

FOR PRESIDENT JAMES BUCHANAN, OF PENNSYLVANIA.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT JNO. C. BRECKENRIDGE, OF KENTUCKY.

ELECTORS FOR PRESIDENT AND VICE PRESIDENT.

FOR THE STATE AT LARGE: HENRY M. SHAW, of Currituck, SAMUEL P. HILL, of Caswell.

DISTRICTS: 1st District, WM. F. MARTIN, of Pasquotank; 2d, WM. J. BLOW, of Pitt; 3d, M. R. SMITH, of New Hanover; 4th, GASTON H. WILDER, of Wake; 5th, S. E. WILLIAMS, of Alamance; 6th, THOS. SETTLE JR. of Rockingham; 7th, R. P. WARRING, of Mecklenburg; 8th, W. W. AVERY, of Burke.

CONGRESSIONAL PROCEEDINGS.

On our fourth page are the proceedings of Congress of Friday and Saturday last, with remarks of the National Intelligencer. We present this matter in order that our readers may know how things are managed in Washington City. It will be time enough to comment upon the strange position of public affairs when the result is known.

KANSAS.

On our fourth page are some further reports from Kansas. The preceding accounts are contradicted, as we expected they would be. These we now present, appear more probable than any yet reported. We have other details before us, but omit them, because of their exciting and party character.

IOWA! IOWA!

The black republicans make as great a fuss over the solitary victory in Iowa, as a hen does over a single chicken, making as much noise and clucking and scratching as if she had a dozen or more.

A WET TIME.

The Hartford Times of Saturday last, in recounting the effects of a storm, states that the water had risen 20 feet, and was still rising at the rate of 4 inches an hour, and concludes by saying "every body is looking out for a wet time." We should think so, indeed.

DISUNION.

The following is circulated in the free States, under the flag of "Freedom and Fraternity." "The person to whom this document is transmitted is earnestly requested to circulate it for the signatures of the men and women in his town, and see that it is speedily sent to either Senators Wilson, Hale, Wade, Seward and Fessenden or to Messrs. Giddings, Burlingame, Colquhoun, Campbell, or any other suitable representative at Washington."

To the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States:

The undersigned citizens of and inhabitants of the State of _____, respectfully submit to Congress:

That, in the nature of things, antagonistic principles, interests, pursuits and institutions can never unite.

That an experience of more than three score years having demonstrated that there can be no real union between the north and the south.

We, therefore, believe that the time has come for new arrangements so hostile to the interests of irreconcilable institutions so incongruous; and we earnestly request Congress at its present session, to take such initiatory measures for the speedy, peaceful, and equitable DISSOLUTION OF THE EXISTING UNION, as the exigencies of the case require, leaving the south to depend on her own resources, and to take all the responsibility in the maintenance of her existing slave system, and the north to organize an independent government, in accordance with her own ideas of justice and the rights of man."

This is one of the political tricks of Abolitionism to frighten the South. Whatever may be their action after the election of BUCHANAN, they are now only trying to scare us. This is very cruel—very. But we are well aware, although you cry out "a ghost! a ghost!" it is no ghost at all, only "Miss Abigail!"

The traitorous leaders of the north and their poor deluded followers, know nothing of the result of the deep thinking mind of the South—Though confident of the success of the BUCHANAN ticket, they are calmly prepared for any result the present state of wild excitement may produce.

THE BLACK REPUBLICANS IN CONGRESS.

The public are now permitted to witness the political infamy and moral turpitude of the black republican party in Congress, in attempting to deprive the President of his constitutional power, by withholding, in an unconstitutional manner, the necessary supplies for the army. Those of our southern citizens who proposed to "act with any party" for the purpose of defeating the Democratic Party, may see what sort of company they seek, and in which company the world will guess they are precisely fit.

The black republicans in Congress had President Pierce for his constitutional principles, and particularly because he would not let them steal negroes with impunity.

It is about as well to let that embodiment of consummate wickedness, the majority of the House of Representatives, go home, without passing the Army Bill, and let the Southern States secure their Legislatures and appropriate money for the use of our noble President—who is the object of the vindictive malignity of the enemies of Southern Rights and the Constitution. If they depart without making the appropriation, we hope NORTH CAROLINA WILL TAKE THE LEAD IN THIS GREAT WORK. We believe our Legislature would nearly or quite unanimously, vote ONE MILLION of dollars to begin with.

THREE-WHEELED PHETON.

There has been in use in Columbus, Ohio, for some weeks past, a three wheeled pheton, which is said to work admirably, and it is thought will introduce a new style of vehicles into our modern four wheeled vehicles, and in turning them. The front wheel is so arranged as to run steadily, and there is less friction and consequently less resistance to draft.

