however, and turned up the jack of hearts, which placed him even with his antagonist, but when he raised his cards I saw that he had not a single trump in his hand, and his adversary was hesitating whether to 'stand' or 'beg;' if the former, the game was his to a certainty; if the latter, there would be another chance for the slaves. After drumming on the back of his cards for a short time, he looked at the New Englander to see if the could determine by his manner what it was best to do, but the Young Bunker Hill met his gaze without flinching, and there they sat for a long time gazing into each other's eves.

'Run the cards,' said the gamester at last. I could have hugged him for his

Bunker Hill again dealt, and the queen of spades was turned Every heart stood still as the cards were for the last time lift-

'They are mine!' shouted the New Englander; 'or rather, they are you'rs madam,' said he, in a milder tone, to Mrs. Danton, as he threw down the ace of spades.

The beautiful and impetuous Southron threw her arms around the winner's neck, and three deatening cheers (in which even the slaveholder joined) told the satisfaction of the audience. Many years after I met the New Englander in Mississippi, and claimed his acone of the most enthusiastic partizans on the night of his well remembered triumph. He said he had never touched a card since that memorable game; that the thousand dollars that he then risked was the sum total of his savings for many toilsome years: ligence and kind heartedness. with a perfect conviction of success. Danton had sought him out, and kept up the acquaintance ever since; and Mrs. with her husband without fear, for he had forsworn gambiing from that never-to-be forgotten night.

PROSPECTUS OF THE

"SOUTHERN SENTINEL," A Democratic and Miscellaneous Journal, to be published weekly, at Wilson, N. C. HE existing condition of political parties, and of partizan strife, naturally suggests the estabit-hing of such a journal as the "Southern Senti-nel" proposes to become. The present, indeed, is a crisis in our political history, never witnessed before. The Constitution has been invaded; the laws trampled and spat upon; religious liberty assailed; ballot boxes broken and burnt; the landmarks of dom derived from a time-honored experience unseated; strange and questionable men have been pushed into high positions; and fanaticism, unchained from its axe and its faggot piles in the North, is heard to how among us in the South. These evils, so far as it humble abilities shall serve.

THE SOUTHERN SENTINEL Will endeavor to arrest. It will endeavor to incul-cate a reverence for the laws as they exist, and for the Constitution, as it has been interpreted by the Democratic faith. It will defend not only political but agricious liberty, and will do battle against evhatched in caves or culverts, or open convention. The Sentinel will also, to relieve the monotony of politics, devote space to literary topics, original and selected, as well as to miscellaneous subjects. which shall include Agricultural and the latest Commercial intelligence. In brief, no efforts nor ex-penses will be spared to make the Sentinel one of the most useful and efficient journals in the South.

The first number of the Sentinel will be issued about the first of the next month, and sent to subscribers at the rate of $2 per annum: $2.50 at the end of six months, and $3 at the end of the year.— Discount made in behalf of clubs, who shall take five, ten or more copies.

Then tlellectual Vigor of a People is indicated by the Character of its Literature." THE CRITERION: A LITERARY AND CRITICAL WEEKLY JOURNAL 16 pages, 4to.

WAS commenced on the 3d of November, 1855, and has thus far received very general approbation. Anxious to extend its influence, and place it upon a substantial basis of support, the Publisher desires most earnestly to direct the attention of the thinking public of America to its clauss upon their consideration.

The main feature of the CRITERION is its Re views of Current Literature. In this department are given thorough and able criticisms of all the most important Books as they are issued, pointing out their chief characteristics, and indicating their moral tendencies, thus keeping its readers informed of all new publications which deserve their attention. It also contains-

Copious Intelligence of Affairs in the Literary World. Gossip concerning Books and Writers, Announcements of contemplated Publications, and Lasts of New Books issued in America and Europe. The Drama, Music, Fine Arts, and Science, also receive attention, and several columns of carefully selected and agreeable matter are given in each number. In addition to the above there is a department of Miscellanea for reading of an enter-taining character, carefully selected from new books and the ablest reviews, and a weekly collection of Notes and Queries, which contains a great variety of curious and valuable information.

It is confidently believed that a journal such as the CRITERION cannot fail to have a good effect upon our national literature, and to some extent upon our national character. It will be found es-pecially valuable in directing the attention of youth upon our national character. It will be found especially valuable in directing the attention of youth to works of real excellence, and encouraging an appreciation for valuable reading, which is being rapidly destroyed by the circulation of superficial and sophistical books. To the reading man the literary intelligence alone must render it very desirable; and to all who wish to promote an improvement in taste, the encouragement of merit, and an uncompromising condemnation of vicious style, mock sentiment, and evil principles, such an enterprise cannot—at least, should not—be indifferent.

