MISCELLANY.

From Harpers' Magazine for August. ROMANCE OF REAL LIFE.

A Senator's First Love-He Never got O-

Some years ago a member of the United States Senate, distinguished not only for his talents but his fine personal appearance, was seated in a richly furnished parlor in the city of Washington, engaged in a lively conversation with one of the most amiable and accomplished married ladies that ever honored our national capital with their presence. The subject was the common and most agreeable one of marriage; and result of her work. the lady, with a beautiful enthusiasm natural to her character, was pressing upon the notice of her distinguished bachelor friend the claims of a young female friend, whose position in society, amable disposition, and liberal education, eminently rendered her fit to be the wife of a distinguished statesman, who had seemingly already spent too many years without a proper

The young lady, however, was more disinterested; mutual vows of attactment were exchanged, a corresponwishes. At that time I had just commenced, under favorable circumstances, my profession in my native town; and, making of the courts holden in the city of Philadelphia. The idleness consequent upon traveling gave time for consuming thoughts, and my suspense became painful to the last degree and, unable to bear the slow pace of my conveyance, I determined to anticipate the usual time of my journey by making the last miles upon horseback. In carrying out this determination, I mounted a fleet steed; but just as I reached the suburbs of my native place, the animal, from some unaccountable cause, sprang from the road, threw me with force, breaking my arm and otherwise injuring my person. Picked up by my friends, I was conveyed, helpless and full of physical and mental agony, to my home. Scurcely had the surgeons performed their necessary duties, than one whom I esteemed a friend, announced to me the gossip of the village, and, among other things, detailed the particulars of the courtship and engagement of the young lady in whom I was so interested with a well known person of a neighboring city -a person whose claims to regard no one could dispute. These things, stated with such apparent good faith, connected with that fearful silence of six long weeks, had no other effect than to increase my anxiety to unravel the mystery; and, on the following morning, concealing my wounded limb under a cloak, probably pale and hag gard, I presented myself at the mansion of my mistress I was received in the presence of the mother. She confirmed my suspicions. The young lady stood by, the picture of despair, yet silent as the grave. Desperate at what seemed this bad faith, I returned to my house, wrote a hasty letter demanding my correspondence, and returning, at the same time, every once cherished token of affection. I received all I sent for, save, perhaps, some forgotten flower.

The following morning, not making her appearance, the family became alarmed, broke open the door, and found the young lady dead-in her hand the little keepsake retained from my correspondence. The uncle, as if comprehending the particulars which led to this dreadful tragedy, had the body encoffined, and with it returned to Lancaster. Placing all that remained of this once lovely being in the parlor, he brought the mother forward, and displayed what he was pleased to term the

LAST WORDS OF BILLY MULLIGAN. The last words of Billy Mulligan, when about to bid 'adieu to California foreverbeing banished by the Vigilauce Committee-were as follows:

"I know that my punishment is just and merited; I deserve it and more too. I have no fault to find with the Committee; they are all respectable gentlemen, and are acting right, and they ought not to stop with what they have done There are a hundred others just as bad as I am, and deserve the same treatment. There is not an officer in the city or county of San Francisco who is legally clected. They are all thieves, from the Mayor down, and should be driven from their offices. I shall hope to bear that they have all been made to resign." It is a great pity that the Vigilance Committee placed it in the power of such precious scoundrels to return to the Eastern States They should have been sent to her Majesty's dominions in Australia, in acknowledgement of the equivocal compliment paid California by her officers in the pioneer days.

PROSPECTUS OF THE "SOUTHERN SENTINEL,"

A Democratic and Miscellaneous Journal, to be published weekly, at Wilson, N. C. HE existing condition of political parties, and of partizan strife, naturally suggests the establishing of such a journal as the "Southern Sentinel' proposes to become. The present, indeed, is a crisis in our political history, never witnessed be-fore. The Constitution has been invoded; the laws trampled and spat upon; religious liberty assailed; ballot boxes broken and burnt; the landmarks of our political ancestry partially effaced; the wis-dom derived from a time-honored experience unseated; strange and questionable men have been pushed into high positions; and fanatici-m, unchained from its are and its faggot piles in the North, is heard to howl among us in the South. These evils, so far as it humble abilities shall serve,

THE SOUTHERN SENTINEL Will endeavor to arrest. It will endeavor to inculcate a reverence for the laws as they exist, and for the Constitution, as it has been interpreted by the wise men of the past and by the Fathers of the Democratic faith. It will defend not only political but series is liberty, and will do battle against every political heresy that may appear, who her hatched in caves or culverts, or open convention.

The Sentinel will also, to relieve the monotony of politics, devote space to literary topics, original and selected, as well as to miscellaneous subjects, which shallinclude Agricultural and the intest Comwhich shall neture Agricultural and the mirest Com-mercial intelligence. In brief, no efforts nor ex-penses will be spared to make the Sentinel one of the most useful and efficient journals in the South. The first number of the Sentinel will be issued about the first of the next month, and sent to subscribers at the rate of $2 per annum: $2 50 at the end of six months, and $3 at the end of the year.— Discount made in behalf of clubs, who shall take Discount made in five, ten or more copies.

Member of the Royal College of Surgeons Lander; graduate from one of the most eminent Colleges of the United States, and the greater part of whose life has been spent in the Hospitals of London, Paris, Philadelphia, and elsewhere, has effected some of the most astonishing cures that were ever known. Many proubled with ringing in the cars and head when asleep, great nervourness, being alarmed at when asleep, great nervourness, being alarmed at sudden sounds, and bashfuness, with frequent blushing, attended some times with durangement of mind, were cured immediately. A CERTAIN DISEASE. When the misguided and imprudent volume of obleasure finds he has imbibed the sceda or this painful disease, it too often happens that an illetimed sense of shame, or dread of discovery, defers him from applying to those who, from education and respectability, can alone befriend him, delaying till the constitutional symptoms of this herrid disease make their appearance such as observed sore threat, diseased nose, noctural pains in the head and limbs, diamess of sight, dealness, nodes on the shin bones and arms, blotches on the head, face and extremities, progressing with frightful ra-pidity, till at last the pelate of the weath or the bones of the nose fall in, and the victim of this awful disease becomes a horrid object of commisscration, till death puts a period to his dreadful and ferings, by sending him to "that bourne from whence no traveller returns." To such therefore, Dr. Johnston pledges himself to preserve the most inviciable secreey; and, from his extensive practice in the first Hospitals of Europe and America, he can confidently recommend a safe and speedy cure to the unfortunate victim of this horrist disc ease. It is a melancholy fact, that thousands full victims to this dreadful complaint, owing to the un-skilfulness of ignorant pretenders, who, by the use of that deedly poison, mercury, rule the constitu-tion, and either send the unfortunate sufferer to an untimely grave, or else make the residue of life mis

TAKE PARTICULAR NOTICE. Dr. J. addresses all those who have injured them-selves by private and improper indulgences. These are some of the sad and melanetuly affects, produced by early habits of youth, viz :Weakness of the Back and Limbs, Pains in the