SWISS NEWSPAPERS.

According to the Zurich correspondent of the New York, no country, with the exception of the United States, has so many newspapers as Switzerland. The number last year was 569, of which 422 were political, or one to every 4,892 inhabitants.

FEVER IN CHARLESTON.

Office of Board of Health, Monday Night, 10 o'clock. The Board of Health report one death in the Marine Hospital, Yellow Fever, since last publication.

J. E. DAWSON, M. D., C. R.

A WORD TO DISUNIONISTS, AND OTHERS.

We know that there are many men at the South who for a long time desired no other result from the agitation which has disturbed the country for so many years past, but disunion. They are tired of personal insults and reproach to which they are subjected by northern defamers, and the assaults upon the Constitution by the same parties.

Our position has been clearly defined, and our principles unmistakably exhibited for many years, on this absorbing question. We are not disunionists by our own free will, but Unionists when we are forced to be so by the reputation of the Constitution in any of its parts and parcels.

To those who are disunionists and nothing else we cannot feel hostile. We make allowances for the high temper and ardent expressions of our younger citizens, who feel that they have already passed through a sufficient ordeal of insurrection, political agitation, and personal scandal of themselves, their wives, sisters, their daughters and their children. We know that their reluctance has been sufficient to rouse the spirit to conflict even in the face of certain death, and some are thus incited, while others are willing to dissolve peacefully if they can—forcibly if they must.

We know that the determination of these citizens is so deeply rooted, under the consciousness of repeated and continuous wrong, that we can not persuade them from their purposes, or quell the panting of their hearts. But we ask them to pause a moment and ponder upon the prospect before us. Someday they would vote for Fremont if they could, for the sole purpose of dissolving the Union.

Let us look into this matter. The political leaders of the northern free States declare that they will accept of BUCHANAN as elected. Then is it not best to work for his election, so that in any event the friends of Southern Rights and the Constitution may be in possession of the seat of government, the navy, the army, the treasury &c. &c. While if Fremont is elected all these advantages fall into the hands of our enemies? We believe that in this latter case the grand maritime nations of Europe would loudly court our alliance; for it is like an idiot preaching to idiots to say that there is any sympathy for the slave in that quarter. They would not care if every planter crushed the children in a cob-mill and squeezed the older ones under the power of the Cotton Press, so he left enough alive to cultivate that article for their use.

Well: in case of the election of BUCHANAN we have the power in our hands, upheld by the traditions of the Constitution in the free States of the East and West. The moral power to uphold the Constitution in all its political aspects, and its physical power to repel aggressive revolution.

Perhaps, in this case, our disunion friends would consent to forego their pre-determination and witness the restoration of the Constitution to its pristine purity, which we are sure has been all along their heart's desire, and only quench by the conviction that such an issue is hopeless.

We do not believe it is hopeless, fellow-citizens. We are sure the time is come to try the issue.—A time which we have long desired to see, as our readers know—and we are satisfied that abolitionism with its accompaniments of priestly hypocrisy and political treason, is to expire a death blow—it is to die the death from which there will be no awakening, so far as Southern Rights and the Federal Constitution are concerned.

When we arrive at the point now perceptible in the political vista if the northern States choose to secede let them go. But when in future time the world will wonder that any star, participant of the glory of this great Union should fall from its sphere—and wise and good men will inquire who did it. Your children, fellow citizens of the South—your children fellow-citizens of the Democracy North and West, will proudly say—OUR FATHERS DID IT NOT.

We have already given some particulars of the excitement at Mobile, growing out of the discovery that Messrs. Strickland & Upson, booksellers and printers, had been circulating incendiary documents in a letter from that city to the New-York Herald, dated the 16th inst. says:

