Sunday. Mr. John Clayton and family of Port WILLIAM ROBERT DAVENPORT.

The choicest flowers are those which are gathered together just before they are full blown. Their beanty and tragrance are a delight to human life. But we do not say "their work is undone" because thus early they were plucked. So also with the lives of the children of our heavenly Father, whether gathered early or late into His sheaves, it is not ours to say "too soon", nor is it ours to say he left his work undone. It was out of a life of strong religious experience that Paul said, "All things work together for good to them that love the Lord.

William Robert Davenport was born in Washington county, North Carolina, April 9th, 1887, and en tered into rest from Plymouth, N. C., July 20th, 1905.

Robert was the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Davenport, and in his early life was taught the word which was able to make him wise unto salvation. He grew to young manhood in the nurture of a christian home, and by the quiet power of a pure and noble life greatly endeared himself to all who knew him. He became a follower of Christ in October, 1902, uniting with the Free Will Baptist Church, in the country near Plymouth. Like unto his Master, he grew in grace and favor with God and mun.

For the 1-st two years he made his home with his sister, Mrs. M. G. Darden, in Plymonth, from whose home he entered into the life beyond. During his residence in Plymonth he has been a faithful attendant up on all the religious services conducted in Plymouth.

The funeral services were conducted by his pastor, assisted by the writer. The burial took place at Weede's cemetery, near Robert's boyhood home.

We sorrow, but not as those who have no hope. R. A. SMITH.

A Warning to Mothers.

Too much care cannot be used with small children during the hot weather of the summer months to guard against bowel troubles. As a rule it is only necessary to give the child a dose of castor oil to correct any disorder of the bowels. Do not use any substitute, but give the old-fichtioned castor oil, and see that it is fresh, as rancid oil nanseates and has a tendancy to gripe If this does not check the bowels give Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and then a dose of castor oil, and the disease may be checked in its incipien oy and all dauger avoided. The castor oil and this remedy should be procured at once and kept ready for instant use as soon as the first indication of any bowel trouble appears This is the most success. ful treatment known and may be relied upon with implicit confidence even in Cases of cholera infantum.
