

Ask Her This Question

"Do you know of any woman who ever received any benefit from taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound?"

If any woman who is suffering with any ailment peculiar to her sex will ask her neighbors this question, she will be surprised at the result. There is hardly a community in this country where women cannot be found who have been restored to health by this famous old remedy, made exclusively from a simple formula of roots and herbs.

During the past 30 years we have published thousands of letters from these grateful women who have been cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and never in all that time have we published a testimonial without the writer's special permission. Never have we knowingly published a testimonial that was not truthful and genuine. Here is one just received a few days ago. If anyone doubts that this is a true and honest statement of a woman's experience with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound write and ask her.

Houston, Texas.—"When I first began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I was a total wreck. I had been sick for three years with female troubles, chronic dyspepsia, and a liver trouble. I had tried several doctor's medicines, but nothing did me any good.

"For three years I lived on medicines and thought I would never get well, when I read an advertisement of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and was advised to try it.

"My husband got me one bottle of the Compound, and it did me so much good I continued its use. I am now a well woman and enjoy the best of health.

"I advise all women suffering from such troubles to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. They won't regret it, for it will surely cure you."—Mrs. Bessie L. Hicks, 819 Cleveland St., Houston.

Any woman who is sick and suffering is foolish surely not to give such a medicine as this a trial. Why should it not do her as much good as it did Mrs. Hicks.

Good Roads

Automobiles and Good Roads.

In the making of good roads in this country there is always a new mud-hole in the way. Wherefore the work moves slowly. There is steady progress toward the desired results, but the most earnest and active figures in the movement can but admit that, considering the amount of energy and brains put into the work in recent years, results are not what they should be. Bad luck, which is apparently sometimes sent to test the metal of men and measures, has waited upon the good roads advocates, and when this fact is considered the degree of success attained by them in many States is evidence of an indomitable resolution and an unflinching faith in the final triumph of public intelligence. It would seem at times as if the hard roads people work the hardest to get out of one mud-hole, as a means of discovering, as soon as possible, how far it may be to the next one. Their curiosity, and untiring energy in satisfying it, has shown that the holes are never far apart.

The ancient and universal prejudice in rural districts against the cost of such undertakings has of late years shown some signs of abating. The farmer has had to be shown that the cost would return to him in increased value of lands and better opportunities for getting his product to market at a saving of time, which, with every farmer, as with everybody else, is money. The farmer is a shrewd business man. He has studied the problem closely, and had reached the point of admitting that it had two sides before the inauguration and rapid extension of rural mail delivery gave the good roads advocate another argument with which to appeal to him.

The extension of electric lines into farm sections has also contributed something to make the farmer more open to conviction. The objection is no longer as to the disparity between cost and return, but it lies now against "dudes on rubber tires," and there is the mud-hole in the good road. It is the crazy automobilist who is turning back the hands of the clock and stopping the wheels of progress. The farmer is getting ready to consider the advisability of taxing himself for the gain of wealth, but not for loss of life or limb. And it cannot be denied that, on many good stretches of road in this country, built at the expense of the owners of abutting lands, there have been constant efforts to rival the chariot races in Ben Hur. This is the new mud-hole in the good roads movement, and it must be admitted to be a deep one. Numerous appeals to automobilists by good roads advocates have been made to give them a lift out of the mud by reducing their time schedule and going out of opposition to the railroad lines, unless, indeed, like railroads, they are willing to incorporate themselves and put up their own money for their own roadways.—Epitomist

Good Advice.

It is particularly advisable, in the use of concrete for a surfacing material, and on account of its monolithic nature, that all sewer pipes, conduits and mines for public utilities, with their house connections, as are likely to become necessary for a number of years in the future, should be installed during the building of the road to avoid disturbing the pavement after it has been laid. It is possible, undoubtedly, to restore a pavement that has been torn up for the placing of pipes, so that it will not show appreciable damage, but the fact is that the care necessary to accomplish this result is seldom or never taken by those in charge of the work of repair and the pavement deteriorates and is destroyed much sooner than it should be, entailing large expense on the taxpayers in addition to the inconvenience of having the street repeatedly torn up.—Good Roads Magazine

Sun Better Than Shade.

Concerning trees for the roadside, my advice is, that the less trees on the roadside the better for the roads, either in summer or winter, writes a correspondent of Orange Judd Farmer. One reason is, that in summer they shade the roads too much in rainy weather, thereby keeping the roads wet too long where there is too much shade, while the other parts of the road dry up quickly. In winter, where there are trees on the road, the snow accumulates, piles up too much in windy weather, making it difficult and sometimes dangerous to travel, and takes longer in the spring-time to thaw away and consequently keeps the roads much longer in bad condition than if otherwise were the case. I agree, however, with the suggestion that on a 160-acre farm, ten acres should be devoted to trees.

A Case For Sympathy.

Two matrons of a certain Western city, whose respective matrimonial ventures did not in the first instance prove altogether satisfactory, met at a woman's club one day, when the first matron remarked: "Eattie, I met your 'ex' dear old Tom, the day before yesterday. We talked much of you." "Is that so?" asked the other matron. "Did he seem sorry when you told him of my second marriage?" "Indeed he did, and said so most frankly." "Honest?" "Honest! He said he was extremely sorry, though, he added, he didn't know the man personally."—Lionel-cott's.

STOMACH LIVER LUNGS

Each of the chief organs of the body is a link in the Chain of Life. A chain is no stronger than its weakest link, the body no stronger than its weakest organ. If there is weakness of stomach, liver or lungs, there is a weak link in the chain of life which may snap at any time. Often this so-called "weakness" is caused by lack of nutrition, the result of weakness of disease of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. Diseases and weaknesses of the stomach and its allied organs are cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. When the weak or diseased stomach is cured, diseases of other organs which seem remote from the stomach but which have their origin in a diseased condition of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition, are cured also.

The strong man has a strong stomach. Take the above recommended "Discovery" and you may have a strong stomach and a strong body.

WHAT IS PAINT?

The paint on a house is the extreme outside of the house. The wood is simply a structural under layer. That is as it should be. Unprotected wood will not well withstand weather. But paint made of pure white lead and linseed oil is an invulnerable armor against sun and rain, heat and cold. Such paint protects and preserves, fortifying the perishable wood with a complete metallic casing.

And the outside of the house is the looks of the house. A well constructed building may be greatly depreciated by lack of painting or by poor painting.

National Lead Company have made it possible for every building owner to be absolutely sure of pure white lead paint before applying. They do this by putting upon every package of their white lead their Dutch Boy Painter trademark. That trademark is a complete guarantee.

YEARS OF IT.

A Dark Picture to Look Back Upon. John Corey, Constable, Attica, N. Y., says: "From September, 1896, to March, 1897, I was confined to the house, an invalid, from kidney trouble. For months I had tottered about on crutches, a discouraged and despairing man. I was practically crippled with lumbago. I decided to try Doan's Kidney Pills and a short while after I began using them I was able to walk. After taking seven boxes I threw away my crutches and the lumbago has not returned from that day to this. Through using Doan's Kidney Pills I am to-day a healthy man."