"A son of Dr. Woodcock called at the store of William Strickland and Edwin Upson—firms of Strickland & Co.—on Wednesday, and after considerable searching found the 'Life and Writings of Frederick Douglass,' for which Mr. Upson charged the usual price of $1.00, which Dr. Woodcock promptly paid. A Committee of Vigilance, consisting of twenty-five of our leading men, soon met at the Battle House, sent for Messrs. Strickland and Upson, and after giving them a high toned lecture, they were ordered to leave town within five days, after which time the committee would not be answerable for their lives. The party fled, and the committee, on Thursday, in the sum of $500 each for their appearance before the committee the next day, for further examination. Meantime an examination of their stock and account books proved the statements of Strickland and Upson to have been utterly false. Instead of these two or three copies having accidentally got in their store with a lot of second hand books, as stated by them, their press letter-book contained an order, in Mr. Strickland's hand-writing, for fifty copies of the 'Life and Writings of Douglass,' to be printed and distributed to the accused appeared before the committee, and were ordered to 'settle up' and leave town within five days, after which time the committee would not be answerable for their lives. The party fled, and the committee, on Thursday, in the sum of $500 each for their appearance before the committee the next day, for further examination. Meantime an examination of their stock and account books proved the statements of Strickland and Upson to have been utterly false. Instead of these two or three copies having accidentally got in their store with a lot of second hand books, as stated by them, their press letter-book contained an order, in Mr. Strickland's hand-writing, for fifty copies of the 'Life and Writings of Douglass,' to be printed and distributed to the accused appeared before the committee, and were ordered to 'settle up' and leave town within five days, after which time the committee would not be answerable for their lives. The party fled, and the committee, on Thursday, in the sum of $500 each for their appearance before the committee the next day, for further examination. Meantime an examination of their stock and account books proved the statements of Strickland and Upson to have been utterly false. Instead of these two or three copies having accidentally got in their store with a lot of second hand books, as stated by them, their press letter-book contained an order, in Mr. Strickland's hand-writing, for fifty copies of the 'Life and Writings of Douglass,' to be printed and distributed to the accused appeared before the committee, and were ordered to 'settle up' and leave town within five days, after which time the committee would not be answerable for their lives. The party fled, and the committee, on Thursday, in the sum of $500 each for their appearance before the committee the next day, for further examination. Meantime an examination of their stock and account books proved the statements of Strickland and Upson to have been utterly false. Instead of these two or three copies having accidentally got in their store with a lot of second hand books, as stated by them, their press letter-book contained an order, in Mr. Strickland's hand-writing, for fifty copies of the 'Life and Writings of Douglass,' to be printed and distributed to the accused appeared before the committee, and were ordered to 'settle up' and leave town within five days, after which time the committee would not be answerable for their lives. The party fled, and the committee, on Thursday, in the sum of $500 each for their appearance before the committee the next day, for further examination. Meantime an examination of their stock and account books proved the statements of Strickland and Upson to have been utterly false. Instead of these two or three copies having accidentally got in their store with a lot of second hand books, as stated by them, their press letter-book contained an order, in Mr. Strickland's hand-writing, for fifty copies of the 'Life and Writings of Douglass,' to be printed and distributed to the accused appeared before the committee, and were ordered to 'settle up' and leave town within five days, after which time the committee would not be answerable for their lives. The party fled, and the committee, on Thursday, in the sum of $500 each for their appearance before the committee the next day, for further examination. Meantime an examination of their stock and account books proved the statements of Strickland and Upson to have been utterly false. Instead of these two or three copies having accidentally got in their store with a lot of second hand books, as stated by them, their press letter-book contained an order, in Mr. Strickland's hand-writing, for fifty copies of the 'Life and Writings of Douglass,' to be printed and distributed to the accused appeared before the committee, and were ordered to 'settle up' and leave town within five days, after which time the committee would not be answerable for their lives. The party fled, and the committee, on Thursday, in the sum of $500 each for their appearance before the committee the next day, for further examination. Meantime an examination of their stock and account books proved the statements of Strickland and Upson to have been utterly false. Instead of these two or three copies having accidentally got in their store with a lot of second hand books, as stated by them, their press letter-book contained an order, in Mr. Strickland's hand-writing, for fifty copies of the 'Life and Writings of Douglass,' to be printed and distributed to the accused appeared before the committee, and were ordered to 'settle up' and leave town within five days, after which time the committee would not be answerable for their lives. The party fled, and the committee, on Thursday, in the sum of $500 each for their appearance before the committee the next day, for further examination. Meantime an examination of their stock and account books proved the statements of Strickland and Upson to have been utterly false. Instead of these two or three copies having accidentally got in their store with a lot of second hand books, as stated by them, their press letter-book contained an order, in Mr. Strickland's hand-writing, for fifty copies of the 'Life and Writings of Douglass,' to be printed and distributed to the accused appeared before the committee, and were ordered to 'settle up' and leave town within five days, after which time the committee would not be answerable for their