GOV. AYCOCK OFFERS REWARD.

He Appeals to All Thoughtful and Law-Abiding People in the State to Uphold His Hands in Suppressing This Form of Lawlessness.

Governor Aycock yesterday morning issued a proclamation offering $400 reward for the arrest and conviction of each member of the mob that lynched the two negro boys, Harrison and James Gillespie, who were taken from the jail at Salisbury on the morning of June 11th and hanged without process of law, for the murder of Miss Benson.

The proclamation is as follows:

Proclamation by the Governor

$400 REWARD.

State of North Carolina, Executive Department.

Whereas, official information has been received at this department that Harrison and James Gillespie were lynched at Salisbury about June 10, 1902, by parties unknown.

And whereas, it appears that the said parties unknown have fled the State, or so concealed themselves that the ordinary process of law cannot be served upon them;

Now, therefore, I, Charles B. Aycock, Governor of the State of North Carolina, by virtue of authority in me vested by law, do issue this my proclamation, offering a reward of four hundred dollars each for the apprehension and delivery of the said parties unknown or any of them to the sheriff of Rowan county at the court house in Salisbury with evidence sufficient to convict and a conviction, and I do enjoin all officers of the State and all good citizens to assist in bringing said criminals to justice.

Done at our City of Raleigh, the 18th day of June, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and two, and in the one hundred and twenty-sixth year of our American Independence.

CHARLES B. AYCOCK.

By the Governor: P. M. PEARSALL, Private Secy.

As it has been estimated that there were seventy-five persons in the mob, the total reward offered amounts to $30,000. This is an entirely unprecedented sum for the chief executive to offer, and it looks as if he were determined to do everything to the uttermost to arrest those who flagrantly disregarded law and order. This will lead to important disclosures, if anything will.

The issuing of this proclamation was about the first thing the Governor did upon his return from Colesburg yesterday morning. Col. P. M. Pearsall, the Governor's Secretary, drew up the paper, and the Governor signed it.

Solicitor Hammer is now in Salisbury and is at work on this case. He thinks that he has the names of several who took part in the lynching, and when further evidence against them is collected arrests will follow. He expects to go to the very bottom of this indefensible lynching.

Governor Aycock has been very much worried about the matter. The boys charged with the murder were under arrest and in jail, with the certainty of a speedy trial, and the crime for which they were lynched was not the crime for which lynching is ordinarily the penalty in the South, and sometimes in other parts of the country. How far lynching will go and for what crimes it will practiced cannot be determined. It is a form of lawlessness which grows and nothing can stop it but an enlightened public sentiment. The Governor appeals to all thoughtful and law-abiding people in the State to uphold his hands in suppressing it.

A gentleman from Salisbury yesterday said that there was very grave doubt as to the guilt of the younger of the two negroes recently lynched at Salisbury. He says that the parents of the two boys affirmed all the time that the younger boy was at home at the moment of the commission of the crime, while they readily agreed that the elder one was from home. He states that the younger boy died protesting his innocence and singing, "I want to go to Heaven when I die." The gentleman making this statement is a man well known in the State and has held responsible positions. He says moreover that there was only one track at the scene of the murder and this track corresponded with the track of the elder, and not of the younger. If these statements turn out to be true the lynching becomes all the more horrible. It is high time for the public opinion of the State to rise up and put a stop to this form of lawlessness.—News and Observer, 19.

But One Law for Man and for Woman.

There cannot be one righteous law for men and another for women. A woman is under no more obligations to be moral and pure and chaste than a man, and a woman who has been betrayed is as good a bride as her betrayer deserves and oftentimes a much better one.

I am satisfied that many young men go wrong and become utterly immoral and profligate until they are ruined beyond redemption because a proud mother, untrue to her own womanhood, sustains her boy in counting the woman he has betrayed as a creature unfit for wifehood with him.

If the young man who falls into immorality was held strictly and justly to the same standard as the young women, many boys and young men would be saved from moral disaster.

The place for such training is in the home and the time while boys are growing up. The boy that gets out of his knee breeches without honoring womanhood, and feeling himself under bonds to champion the weak rather than to make game of it and prey upon it, is on the road to ruin.—Rev. L. A. Banks, of New York.

A WORTHY SUCCESSOR.

"Something New Under The Sun."

All Doctors have tried to cure CATARRH by the use of powders, acid gases, inhalers and drugs in paste form. Their powders dry up the mucous membranes causing them to crack open and bleed. The powerful acids used in the inhalers have entirely eaten away the same membranes that their makers have aimed to cure, while pastes and ointments cannot reach the disease. An old and experienced practitioner who has for many years made a close study and specialty of the treatment of CATARRH, has at last perfected a Treatment which when faithfully used, not only relieves at once, but permanently cures CATARRH, by removing the cause, stopping the discharges, and curing all inflammation. WINE OF CARDUI

142 Market Street, Memphis, Tenn., April 14, 1901. In February, 1901, I took one bottle of Wine of Cardui and one package of Theodor's Black-Draught. I had been married fifteen years and had never given birth to a child until I took Wine of Cardui. Now I am mother of a fine baby girl which was born March 31, 1901. The baby weighs fourteen pounds and I feel as well as any person could feel. Now my home is happy and I never will be without Wine of Cardui in my home again.
