POWER OF MIND OVER BODY.

Mysterious influences exercised by the mind over the body is well illustrated in the following case, contained in Dr. Warren's treatise on the "Preservation of Health."

"Some time since a female presented herself to me, with a tumor or swelling of the submaxillary gland of the neck. It was about the size of an egg, had lasted two years, and was so very hard that I considered any effort to dissipate it by medicine to be vain, and advised it removed by an operation. To this the patient could not bring her mind; therefore, to satisfy her wish, some applications of considerable activity were directed to be made to the part, and these she pursued for a number of weeks without any change. After this she called on me, and with some hesitation begged to know if an application recommended to her would, in my opinion, be safe. This consisted in applying the hand of a dead man three times to the diseased part. One of her neighbors now lay dead, and she had an opportunity of trying the experiment, if not thought dangerous. At first, I was disposed to divert her from it, but recollecting the power of the imagination, gravely assured her that she might make the trial, without apprehension of serious consequences. A while after she presented herself once more, and with a smiling countenance, informed me she had used this remedy and no other, and on examining for the tumor, it had disappeared."

A VISIT TO SANTA ANNA.

A correspondent of the New Orleans Delta in New Grenada thus notices a visit paid by him to the ex-Dictator of Mexico.

"A two hours' charming ride led us to Turbaco, where our friends who were to part from us, had ordered a sumptuous farewell breakfast. This village, situated at a distance of about four leagues from Cartagena, is the present residence of General Santa Anna the ex-Dictator of Mexico.

"After having done full justice to the delicious viands spread before us by our friends, with an ardor and gusto which our morning jaunt sufficiently explains, a dozen of us lighted our cigars, and set out to visit the man who, at one time, exercised so considerable an influence over the affairs of Mexico.

"His house is a large, strong, stone building, in the old Spanish style of architecture, with a colonnade, a large court and garden. Its appearance is very beautiful, and forms a striking contrast with the humble cottages inhabited by the wretched population among whom Santa Anna resides.

"We were introduced in a large parlor, running through the whole front of the house, whilst the General was being apprized of our arrival. The walls of this apartment are papered in elegant French style, and decorated with some fine engravings. The parlor has two doors fronting on the street, and two others leading to a yard smiling with verdure. Around the room may be seen two or three sofas, a dozen of mahogany chairs, with side tables and lounges; in the middle is a marble centre table, with exquisitely wrought flower vases. The ensemble of this furniture has an appearance of calm simplicity, and breathes a perfume of tropical comforts which strikes and pleases at the same time.

"The ex-Dictator appeared almost immediately. I had known him ten years ago at Havana, and expected to see him, of course, much altered; but he is, it is decidedly to his advantage. He has all the appearance of a man in his prime, and is about five feet ten or eleven inches high. His body is straight, robust, and rather corpulently inclined. His eyes borrow from their shaggy brows an aspect of concavity which causes them to change color with the varying hues of light. His complexion is of an olive brown; his face is shorn of whiskers and moustaches, and is indented by no corrugation, except, perhaps, some slight wrinkles near the angle of the eye. His hair is of a beautiful iron gray color, but I understand that he is in the habit of dyeing it.

"He entered the parlor slowly, walking with some embarrassment, and slightly limping, resting upon a cane. His dress was extremely simple, being that of a southern farmer, viz: broad linen pantaloons and an ample white sackcoat. The only attractive object which he wore was a magnificent diamond breast-pin."

SAD SUICIDE.

The Abingdon Virginian records the death by suicide of Mrs. Nancy Gray, wife of Wm. M. Gray, and daughter of Col. Jas. L. Davis, residing about five miles south-west of that place, a few days since. She was found about midway in a closet in a sitting posture, with the muzzle of a gun against her breast. The contents had been discharged into her stomach, the whole load lodging against her backbone. She was dead, of course, when found. A buggy whip was lying near her, with which she is supposed to have discharged the gun. She was a young and lovely woman, but recently married. It is supposed she was suffering under an attack at the time of temporary insanity.

VALUABLE LANDS ON THE CAPE FEAR RIVER.

THE Lands and Plantations known as the Roane and Blue Banks Plantations are located on the Cape Fear River, and extend only 15 miles above Wilmington, on the Cape Fear River, and extend to the State of North Carolina, and are of easy access to one of the best markets in the State of North Carolina. On the north side of the river, there are six hundred acres of the finest River Bottom Land in the State—about 100 acres of which are already cleared, and produce the finest crops of corn. One hundred acres more may be cleared, and will produce the same quantity of corn, and all the other ordinary crops of the State. There is a large quantity of fine land yet to be cleared, the growth on which is pine, oak and hickory and dog-wood. On the south side of the River, is situated the balance of the lands, estimated at seven thousand five hundred acres, from which three fine settlements may be made. The Roane Plantation, and some fourteen negro houses, all of which are new and comfortable. There is a Turpentine Still and Distillery which will sell with the land, if desired. There are also some eight tanks of Turpentine Boxes, some three tanks of which are old on the land.

