N. Y. Correspondence of the Commercial. New York, Nov. 25, 1856.

We are cosmopolitan in our holidays here, as in almost everything else. This great polyglot people of Gotham, seems to adopt the peculiar holidays of each tribe of its people, and, after all, it never seems to gerholiday enough. We celebrate here the Yankee Thanksgiving with the orthodox accompaniment of turkeys and pum kin pie; on "Paas" day, we eat eggs boiled hard, in true Dutch style; on Christmas, we hoist the German gift-tree, and "St. Patrick's day in the mornin'" is also getting to be a universal institution. In fact, people are fond of increasing the number of those appointed days, on which they may excuse themselves for unwonted departures from steady habits, by asserting that "It only comes once a year." But Thanksgiving has never been universally nor very generally observed in New York, until within the last few years. Yesterday was a perfect triumph for the Yankee holiday. Everybody shut up shop, and staid at home with wife and children, or more orthodoxly still, turned out to hear a two hours surmon. Services were held in most of the churches. The Jews observed the day by religious services in accordance with the request of the Governor, and for the first time. The proclamations have of marriage to the lady in question. Their hitherto been addressed to nominal christinns only.

As for the non-church-going and un-do-

On Monday of last week Dr. Bogardue came to the city and put up at the Girard House, in Chambers street, and on retiring complained to Mr. Davis, with whom he was well acquainted, that he was quite unwell. The following day, not feeling able to leave his bed, Dr. Sayre and other emin ent physicians were called in and consulted. After several days' attendance, they come to the conclusion that there was omething more than disease of the body n the case of their patient, and they intimated to him the fact, whereupon Dr. Bogardus frankly informed his medical advisers that he was deeply attached to a young lady, to a hom he was to be married on Tuesday, (yesterday;) that their marriage had been twice frustrated by death, and that he now feared that his own illness would prove a third interposition to his happiness.

Dr. Sayer perceiving the sad effect which he fear of another disappointment had upon his mind, suggested the propriety of sending a telegrophic despatch to Miss Hamilton to come to New York without telay, for the purpose of carrying out the wishes of Dr. Bogardus. The despatch was accordingly sent, and Miss Hamilton arrived about four o'clock on Sunday mornig, and, as early as possible, some of their riends residing in Newark were sent for o attend the marriage ceremony. At 1 clock the same day Dr. Sayre visited his patient, and found him so much better that he considered that it would be unnecessuy for him to attend again. At half past o'clock the parties were united, and Dr. Bogardus expressed his thankfulness at being enabled to carry out his, intentions friends then retired for a few moments for he purpose of partaking of some refreshments. He then remarked that he felt so much better that he would get up, and at once proceeded to raise himself in bed .-His bride perceiving his efforts to rise, went to assist him, only to discover that he was expiring in her arms. She instantly sprang to the bell and rang for Assistance, but before their friends could reach the cursion. Ben was delighted; and immediately set about to make preparations for the journey. Going home he told his people that he was off to Georgia, where he was to have twenty dollars a month dating from the 3d March, 1843. He is and an easy situation.

Uncle Josh, in his slow, distinct manner of speaking' "He's jest the very man for me. I've got a situation that will suit him exactly.'

The questioners began to despair of etting any further satisfaction, when Ben came in with his best suit on, and a buncle in his hand ready to start early in the morning for Georgia.

"Ben," enquired one of his acquaintances, "what in creation is you gwine to do down in Georgia ?"

"Oh, you never Mind," replied Ben, I'm gwine in the morning with that ere gentleman. He can tell you what I'm gwine for."

Then Ben saw some one outside to whom he wanted to communicate his good fortune, and he was soon surrounded by a crowd about the door, some of whom cautioned him, telling him that he did'nt know but what the man he was going with was a kidnapper, or perhaps he would work him to death in a two-hand saw-mill.

Ben began to feel a little curious, and he party agreed with him that he should know what was to be his imployment before he went any further in the business. The crowd went into the bar-room, where Uncle Josh was enjoying his second pipe by the fire, determined to be satisfied about the matter. After keeping them in suspense some time, Uncle Josh rose up, knocked the ashes from his pipe, and said-

"Well, gentlemen, the lact is my old woman is getting rather poorly, and I want him to set in the fire corner for her to break bark over his head,"

Ben, who had been sitting on a bench, prang to his feet as if he had been shot. A loud laugh burst from the party, but above all could be heard Ben's curses, as he sprang into the middle of the floor, threw down his bundle, and began rearing and prancing like an enraged catamount. His linsey coat was soon peeled, sleeves rolled up-and "goozle" in a twinkling.

"Dad fetch ver everlastin' picter to dignation!" exclaimed Ben, striking his brawny fists, and making the palms of his fet crack together as he sprung 5 TONS one inch. at least two feet from the floor-"your 5 " 11 and 11 inch. Uncle Josh was taken by surprise. when he saw so much life in the dwart, and began to feel apprehensive for his safety when he found it took three of t'e best men in the room to hold him .-It was several minutes, and not until the proprietor of the house had interfered, that Ben's rage was at all appeased. After he had become little calm, Uncle Josh made a rather awkward explanation of what he meant only for a little fun, and by treating the whole party to peach and honey and asking Ben's pardon, the matter was amicably settled. But it was more than any of Ben Bunch's triends ever dared to do to ask him about that easy situation month and found "

From the National Intelligencer. THE OLDEST SENATOR.

The death of Mr. Clayton has very natirally directed attention to the members of the United States Senate, and to the point of seniority. Mr. Crittenden, of Kentucky, is now the "Father" of that distinguished body, having entered it on the 4th of March, 1817. It will be seen, however, on reference to the record, that this now veteran Senator did not exhibit any great degree of fundacess for the public councils, high as the position of a Senator has ever been con-Hon. Richard M. Johnson, was appointed on the 10th December, 1819.

