THE STORM OF THURSDAY NIGHT.

Mosile, May 2.- We are happy to learn city was visited on Thursday night did not extend far in the interior. At Citronelle and vicinity there was a steady but genile rein during the night, accompanied by a stiff breeze from the south-east, with continous heavy thunder in he west and south, 8 00 and visited flashes of lightning, but there 12 00 was nothing like a flood or freshet. The Ten lines or less make a square. If an adver- rouds and grounds were not washed; nor were the small creeks and branches but All alvertisements are payable at the time of little swollen. The Citronelle train started for the city as usual yesterday morning, and can e on without molestation or hind rance until it reached Mauvila, wi ere it waited for the Mississippi train from the c.ty. That train, however, did not arrive, but in its stead came a messenger with intelligence that the track was washed away at the eight mile creek bridge, and that i would be impossible for the train to pass This was the first intimation the conductor and passengers had of a freshet. At eight mile creek the train stopped, and foun t ere in waiting, Mr. Fleming, the Chief Engineer of the road, who gave the first full er the property is owned by the advertiser or by other persons. These are excluded by the term and in the city. The Citronelle train corn report of the flood at this end of the road ed back for Citronelle, taking on board Mr Fleming, and conveying home most of the passeng rs. A few, however, concludeto try and make their way to the city, a mong whom was the writer of this, who, after walking to Whistler, and pastaking of the hospitalities of Mr. Winans, the gentlemanly Superintendent of the Machine establishment, and Mr. Peter Trogenius took passage, in company with those gen tlemen, on a hand car, and reached the city in safety at 2 P. M.

The damage to the road, though considerable, is by no means so serious as was anticipated At the eight-mile bridge, the abutments gave way and quite a large break is made in the road. The Three-mile Creek bridge is sprung about nine inches. caused by a heavy raft of logs, but it is thought can be easily repaired. The bed of the road between One and Three mile Creeks is submerged for a mile and a half. and many breaks made in the banks, but th tron and crossties are all in their places and the road can be easily and specifily re-WILL OF THE LATE DR. SWELL LIFE IN ST. LOUIS. There are a certain class of fancy gentlemen in this city, properly yeleped 'shanghais," who think it a very fine and very smart thing to say indecent things to ladies as they pass on the streets. One of this kind of lowl, whose name was concealed under the convenient cog: omen of "John Smith," was arrested in the streets and arraigned before the recorder yesterday, for exercising "his vocation" on a lady, who had the fortitude to prosecute him. He was fined $25, and in default, was sent to the rock hill - St. Louis Democrat.
