TORE HIS SKIN OFF IN SHREDS

Itching Was Intense—Sleep Was Of-ten Impossible—Cured by Cuticura in Three Weeks.

"At first an eruption of small pastules commenced on my hands. These spread later to other parts of my body, and the itching at times was intense, so much so that I literally tore the skin off in shreds in seeking relief. The awful itching interfered with my work considerably, and also kept me awake nights. I tried several doctors and also used a number of different ointments and lotions but received prac-tically no benefit. Finally I settled down to the use of Cuticura Soap, Cuticura Ointment and Cuticura Pills, with the result that in a few days all itching had ceased and in about three weeks' time all traces of my eruption had disappeared. I have had no trobule of this kind since. H. A. Krutskoff, 5714 Wabash Ave., Chicago, Ill., November 18 and 28, 1907."

Fresh Air for Hens.

A successful and practical poultry-

man pertinently discusses the fresh

Did you ever consider the physiological reasons for the necessity of fresh air for poultry? It is doubtful if five out of fifty persons really understand

In the first place, fowls never sweat

-they have no sweat glands. A fowl's natural temperature is much higher than that of human beings-in fact, it is above fever heat. That is the reason that a draft does such mischief. We might almost say it signs

a chicken's death warrant. Perhaps that is putting it a little too strong,

but it is not far from the truth anyway. Somebody has said that a fowl's body is a regular little engine;

the heart beats like a trip-hammer

and pumps blood like a fire engine.

The chicken has nine extra air sacs

to help force oxygen to the lungs, and therefore it needs many times more oxygen, in comparison with its size,

What does this mean? How does it apply to the frosh air question? Simply this: Fowls need more air than ordinary stock for two reasons; they consume more oxygen, and all moisture must be given off by the breath.

Breath moisture is very warm and condenses so quickly that one must ventilate to the limit to carry it off

instead of letting it form a hoar frost

on the inside walls of the poultry house. If ventilation is lacking trouble is due any moment among the flock. Houses with open front or houses with these fronts covered with burlap or oiled muslin instead of glass

are successful because they are thus provided with ventilation; but houses

with cracks and knot-holes are death

traps, because of resulting drafts,

which are fatal.

Finds Potash Worthless.

Professor W. L. Hutchinson, director of the Mississippi experiment station at the Agricultural & Mechanical college, at Jackson, Miss., warns the farmers of Mississippi against the use of potash, for which they have been spending an average of $100,000 per annum. Professor Hutchinson declares that potash has never increased the product of a single acre in the state, and therefore does not pay. He declares potash has been found absolutely worthless on the experimental farms.

German Method of Feeding.

Referring to his observations while traveling abroad, Prof. W. A. Kennedy said that the rearing of Holstein-Friesian cattle is simplicity itself. The calves are given whole milk until about five weeks old, when the ration is gradually changed to skim-milk and grain. The grain is cooked and steamed and fed with the milk at first and later is fed dry immediately before the milk is given. When grass is available it forms the entire ration for heifers, and during Winter the rations are only sufficient to keep them growing. Bulls are fed in the same manner until they are a year old, after which they are closely confined, but regular exercise is given daily. Bulls used for breeding are kept in stables or paddocks and are well fed, but not allowed to become fat. Roots in Winter and green forage in Summer are largely used.

Milk and Milking.

Many people believe that milk is ready-made and stored in the udder of the cow simply awaiting the milker. This impression is corrected by the statement of the well-known scientist John Burroughs, who says: "Most persons think that giving down or holding up the milk by the cow is a voluntary act. In fact, they fancy that the udder is a vessel filled with milk and that the cow releases or withholds it just as she chooses. But the udder is a manufactory; it is filled with blood from which the milk is manufactured while you milk. This process is controlled by the cow's nervous system; when she is excited or in any way disturbed, as by a stranger, or by taking away her calf, o rany other cause, the process is arrested and the milk will not now. The nervous energy goes elsewhere. The whole process is as involuntary as is digestion in man and is disturbed or arrested in about the same way."

Not That Kind of Man.

At a banquet of the Farmers' Union at Shawnee, Okla., a satirical speech by Irwin S. Mason of the Sallisaw stock farm was well received.

"Enough, then"-so Mr. Mason ended-"enough of this lying talk of the farmer's meanness and hardness and narrowness-this talk that makes the farmer out to be the kind of man who'd complain, if his wife eloped in the spring with the hired man, that he wouldn't have cared so much if she had only eloped in the fall instead, so that he'd have been spared the expense of wintering her."-Washington Star.

SECRET WORKER

The Plan Upon Which Coffee Operates.

Coffee is such a secret worker that it is not suspected as the cause of sickness or disease, but there is a very sure way to find out the truth.