To members of Historical, Literary and Scientific Societies, Lyceums and Debating Clubs, the subjects discussed in this paper will at all times prove of peculiar interest, and it is the design of the editors to thoroughly canvass from time to time those important philosophical questions which agitate all inquiring minds, correcting false theories, and encouraging profitable investigation.

The CRITERION is published at $3 per annum, payable yearly, half yearly or quarterly in advance. Specimen copies supplied on application to the Publisher, CHARLES R. RODE,

BALTIMORE LOCK HOSPITAL.

DR. JOHNSTON. THE founder of this Celebrated Institution of-fers the most certain, Speedy and only effectu-al remedy in the world for SECRET DISEASES.

Gleets, Strictures, Seminal Weakness, Pains in the Loins, Constitutional Debility, Impotency, Weakness of the Back and Limbs, Affections of the Kidneys, Palpitation of the Heart, Dysnepsia, Nervous Irritability, Disease of the Head, Throat Nose or Skin; those serious and melancholy disorders arising from the destructive habits of Youth, which destroy both body and mind. Those secret and solitary practices more fatal to their victims than the song of the Syrens to the mariners of Ulysses, blighting their most brilliant hopes or anticipations, rendering marriage, &c., impossible, YOUNG MEN.

Especially, who have become the victims of Solita-

Especially, who have become the victims of Selifarry Vice, that dreadful and destructive habit which annually sweeps to an untimely grave thousands of young men of the most exalted talents and brilliant intellect, who might otherwise have entranced lintening Senates with the thunders of eloquence, or waked to ecstacy the living lyre, may call with full confidence.

MARRIAGE.

Married persons, or Young Men, contemplating marriage, being aware of Physical Weakness, Organic Debility, Deformities, &c., should immediately consult Dr. J., and be restored to perfect health.

He who places himself underthe care of Dr. Johnston may religiously confide in his honor as a gentleman, and confidently rely upon hisskill as a physician.

DR. JOHNSTON.

Member of the Royal College of Surgeons, Londoni graduate from one of the most eminent Colleges of the United States, and the greater part of whom life has been spent in the Hospitals of London, Paris, Philadelphia, and elsewhere, has effected some of the most astonishing cures that were ever known. Many troubled with ringing in the cars and head when asleep, great nervourness, being alarmed staudden sounds, and bashfurness, with frequent blushing, attended sometimes with derangement of mind, were cured immediately.

A CERTAIN DISEASE A CERTAIN DISEASE.

When the misguided and improdent votary of pleasure finds he has imbibed the seeds of this painful disease, it too often happens that anti-timed schee of shame, or dread of discovery, deters him from applying to those who, from education and respectability, can alone befriend him, delaying till the constitutional symptoms of this horrid disease make their appearance, such as alcerated sore throat, diseased nose, noctural pains in the head and limbs, dimness of sight, deafness, nodes on the shin bones and arms, bistches on the head, face and extremities, progressing with frightful rapidity, till at last the palate of the mouth or the shift. pidity, till at last the palate of the mouth or the bones of the nose fall in. and the victim of this awful disease becomes a horrid object of commisseration, till death puts a period to his dreadful sufferings, by sending him to "that bourne from whence no traveller returns." To such therefore, Dr. Johnston pledges himself to preserve the most inviolable secresy; and, from his extensive practice in the first Hospitals of Europe and America, he can confidently recommend a safe and speedy cure to the unfortunate victim of this horrid disease. It is a melancholy fact, that thousands fall victims to this dreadful complaint, owing to the unskilfulness of ignorant pretenders, who, by the use of that deadly poison, mercury, ruin the constitution, and either send the unfortunate sufferer to an untimely grave, or else make the residue of life misserable. pidity, till at last the palate of the mor

TAKE PARTICULAR NOTICE. Dr. J. addresses all those who have injured themselves by private and improper indulgences.

apply immediately.

What a pity that a young man, the hope of his country, and the darling of his parents, should be snatched from all prospects and enjoyments of life, by the consequences of deviating from the twith of nature, and indulging in a certain secret habit.—

Such persons, before contemplating MARRIAGE. Should reflect that a sound mind and body are the most necessary requisites to promote connubinappiness. Indeed, without these, the journe through life becomes a wear; pligrimage; the propect hourly darkens to the view; the mind become shadowed with despair and filled with the melast choly reflection that the happiness of another becomes blighted with our own.
