carded her for a new face that had caught his fancy and won his affections. This new favorite he conveyed to the hotel in question, where both remained as man and wife !

The forsaken lady, learning the place and position of ther successful rival, boldly took lodgings at the same hotel, and seeking her opportunity last Monday morning, as soon as her faithless lover left the house, she entered the room where her rival lay in bed, and with a large knife-cut off one of her breasts! She then plunged the knife into the wounded woman's boson, with such force that she could with diff --. culty wrench it out. The piercing screams of the assailed party soon attracted a crowd of servants and boarders, when the would be murderess was arrested, and her victim placed in the hands of a surgeon. A bank book con taining upwards of four thousand dollars was found upon the person of the culprit. Such extraordinary efforts have been made by the police and others to keep the whole affair from the public, on account of the respectability of the merchant alluded to, that we found it impossible to obtain the names of the parties implicated, and we withhold the name of the hotel for obvious reasons.

A LONG CHASE AFTER A FUGITIVE A young man named Allen forged a check for $3000 and received $1000 in cash on it at Marseilles, Ills. He then left, but when the forgery was discovered, pursued him to St. Louis, Mobile, back to young man like Mr. Choate ! New York, then to Sandford, Maine, then to Council Bluffs, (Ia.,) to Nebraska, Kan sas, back to Council Bluffs, to the interior of lowa, to St. Louis, and finally to Boston, where he arrested the fugitive and brought bim back to Illinois.

MR. BUCHANAN.

This distinguished gentleman passed through our place on Monday evening week, on his way home from Bedford Springs. Although his arrival was not expected, the fact of his being at the depot flew like wild-fire-and during the few minutes he remained, he was surrounded by scores of our citizens, who were eager to pay their respects, and have the honor of taking the great statesn an by the hand. Mr. Buchanan is in excellent health, and we think looks more vigorous than he did before he went to England. From his appearance, we judge that, after serving ing the next four years in the White House. he will be spared to enjoy a number of

BRIEF BUT IMPORTANT NEWS.

In the news received by the Asia the following important item is briefly stated. The Emperor Louis Napoleon has despatched from Plombieres a circular to the divine, "If it had been by that, the world Prefects, ordering them, in positive and peremtory terms, to allow to all the Protfree undisturbed exercise of their religion. He desires that he may hear of no more persecution of the Protestants, and that they may never again be disturbed in their worship.

This is emphatic and from the characteristics of the French Emperor we know it will be carried out.