Mr. Crittenden was again in the Senate, his service dating from 3d March, 1835 -He again resigned before the end of his term, and his successor, the Hon. James T. Morehead, entered the Senate on the 20th February, 1841. Mr. Crittenden :hen succeeded Mr. Clay, who had resigned on the 25th February, 1842, and continued until the 3d of March, 1849. He was elected Governor of Kentucky, but relinquished that trust in July, 1850, to enter Mr. Fillmore's Cabinet as Attorney General. Mr. Crittenden's present term commenced with the 3d of March, 1855, making his whole service about eighteen years. The Hon. lames A Pearce, of Maryland, is next in the order of seniority, his service now in his term. The Hon. Lewis Cass commenced with 4th March, 1845, and resigned in 1848, when nominated for the Presidency. He is in his second term, which will be closed on the 3d of March,

None of the other Senators now in service date further back than 3d March, 1845. The seniors stand thus: Mr. Bright, of 25, 1847, Mr. Hunter, 4th March, 1847 Mr. Hale, of New Hampshire, 4th March, 1847; Mr. Bell, of Tennessee, 4th March, 1847; Mr. Douglas, of Illinois, 4th March, cember 11th, 1848; and Mr. Seward, of

A great ado has been made about an outrage alleged to have been committed at Norfolk, Va., upon Capt. Stanuard, of Fair Haven, Conn., in consequence of his having attempted to vote for Fremont. The Norfolk Herald disposes of the matter as

The fact, as we have them from the City Sergeant, Mr. Wm. T. Hendren, are as fol-

When Stannard handed in his ticket to the Sergeant, he at the same time called out "Fremont and Dayton." The Sergeant repeated the names and handed the ticket to the Commissioners, without remark. The vote was challenged by an outsider, who insisted that Stannard was not a resident of the city. Being questioned by the Commissioners on that point, he stated that he had been a resident of Norfolk for the last five years, carrying on the business of a huckster, and although his family had remained in Fair Haven, and he was a Connecticut man, he always considered Norfolk his place of residence. On opening his ticket, however, instead of the names of fifteen electors, it contained only the following:

" John C. Fremont, of California, for President. William L. Dayton, of Delaware, for

receive it; but it was entered on the back of the poll.

As Stannard had called out the names of Fremont and Dayton in an audible voice when he handed in his ticket, the Sergeant considerately directed a police officer to attend him through the crowd outside, and beyond the bounds of the court yard, to protect him from possible insult of injurybut the precaution was altogether unneccesary, as no one manifested the slightest inclination to molest him; although it was evident to all that the man had given such a vote in a spirit of provocation and bravado. As this statement will be sworn to by the Sergeant if required, we would suggest to the editors of the N. Y. Herald and the New Haven Palladium, whether t ey do not owe it to our community, and to the but for the interference of the crowd, majesty of truth, both of which have been he would have had Uncle Josh by the most vilely outraged through their respective papers in this matter, to transfer it to their columns.

"SOUTHERN SENTINEL,"

A Democratic and Miscellaneous Journal, to be published weekly, at Wilson, N. C .. THE existing condition of political parties, and of partizan strife, maturally suggests the establishing of such a journal as the "Southern Sentinel" proposes to become. The present, indeed, is a crisis in our political history, never witnessed beore. The Constitution has been invaded; the laws trampled and spat upon; religious liberty assailed ballot boxes broken and burnt; the landmarks of our political ancestry partially effaced; the wisdom derived from a time-honored experience unseated; strange and questionable men have pushed into high positions; and fanaticism, unchained from its axc and its fuggot piles in the North, is heard to how among us in the South. These evils, so far as it humble abilities shall serve.

Will endeavor to arrest. It will endeaver to inculcate a reverence for the laws as they exist, and for the Constitution, as it has been interpreted by the vise men of the past and by the Fathers of the Democratic faith. It will defend not only political but an included but and includ of politics, devote space to literary topics, original and selected, as well as to miscellaneous subjects, which shallinclude Agricultural and the latest Commercial intelligence. Many troubled with ringing in the ears and head when asleen, great nervousness, being alarmed at when asleep, great nervousness, being alarmed at sudden sounds, and bashfuness, with frequent blushing, attended sometimes with derangement o mind, were cured immediately.

A CERTAIN DISEASE.

When the misguided and imprudent votary of pleasure finds he has imbibed the seeds of his painful disease, it too often happens that snill-disease of shame, or dread of discovery, determined sense of shame, or dread of discovery, determined to the contraction of the contraction him from applying to those who, from and respectability, can alone befriend him, delas ing till the constitutional symptoms of this horri-disease make their appearance, such as ulcerate sore throat diseased note, noctural pains in the head and limbs, dimness of sight, dealness, node on the shin bones and arms, blotches on the head faceand extremities, progressing with frightful ra-pidity, till at last, the palate of the mouth or the hones of the nose [all in and the palate of the mouth or the bones of the nose fall in. and 'the victim of the awful disease becomes a horrid object of commis-scration, till death puts a period to his dreadful suf-ferings, by sending him to "that bourne from whence no traveller returns." To such therefore Dr. Johnston pledges himself to preserve the most inviolable secrety; and, from his extensive practice in the first Hospitals of Europe and America, he can confidently recommend a safe and speedy cure to the unfortunate victim of this horrid disease. It is a melancholy fact, that thousands fall victims to this dreadful complaint, owing to the unskilfulness of Ignorant pretenders, who, by the use of that deadly poison, mercury, tulu the con-

TAKE PARTICULAR NOTICE. Dr. J. addresses all those who have injured them selves by private and improper indulgences.