lives. The party fled, and the committee, on Thursday, in the sum of $500 each for their appearance before the committee the next day, for further examination. Meantime an examination of their stock and account books proved the statements of Strickland and Upson to have been utterly false. Instead of these two or three copies having accidentally got in their store with a lot of second hand books, as stated by them, their press letter-book contained an order, in Mr. Strickland's hand-writing, for fifty copies of the 'Life and Writings of Douglass,' to be printed and distributed to the accused appeared before the committee, and were ordered to 'settle up' and leave town within five days, after which time the committee would not be answerable for their lives. The party fled, and the committee, on Thursday, in the sum of $500 each for their appearance before the committee the next day, for further examination. Meantime an examination of their stock and account books proved the statements of Strickland and Upson to have been utterly false. Instead of these two or three copies having accidentally got in their store with a lot of second hand books, as stated by them, their press letter-book contained an order, in Mr. Strickland's hand-writing, for fifty copies of the 'Life and Writings of Douglass,' to be printed and distributed to the accused appeared before the committee, and were ordered to 'settle up' and leave town within five days, after which time the committee would not be answerable for their lives. The party fled, and the committee, on Thursday, in the sum of $500 each for their appearance before the committee the next day, for further examination. Meantime an examination of their stock and account books proved the statements of Strickland and Upson to have been utterly false. Instead of these two or three copies having accidentally got in their store with a lot of second hand books, as stated by them, their press letter-book contained an order, in Mr. Strickland's hand-writing, for fifty copies of the 'Life and Writings of Douglass,' to be printed and distributed to the accused appeared before the committee, and were ordered to 'settle up' and leave town within five days, after which time the committee would not be answerable for their lives. The party fled, and the committee, on Thursday, in the sum of $500 each for their appearance before the committee the next day, for further examination. Meantime an examination of their stock and account books proved the statements of Strickland and Upson to have been utterly false. Instead of these two or three copies having accidentally got in their store with a lot of second hand books, as stated by them, their press letter-book contained an order, in Mr. Strickland's hand-writing, for fifty copies of the 'Life and Writings of Douglass,' to be printed and distributed to the accused appeared before the committee, and were ordered to 'settle up' and leave town within five days, after which time the committee would not be answerable for their lives. The party fled, and the committee, on Thursday, in the sum of $500 each for their appearance before the committee the next day, for further examination. Meantime an examination of their stock and account books proved the statements of Strickland and Upson to have been utterly false. Instead of these two or three copies having accidentally got in their store with a lot of second hand books, as stated by them, their press letter-book contained an order, in Mr. Strickland's hand-writing, for fifty copies of the 'Life and Writings of Douglass,' to be printed and distributed to the accused appeared before the committee, and were ordered to 'settle up' and leave town within five days, after which time the committee would not be answerable for their lives. The party fled, and the committee, on Thursday, in the sum of $500 each for their appearance before the committee the next day, for further examination. Meantime an examination of their stock and account books proved the statements of Strickland and Upson to have been utterly false. Instead of these two or three copies having accidentally got in their store with a lot of second hand books, as stated by them, their press letter-book contained an order, in Mr. Strickland's hand-writing, for fifty copies of the 'Life and Writings of Douglass,' to be printed and distributed to the accused appeared before the committee, and were ordered to 'settle up' and leave town within five days, after which time the committee would not be answerable for their lives. The party fled, and the committee, on Thursday, in the sum of $500 each for their appearance before the committee the next day, for further examination. Meantime an examination of their stock and account books proved the statements of Strickland and Upson to have been utterly false. Instead of these two or three copies having accidentally got in their store with a lot of second hand books, as stated by them, their press letter-book contained an order, in Mr. Strickland's hand-writing, for fifty copies of the 'Life and Writings of Douglass,' to be printed and distributed to the accused appeared before the committee, and were ordered to 'settle up' and leave town within five days, after which time the committee would not be answerable for their lives. The party fled, and the committee, on Thursday, in the sum of $500 each for their appearance before the committee the next day, for further examination. Meantime an examination of their stock and account books proved the statements of Strickland and Upson to have been utterly false. Instead of these two or three copies having accidentally got in their store with a lot of second hand books, as stated by them, their press letter-book contained an order, in Mr. Strickland's hand-writing, for fifty copies of the 'Life and Writings of Douglass,' to be printed and distributed to the accused appeared before the committee, and were ordered to 'settle up' and leave town within five days, after which time the committee would not be answerable for their lives. The party fled, and the committee, on Thursday, in the sum of $500 each for their appearance before the committee the next day, for further examination. Meantime an examination of their stock and account books proved the statements of Strickland and Upson to have been utterly false. Instead of these two or three copies having accidentally got in their store with a lot of second hand books, as stated by them, their press letter-book contained an order, in Mr. Strickland's hand-writing, for fifty copies of the 'Life and Writings of Douglass,' to be printed and distributed to the