A lady in Memphis gives an interesting experience her husband had with coffee. It seems that he had been using it for some time and was an invalid

The physician in charge shrewdly suspected that coffee was the "Worm at the root of the tree," and ordered it discontinued with instructions to use Postum regularly in its place.

The wife says: "We found that was the true remedy for his stomach and heart trouble, and we would have gladly paid a hundred times the amount of the doctor's charge when we found how wise his judgment was.

"The use of Postum instead of coffee was begun about a year ago, and it has made my husband a strong, well man. He has gained thirty-five pounds in that time and his stomach and heart trouble have all disappeared.

"The first time I prepared it I did not boll it long enough, and he said there was something wrong with it. Sure enough it did taste very flat, but the next morning I followed directions carefully, boiling it for fifteen minutes, and he remarked 'this is better than any of the old coffee.'

"We use Postum regularly and never tire of telling our friends of the benefit we have received from leaving off coffee."

Look for the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs. "There's a Reason."

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. theman interest.

Regardless of the results of scientific researches it is of interest to poultry raisers to know that in the markets distinction is made for and against the brown egg.

For instance, in Boston brown eggs bring from 1 to 2 cents a dozen more than white ones, while in New York just the reverse is the case.

In Chicago there is little choice hetween the colors, although one club pays a cent a dozen more for white.

The poultry raisers must remember that a white egg must be white. not shading to brown, and a brown egg must be of a rich color.

One enterprising poultryman near the Chicago market grades eggs for color and ships them in baskets holding fifteen dozen each.

On the paper covering the brown he stencils, "Strictly Choice Brown Eggs" and upon the covering of the white "White Leghorn Eggs." This care always nets him 2 cents above the market price, for the ordinary "fancy" eggs .- Modern Farm, Limber Neck.

Would like if you would tell me thru the columns of your valuable paper what is the matter with our chickens, also cure for disease.

At first the fowls stand round with their eyes shut as if asleep, sometimes with head on the ground, sometimes holding it high in the air, eyes swollen at times. After about twelve hours a thick, white, slimy substance forms in the mouth. At first the bird seems weak in the back and walks with a straddling walk. Later on it apparently loses control of itself all over, and falls on the ground. Bowels move often and the discharge is of a thin whitish nature and just before the fowl dies becomes very offensive.

E. B. Scott Co. Answer: Your birds have Limber Neck. A gulck and sure cure will be found in giving the afflicted birds four or five drops of turpentine in a spoon of water. For a preventive, provide two or three teaspoonfuls of hyposulphite of soda in each gallon of water and not allow the fowls to drink any other water .- In the Indiana Farmer.

Keep Improving Your Pasture.

Many farmers think that a piece of land in pasture needs no fertilization. but there is no place where it pays better. Up in the northern section of this state, not far from Baltimore, many years ago there were rough hill lands in a very poor state, and too rough for cultivation. They were kept in grass and cattle bought in Baltlmore in Spring, thin cattle, and turned on the grass, Every Spring the land They are genuine, true, and full of was dressed with three hundred sweided.

If you open your bedroom windows wide you wake up in the morning feeling like a fighting cock. You have had ventilation. Open your windows an inch and morning will find you feeling like thirty cents badly spent. You have had a draft and you sniffle and sneeze like an old plug with the heaves. A draft is a thin stream of cold air, sneaking in through a warmer body of air without m'xing. Ventilation is a body of air that, however cold, comes in a bunch and has volume enough to regulate its own temperature. Drafts are fatal to health in your flock, and health means profit .--Maine Farmer.

Notes.

The healthy cow is the one that gives pure and wholesome milk. No one cares to use the products from a diseased cow.

Taints and bad odors are out of place around the cow stables and milk house, as the dairy products are especially susceptible to them.

The buttermilk and skim milk should be allowed for when counting up the profits from a dairy herd. Both have a food value when fed to the pigs.

Poor care and under-feeding will wear out a cow quicker than overwork. Good care and treatment and good feed properly balanced will not break a cow down.

Dirty milk cannot be cleaned. A separator will not do it. Pure dairy products are produced by handling milk cleanly from beginning to end, and keeping all dirt and filth out.

Good butter is always in demand. The necessity of making the very best butter possible is seen on every hand. It pays to make that kind, and the man who produces it is the one who receives the greatest benefit.

Dipping of sheep is profitable. Always dip when the wool is short, as less dip is consumed and ticks will be more apt to leave the sheep's body. Commercial dips are good, but some farmers make their own with tobacco, sulphur and carbolic acid.

Dairy cows not kept warm and comfortable during the winter months must use more feed for maintenance and their milk flow will necessarily he less than those comfortably sheltered. Comfort for the cows and profit for their owners go hand in hand.

The corn fields may be utilized after the corn has been husked, but a little care should be exercised at first. Let the cows drink before going into the field and allow them in the field only a short time at first, gradually lengthening the time from day to day. In this way cornstalk disease will be
