ation, mills, fer-
orses, cattle, hogs chickens, fine cot-eanuts, big 'taters.
say nothing of the good en and their handworks of y pieces, crazy quilts, rugs, utter and good cooking, it is as ttle as Washington county could do would be to give its people a chance to show what they can do at least once a year and about November 30th would be a good date to hold an old fashioned County Fair.

It won't pay. Well, make it won't, like a circus, the other fellow, leaving the towns and county broke, and the wise individual who played the game and lost, wondering how it was did.
But it will pay in one way, by creating a spirit among our people to excell each other in production. We will see and learn of others and thereby profit. It is not big premiums or the "skin-games," that will make a County Fair a success.

We suggest that the people of the county get together on Tuesday of Court Week and talk this matter over, and organize a County Fair Association and lets have a fair at some place in the county about Nov. 30. One good man could canvass the county for exhibits, and we would be very agreeably surprised at the exhibitions that would be made. If for like of time the exhibits fell short, a program could be arranged to entertain and interest the visitors for a few days. An Industrial and Manufacturers meeting. A Farmers' meeting. A Merchants meeting. An Educational meeting. All these would be interesting and beneficial. It might result in the permanent organization of an Agricultural, Industrial, Commercial and Educational Association in Washington county that would accomplish great things. We need organization throughout the county.

What say the people of Washington county to a Fair?

OBITUARY.

Communicated by a Friend.

Fell peacefully asleep in Jesus.
On September the 28th, 1909, at five o'clock p. m., God sent His peaceful Angel of Death into the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry H. Phelps to bear away the spirit of their four-months-old babe, Samuel Woodley, to the glorious realms of Paradise, there to reign until the great last Day when the loving Saviour will be waiting with outstretched arms to receive the Saints and His beloved little ones into regions of Eternal Light and Glory.

The funeral service was conducted by Rev. Luther Eborn from the family residence. Four young girls bore the precious burden to the spot by the quiet family grave-yard, where, amidst the peaceful surroundings and tearful eyes, the darling-among others that was chosen to glorify His presence evermore, was laid to His Eternal rest.

Our sympathy goes out to the bereaved ones; and may the Divine protection of a loving and merciful God hover over them now and always.

Ah! do not weep for him you loved so dear,
And do not grieve that he's stilled in death;
His spirit rest, is ever closely near,
The soul that represents the living breath—
He is with God.

Ah! do not mourn because his baby eyes,
Are closed so soon
And his peaceful sleep
On spirit wings beyond the dreamy skies Where chorubs dwell who never weep—He lives with God.

Ah, crush the bitter sighs within your breast,
For that life now has lost its brightest joy, Christ only called him lovingly to rest,
Where you shall some day claim your angel-boy Give him to God.

I know he had, but he did only lend,
And he must end the fairest and the best;
And he in tender love will surely send His blessed peace to still your heart to rest And only live to gaily ask and pray—
To rest in God.