accused appeared before the committee, and were ordered to 'settle up' and leave town within five days, after which time the committee would not be answerable for their lives. The party fled, and the committee, on Thursday, in the sum of $500 each for their appearance before the committee the next day, for further examination. Meantime an examination of their stock and account books proved the statements of Strickland and Upson to have been utterly false. Instead of these two or three copies having accidentally got in their store with a lot of second hand books, as stated by them, their press letter-book contained an order, in Mr. Strickland's hand-writing, for fifty copies of the 'Life and Writings of Douglass,' to be printed and distributed to the accused appeared before the committee, and were ordered to 'settle up' and leave town within five days, after which time the committee would not be answerable for their lives. The party fled, and the committee, on Thursday, in the sum of $500 each for their appearance before the committee the next day, for further examination. Meantime an examination of their stock and account books proved the statements of Strickland and Upson to have been utterly false. Instead of these two or three copies having accidentally got in their store with a lot of second hand books, as stated by them, their press letter-book contained an order, in Mr. Strickland's hand-writing, for fifty copies of the 'Life and Writings of Douglass,' to be printed and distributed to the accused appeared before the committee, and were ordered to 'settle up' and leave town within five days, after which time the committee would not be answerable for their lives. The party fled, and the committee, on Thursday, in the sum of $500 each for their appearance before the committee the next day, for further examination. Meantime an examination of their stock and account books proved the statements of Strickland and Upson to have been utterly false. Instead of these two or three copies having accidentally got in their store with a lot of second hand books, as stated by them, their press letter-book contained an order, in Mr. Strickland's hand-writing, for fifty copies of the 'Life and Writings of Douglass,' to be printed and distributed to the accused appeared before the committee, and were ordered to 'settle up' and leave town within five days, after which time the committee would not be answerable for their lives. The party fled, and the committee, on Thursday, in the sum of $500 each for their appearance before the committee the next day, for further examination. Meantime an examination of their stock and account books proved the statements of Strickland and Upson to have been utterly false. Instead of these two or three copies having accidentally got in their store with a lot of second hand books, as stated by them, their press letter-book contained an order, in Mr. Strickland's hand-writing, for fifty copies of the 'Life and Writings of Douglass,' to be printed and distributed to the accused appeared before the committee, and were ordered to 'settle up' and leave town within five days, after which time the committee would not be answerable for their lives. The party fled, and the committee, on Thursday, in the sum of $500 each for their appearance before the committee the next day, for further examination. Meantime an examination of their stock and account books proved the statements of Strickland and Upson to have been utterly false. Instead of these two or three copies having accidentally got in their store with a lot of second hand books, as stated by them, their press letter-book contained an order, in Mr. Strickland's hand-writing, for fifty copies of the 'Life and Writings of Douglass,' to be printed and distributed to the accused appeared before the committee, and were ordered to 'settle up' and leave town within five days, after which time the committee would not be answerable for their lives. The party fled, and the committee, on Thursday, in the sum of $500 each for their appearance before the committee the next day, for further examination. Meantime an examination of their stock and account books proved the statements of Strickland and Upson to have been utterly false. Instead of these two or three copies having accidentally got in their store with a lot of second hand books, as stated by them, their press letter-book contained an order, in Mr. Strickland's hand-writing, for fifty copies of the 'Life and Writings of Douglass,' to be printed and distributed to the accused appeared before the committee, and were ordered to 'settle up' and leave town within five days, after which time the committee would not be answerable for their lives. The party fled, and the committee, on Thursday, in the sum of $500 each for their appearance before the committee the next day, for further examination. Meantime an examination of their stock and account books proved the statements of Strickland and Upson to have been utterly false. Instead of these two or three copies having accidentally got in their store with a lot of second hand books, as stated by them, their press letter-book contained an order, in Mr. Strickland's hand-writing, for fifty copies of the 'Life and Writings of Douglass,' to be printed and distributed to the accused appeared before the committee, and were ordered to 'settle up' and leave town within five days, after which time the committee would not be answerable for their lives. The party fled, and the committee, on Thursday, in the sum of $500 each for their appearance before the committee the next day, for further examination. Meantime an examination of their stock and account books proved the statements of Strickland and Upson to have been utterly false. Instead of these two or three copies having accidentally got in their store with a lot of second hand books, as stated by them, their press letter-book contained an order, in Mr. Strickland's hand-writing, for fifty copies of the 'Life and Writings of Douglass,' to be printed and distributed to the accused appeared before the committee, and were ordered to 'settle up' and leave town within five days, after which time the committee would not be answerable for their lives. The party fled, and the committee, on Thursday, in the sum of $500 each for their appearance before the committee the next day, for further examination. Meantime an examination of their stock and account books proved the statements of Strickland and Upson to have been utterly false. Instead of these two or three copies having accidentally got in their store with a lot of second hand books, as stated by them, their press