DEMOCRATIC MEETING.

The Democrats of the town of Wilmington are requested to meet at the Count House, on MON-DAY Evening next, at 7 o'clock. A procession will be formed and addresses delivered at various points. THE YOUNG DEMOCRATS.

We learn that there was a fine meeting of the democrats of this town on Wednesday evening last, and that the speeches made on the occasion were highly creditable to the talents and judgment of the speakers.

THE CLOSE. We consider the campaign, so far as the press is concerned, as now closed. Under this belief we have no disposition to say anything which may increase the excitement, without doing any good for our cause.

We have said our say. In reviewing the course we have pursued the past few months, we can recollect of no word that we would wish to blot from our editorial matter, nor of any line that we would desire erased, from that extracted from other papers.

We are satisfied in our own mind and heart, that, in our feeble way, we have done our duty to God and our country in holding up to view and approbation the principles of the Great National Democracy, and in urging the high and indisputable claims of Mr. Buchanan to the confidence and esteem of his countrymen; and foreshadowing the great blessings that will come in his election.

Never before nor since the defeat of Gen. Scorr, have we, from the beginning of the contest, felt so strong faith in the result, as we have on this occasion. When our present excellent President Pierce was in the field, we insisted, contrary to the ardent and indignant demonstrations around us, that the defeat of Scorr would be overwhelming, as it was and should have been, for reasperiod in The Commercial.

know what is in the future, or what "a day may bring forth;" but our opinion is the same now as at the beginning, viz: that BUCHANAN will be his best friends and most ardent admirers. The Union, we believe, will thus be saved-the constitutional Union-for there can be no other; and ther will the restoration of confidence among men, revive the busy hum of industry, and restore commercial as well as all other business and trades, to the prosperity which has for past years made us what we are-a great a powerful and a

And after all thing was handsomely got up, and that there was is over, there will be a long rest for the printers the promise of impunity likely to deter men from no disorder or unseemly demonstration. Several and banner painters, who are now tolling by night addresses were delivered. We see no harm in all and by day. What a vast amount of electioneerthis, and do not object to this innocent mode of enjoyment on the part of our political opponents. But no matter. MARINE DISASTER. A letter from Baltimore, dated the 27th ult. to the Editor of the New York Herald says:

The ship Constitution went ashore near Hole in the Wall, Cape Fear, North Carolina, on Friday night last. She was partly dismantled, and has been abandoned. Our readers know that this is one of the best

We state, for the information of our friends a broad, that the ship Constitution, named above. was a miniature ship, carried in the Democratic procession on Friday night, and the "Hole in the Wall" is a name appropriated to a House in the Southern part of the town, visited by certain persons for purposes best known to themselves.

COME UP TO THE LINE. We trust that every friend of Southern Rights

-certainly every one who has come out for Bu-CHANAN and BRECKINRIDGE, will come up to the line on Tuesday next, and help to swell the avalanche now impending over the heads of those who have arrayed themselves against the Federal Constitution-those who have gathered up a host, composed of all the isms and schisms on rec-

LETTERS.

Some very interesting letters will be found our last page, from gentlemen who were invited to attend the late Democratic celebration. They convey much instruction and express a purely patriotic spirit.

"A FEW QUESTIONS."

We invite our readers, of all parties, to read the article in another column, headed as above; copjed from the Alexandsia, Va. Sentinel. These questions may be considered with profit and without offense, and, perhaps; disabuse the minds of many in segard to the facts connected with the aubjects referred to.

Why was it so consoling to yeu that you could scarce stifle a feeling of joy at the defeat of for higher wages, finding that eighty-seven cents the Democrats in the elections of Maine, Iowa and Vermont? And why do so many of your papers apparently delight to depreciate Mr. Buchanan's strength at the North ?

2 If these elections prove, as you say, that Mr. Buchanan, although his friends showed a very proportion, to Buffalo; in hopes that the Great large vote, is weak and cannot be elected, what do they prove of Mr. Fillmore, whose friends did not dare even to run tickets, and have shown us

If the Fillmore men, by combining, as they are doing, with the Fremont men in Pensylvania, in the ensuing October election, should defeat the Buchanan candidates, will that give you any pleasure, and will it prove that Southern men should regard Mr. Fillmore either as more orthodox or more popular than Mr. Buchanan I

4. If Mr. Buchanan has shown greather strength than Mr. Fillmore, why should not the conservative strength unite upon him? Is it not just?

5. If you think the more numerous Buchanan men will give up their choice and be carried over to Fillmore with less loss than would attend the transfer of the less numerous Fillmore men to Buchanan, what is the necessary inference from such an admission as to the nationality of the one season, for the expensive paraphernalia of two parties?