The remainder of the lands in the adjoining tract, and on Hood's Creek, containing some three thousand acres of unimproved Pine Lands, which would make a fine settlement, a portion of them being here, in the Roane Plantation, and the fine building lots could be had immediately on the Railroad, suitable for Summer Residences. Persons wishing to purchase such lands, will do well to call on the undersigned, before making a location.

PROSPECTUS OF THE RAIL ROAD TIMES.

AN INDEPENDENT JOURNAL. Devoted to News, Internal Improvement, Education, Agriculture, Manufacture & Commerce.

WE know that the interests of the People of our State demand such a paper, and believing that one free from political attacks and quarrels of the day, devoted to such topics, will be the kind they desire, we confidently expect our enterprise with the assurance of merit and meeting their approbation and support. Our object is to make the Times the mirror of the State, in which all can see their true interests held up and encouraged.

INTERNAL IMPROVEMENTS.—To this subject we expect to devote as much space as a full statement of the various operations will require; for as our works of improvement advance, so do all the other interests of the State.

EDUCATION.—It is a source of regret to all interested in the Educational interests of our State, (and who is not?) that our papers are so much devoted to party politics, &c., that this great cause has been too long neglected; we propose, therefore, to devote to this subject, a portion of our columns, and to publish from time to time, an advancement of Education, not only in our higher Schools, but also in our Common Schools.

AGRICULTURE, MANUFACTURE AND COMMERCE.—We feel that our readers are commanding the attention of all our good State and money-loving citizens. Therefore, the Markets will be reported with care and all items, calculated to throw light on either of those inseparable branches of Industry, will be carefully gleaned and inserted every week.

THE "ANNALS."—It is believed, will be a fair and full daguerotype of the progress of our State, and if I have succeeded in preparing this volume with any reasonable amount of skill, it will not only be a very agreeable look for present reading, but that every year will add to its value as showing the posture of Southern Methodism at this particular juncture of its history.

THIS DIGEST.—Will be specially valuable as a Book of reference. To whatever question of general interest may arise in regard to the events of 1855, it is hoped that it will contain the answers thereto. A good dollar paper will be published at One Dollar a copy. Those who subscribe in advance, shall receive the first copy of the Digest, and that every year will return a copy will be sent well wrapped and prepaid.

AN INDEPENDENT JOURNAL. Devoted to News, Internal Improvement, Education, Agriculture, Manufacture & Commerce.

WE know that the interests of the People of our State demand such a paper, and believing that one free from political attacks and quarrels of the day, devoted to such topics, will be the kind they desire, we confidently expect our enterprise with the assurance of merit and meeting their approbation and support. Our object is to make the Times the mirror of the State, in which all can see their true interests held up and encouraged.

INTERNAL IMPROVEMENTS.—To this subject we expect to devote as much space as a full statement of the various operations will require; for as our works of improvement advance, so do all the other interests of the State.

EDUCATION.—It is a source of regret to all interested in the Educational interests of our State, (and who is not?) that our papers are so much devoted to party politics, &c., that this great cause has been too long neglected; we propose, therefore, to devote to this subject, a portion of our columns, and to publish from time to time, an advancement of Education, not only in our higher Schools, but also in our Common Schools.

AGRICULTURE, MANUFACTURE AND COMMERCE.—We feel that our readers are commanding the attention of all our good State and money-loving citizens. Therefore, the Markets will be reported with care and all items, calculated to throw light on either of those inseparable branches of Industry, will be carefully gleaned and inserted every week.

THE "ANNALS."—It is believed, will be a fair and full daguerotype of the progress of our State, and if I have succeeded in preparing this volume with any reasonable amount of skill, it will not only be a very agreeable look for present reading, but that every year will add to its value as showing the posture of Southern Methodism at this particular juncture of its history.

THIS DIGEST.—Will be specially valuable as a Book of reference. To whatever question of general interest may arise in regard to the events of 1855, it is hoped that it will contain the answers thereto. A good dollar paper will be published at One Dollar a copy. Those who subscribe in advance, shall receive the first copy of the Digest, and that every year will return a copy will be sent well wrapped and prepaid.