letter-book contained an order, in Mr. Strickland's hand-writing, for fifty copies of the 'Life and Writings of Douglass,' to be printed and distributed to the accused appeared before the committee, and were ordered to 'settle up' and leave town within five days, after which time the committee would not be answerable for their lives. The party fled, and the committee, on Thursday, in the sum of $500 each for their appearance before the committee the next day, for further examination. Meantime an examination of their stock and account books proved the statements of Strickland and Upson to have been utterly false. Instead of these two or three copies having accidentally got in their store with a lot of second hand books, as stated by them, their press letter-book contained an order, in Mr. Strickland's hand-writing, for fifty copies of the 'Life and Writings of Douglass,' to be printed and distributed to the accused appeared before the committee, and were ordered to 'settle up' and leave town within five days, after which time the committee would not be answerable for their lives. The party fled, and the committee, on Thursday, in the sum of $500 each for their appearance before the committee the next day, for further examination. Meantime an examination of their stock and account books proved the statements of Strickland and Upson to have been utterly false. Instead of these two or three copies having accidentally got in their store with a lot of second hand books, as stated by them, their press letter-book contained an order, in Mr. Strickland's hand-writing, for fifty copies of the 'Life and Writings of Douglass,' to be printed and distributed to the accused appeared before the committee, and were ordered to 'settle up' and leave town within five days, after which time the committee would not be answerable for their lives. The party fled, and the committee, on Thursday, in the sum of $500 each for their appearance before the committee the next day, for further examination. Meantime an examination of their stock and account books proved the statements of Strickland and Upson to have been utterly false. Instead of these two or three copies having accidentally got in their store with a lot of second hand books, as stated by them, their press letter-book contained an order, in Mr. Strickland's hand-writing, for fifty copies of the 'Life and Writings of Douglass,' to be printed and distributed to the accused appeared before the committee, and were ordered to 'settle up' and leave town within five days, after which time the committee would not be answerable for their lives. The party fled, and the committee, on Thursday, in the sum of $500 each for their appearance before the committee the next day, for further examination. Meantime an examination of their stock and account books proved the statements of Strickland and Upson to have been utterly false. Instead of these two or three copies having accidentally got in their store with a lot of second hand books, as stated by them, their press letter-book contained an order, in Mr. Strickland's hand-writing, for fifty copies of the 'Life and Writings of Douglass,' to be printed and distributed to the accused appeared before the committee, and were ordered to 'settle up' and leave town within five days, after which time the committee would not be answerable for their lives. The party fled, and the committee, on Thursday, in the sum of $500 each for their appearance before the committee the next day, for further examination. Meantime an examination of their stock and account books proved the statements of Strickland and Upson to have been utterly false. Instead of these two or three copies having accidentally got in their store with a lot of second hand books, as stated by them, their press letter-book contained an order, in Mr. Strickland's hand-writing, for fifty copies of the 'Life and Writings of Douglass,' to be printed and distributed to the accused appeared before the committee, and were ordered to 'settle up' and leave town within five days, after which time the committee would not be answerable for their lives. The party fled, and the committee, on Thursday, in the sum of $500 each for their appearance before the committee the next day, for further examination. Meantime an examination of their stock and account books proved the statements of Strickland and Upson to have been utterly false. Instead of these two or three copies having accidentally got in their store with a lot of second hand books, as stated by them, their press letter-book contained an order, in Mr. Strickland's hand-writing, for fifty copies of the 'Life and Writings of Douglass,' to be printed and distributed to the accused appeared before the committee, and were ordered to 'settle up' and leave town within five days, after which time the committee would not be answerable for their lives. The party fled, and the committee, on Thursday, in the sum of $500 each for their appearance before the committee the next day, for further examination. Meantime an examination of their stock and account books proved the statements of Strickland and Upson to have been utterly false. Instead of these two or three copies having accidentally got in their store with a lot of second hand books, as stated by them, their press letter-book contained an order, in Mr. Strickland's hand-writing, for fifty copies of the 'Life and Writings of Douglass,' to be printed and distributed to the accused appeared before the committee, and were ordered to 'settle up' and leave town within five days, after which time the committee would not be answerable for their lives. The party fled, and the committee, on Thursday, in the sum of $500 each for their appearance before the committee the next day, for further examination. Meantime an examination of their stock and account books proved the statements of Strickland and Upson to have been utterly false. Instead of these two or three copies having accidentally got in their store with a lot of second hand books, as stated by them, their press letter-book contained an order, in Mr. Strickland's hand-writing, for fifty copies of the 'Life and Writings of Douglass,' to be printed and distributed to the accused appeared before the committee, and were ordered to 'settle up' and leave town within five days, after which time the committee would not be answerable for their lives. The party fled, and the committee, on Thursday, in the sum of $500 each for their appearance before the committee the next day, for further examination. Meantime an examination of their stock and account books proved the statements of Strickland and Upson