

a door let in the air;
winds are sweet and the flowers
fair.
Joy is abroad in the world to-day,
If your door is wide open he may come in this way.
Open the door.

Open the door of the mind, let in Strong, pure thoughts which shall banish all sin;
They will grow and bloom with
grace divine;
And their fruit shall be sweeter than that of the vine.

Open the door.
Open the door of the heart, let in Sympathy sweet for stranger and kin
It will make the halls of the heart
so fair
That angels may enter unawares.
Open the door.—Selected

THE CIRCUS PROBLEM SOLVED.

A circus is coming to town—
Whooop—ee!
They say it's a whoppin' big show;
Hope I can go see the clown—
Oh, gee!
For the clown is so funny, you know.
But it costs so very much money—
My-me!
And I haven't a single red cent,
So it isn't so awfully funny—
You see,
For how can I see through a tent?
But I guess I can stand on my head—
Ha-ha!
With my feet up against the tent wall,
And peep 'neath the ole curtain—
Ah, pehaw!
And the show won't cost 'nother' at all.