to have been utterly false. Instead of these two or three copies having accidentally got in their store with a lot of second hand books, as stated by them, their press letter-book contained an order, in Mr. Strickland's hand-writing, for fifty copies of the 'Life and Writings of Douglass,' to be printed and distributed to the accused appeared before the committee, and were ordered to 'settle up' and leave town within five days, after which time the committee would not be answerable for their lives. The party fled, and the committee, on Thursday, in the sum of $500 each for their appearance before the committee the next day, for further examination. Meantime an examination of their stock and account books proved the statements of Strickland and Upson to have been utterly false. Instead of these two or three copies having accidentally got in their store with a lot of second hand books, as stated by them, their press letter-book contained an order, in Mr. Strickland's hand-writing, for fifty copies of the 'Life and Writings of Douglass,' to be printed and distributed to the accused appeared before the committee, and were ordered to 'settle up' and leave town within five days, after which time the committee would not be answerable for their lives. The party fled, and the committee, on Thursday, in the sum of $500 each for their appearance before the committee the next day, for further examination. Meantime an examination of their stock and account books proved the statements of Strickland and Upson to have been utterly false. Instead of these two or three copies having accidentally got in their store with a lot of second hand books, as stated by them, their press letter-book contained an order, in Mr. Strickland's hand-writing, for fifty copies of the 'Life and Writings of Douglass,' to be printed and distributed to the accused appeared before the committee, and were ordered to 'settle up' and leave town within five days, after which time the committee would not be answerable for their lives. The party fled, and the committee, on Thursday, in the sum of $500 each for their appearance before the committee the next day, for further examination. Meantime an examination of their stock and account books proved the statements of Strickland and Upson to have been utterly false. Instead of these two or three copies having accidentally got in their store with a lot of second hand books, as stated by them, their press letter-book contained an order, in Mr. Strickland's hand-writing, for fifty copies of the 'Life and Writings of Douglass,' to be printed and distributed to the accused appeared before the committee, and were ordered to 'settle up' and leave town within five days, after which time the committee would not be answerable for their lives. The party fled, and the committee, on Thursday, in the sum of $500 each for their appearance before the committee the next day, for further examination. Meantime an examination of their stock and account books proved the statements of Strickland and Upson to have been utterly false. Instead of these two or three copies having accidentally got in their store with a lot of second hand books, as stated by them, their press letter-book contained an order, in Mr. Strickland's hand-writing, for fifty copies of the 'Life and Writings of Douglass,' to be printed and distributed to the accused appeared before the committee, and were ordered to 'settle up' and leave town within five days, after which time the committee would not be answerable for their lives. The party fled, and the committee, on Thursday, in the sum of $500 each for their appearance before the committee the next day, for further examination. Meantime an examination of their stock and account books proved the statements of Strickland and Upson to have been utterly false. Instead of these two or three copies having accidentally got in their store with a lot of second hand books, as stated by them, their press letter-book contained an order, in Mr. Strickland's hand-writing, for fifty copies of the 'Life and Writings of Douglass,' to be printed and distributed to the accused appeared before the committee, and were ordered to 'settle up' and leave town within five days, after which time the committee would not be answerable for their lives. The party fled, and the committee, on Thursday, in the sum of $500 each for their appearance before the committee the next day, for further examination. Meantime an examination of their stock and account books proved the statements of Strickland and Upson to have been utterly false. Instead of these two or three copies having accidentally got in their store with a lot of second hand books, as stated by them, their press letter-book contained an order, in Mr. Strickland's hand-writing, for fifty copies of the 'Life and Writings of Douglass,' to be printed and distributed to the accused appeared before the committee, and were ordered to 'settle up' and leave town within five days, after which time the committee would not be answerable for their lives. The party fled, and the committee, on Thursday, in the sum of $500 each for their appearance before the committee the next day, for further examination. Meantime an examination of their stock and account books proved the statements of Strickland and Upson to have been utterly false. Instead of these two or three copies having accidentally got in their store with a lot of second hand books, as stated by them, their press letter-book contained an order, in Mr. Strickland's hand-writing, for fifty copies of the 'Life and Writings of Douglass,' to be printed and distributed to the accused appeared before the committee, and were ordered to 'settle up' and leave town within five days, after which time the committee would not be answerable for their lives. The party fled, and the committee, on Thursday, in the sum of $500 each for their appearance before the committee the next day, for further examination. Meantime an examination of their stock and account books proved the statements of Strickland and Upson to have been utterly false. Instead of these two or three copies having accidentally got in their store with a lot of second hand books, as stated by them, their press letter-book contained an order, in Mr. Strickland's hand-writing, for fifty copies of the 'Life and Writings of Douglass,' to be printed and distributed to the accused appeared before the committee, and were ordered to 'settle up' and leave town within five days, after which time the committee would not be answerable for their lives. The party fled, and the committee, on Thursday, in the sum of $500 each for their appearance before the committee the next day, for further examination. Meantime an examination of their stock and account books proved the statements of Strickland and Upson to have been utterly false. Instead of these two or three copies having accidentally got in their store with a lot of second hand books, as stated by them, their press letter-book contained an order, in Mr. Strickland's hand-writing, for fifty copies of the 'Life and Writings of Douglass,' to be printed and distributed to the accused appeared before the committee, and were ordered to 'settle up' and leave town within five days, after which time the committee would not be answerable for their lives. The party fled, and the committee, on Thursday, in the sum of $500 each for their appearance before the committee the next day, for further examination. Meantime an examination of their stock and account books proved the statements of Strickland and Upson to have been utterly false. Instead of these two or three copies having accidentally got in their store with a lot of second hand books, as stated by them, their press letter-book contained an order, in Mr. Strickland's hand-writing, for fifty copies of the 'Life and Writings of Douglass,' to be printed and distributed to the accused appeared before the committee, and were ordered to 'settle up' and leave town within five days, after which time the committee would not be answerable for their lives. The party fled, and the committee, on Thursday, in the sum of $500 each for their appearance before the committee the next day, for further examination. Meantime an examination of their stock and account books proved the statements of Strickland and Upson to have been utterly false. Instead of these two or three copies having accidentally got in their store with a lot of second hand books, as stated by them, their press letter-book contained an order, in Mr. Strickland's hand-writing, for fifty copies of the 'Life and Writings of Douglass,' to be printed and distributed to the accused appeared before the committee, and were ordered to 'settle up' and leave town within five days, after which time the committee would not be answerable for their lives. The party fled, and the committee, on Thursday, in the sum of $500 each for their appearance before the committee the next day, for further examination. Meantime an examination of their stock and account books proved the statements of Strickland and Upson to have been utterly false. Instead of these two or three copies having accidentally got in their store with a lot of second hand books, as stated by them, their press letter-book contained an order, in Mr. Strickland's hand-writing, for fifty copies of the 'Life and Writings of Douglass,' to be printed and distributed to the accused appeared before the committee, and were ordered to 'settle up' and leave town within five days, after which time the committee would not be answerable for their lives. The party fled, and the committee, on Thursday, in the sum of $500 each for their appearance before the committee the next day, for further examination. Meantime an examination of their stock and account books proved the statements of Strickland and Upson to have been utterly false. Instead of these two or three copies having accidentally got in their store with a lot of second hand books, as stated by them, their press letter-book contained an order, in Mr. Strickland's hand-writing, for fifty copies of the 'Life and Writings of Douglass,' to be printed and distributed to the accused appeared before the committee, and were ordered to 'settle up' and leave town within five days, after which time the committee would not be answerable for their lives. The party fled, and the committee, on Thursday, in the sum of $500 each for their appearance before the committee the next day, for further examination. Meantime an examination of their stock and account books proved the statements of Strickland and Upson to have been utterly false. Instead of these two or three copies having accidentally got in their store with a lot of second hand books, as stated by them, their press letter-book contained an order, in Mr. Strickland's hand-writing, for fifty copies of the 'Life and Writings of Douglass,' to be printed and distributed to the accused appeared before the committee, and were ordered to 'settle up' and leave town within five days, after which time the committee would not be answerable for their lives. The party fled, and the committee, on Thursday, in the sum of $500 each for their appearance before the committee the next day, for further examination. Meantime an examination of their stock and account books proved the statements of Strickland and Upson to have been utterly false. Instead of these two or three copies having accidentally got in their store with a lot of second hand books, as stated by them, their press letter-book contained an order, in Mr. Strickland's hand-writing, for fifty copies of the 'Life and Writings of Douglass,' to be printed and distributed to the accused appeared before the committee, and were ordered to 'settle up' and leave town within five days, after which time the committee would not be answerable for their lives. The party fled, and the committee, on Thursday, in the sum of $500 each for their appearance before the committee the next day, for further examination. Meantime an examination of their stock and account books proved the statements of Strickland and Upson to have been utterly false. Instead of these two or three copies having accidentally got in their store with a lot of second hand books, as stated by them, their press letter-book contained an order, in Mr. Strickland's hand-writing, for fifty copies of the 'Life and Writings of Douglass,' to be printed and distributed to the accused appeared before the committee, and were ordered to 'settle up' and leave town within five days, after which time the committee would not be answerable for their lives. The party fled, and the committee, on Thursday, in the sum of $500 each for their appearance before the committee the next day, for further examination. Meantime an examination of their stock and account books proved the statements of Strickland and Upson to have been utterly false. Instead of these two or three copies having accidentally got in their store with a lot of second hand books, as stated by them, their press letter-book contained an order, in Mr. Strickland's hand-writing, for fifty copies of the 'Life and Writings of Douglass,' to be printed and distributed to the accused appeared before the committee, and were ordered to 'settle up' and leave town within five days,