'No,' said Lomasney; 'never write a thing when you can talk, and never talk when you can nod your head.'—Boston Record.

HOG HOUSE MADE PORTABLE

These Structures Are in Many Ways of Practical Value to Farmer in Providing Shelter.

(By J. C. FULLER.) Swine were originally natives of warm, damp climates. When domesticated and given proper protection they are found profitable in all agricultural districts. And yet no other farm animal is subjected to such uncomfortable quarters; he frequently sleeps in filth and eats from sour and dirty troughs. Fortunately, farmers are now appreciating better methods for shelter and herd management. With the practice of these improved methods we find the portable hog house rapidly coming into favor.

Only the simplest kind of workmanship is necessary to build the portable house and much odd lumber can be worked into it.

Front of Shed-Roof House.

without considering the importance of sanitation, ventilation and drainage. A hog house of any kind should be located on a high, dry site, and, if possible, on soil containing sufficient sand to drain well. A house located on an elevation may be somewhat colder in winter, but it is much cooler and more comfortable in summer.

Where a large number of animals are continually housed in one hog house and fed in or around the house, the surroundings are sure to become more or less filthy and unsanitary. If feeding is done on the inside it keeps a portion of the floor wet, and gives the entire building an offensive, disagreeable appearance. On the other hand, by using the portable house, moving occasionally onto a fresh piece of ground, and feeding the hogs at a different place one avoids these unsanitary conditions. These portable houses are built to accommodate from four to six mature animals or ten to twenty shoats. This method keeps them much cleaner and more comfortable than when allowed to congregate in larger numbers. Individuals of a herd showing evidences of a contagious disease can be readily isolated.

The shed-roof portable house, the end of which is here shown, is a building six feet two inches high in front and three feet in the rear. When cut in the middle 12-foot boards can be used for boarding the front of the house. A small space left may be closed by a batten or frieze board at the top.

The door of the A-shaped house illustrated is arranged to slide in grooves marked "A" and "A." The solid lines on either side of the door represent the batten. The dotted line

Front of A-Shaped House.

"B" indicates the doorway. The heavy lines marked "d" are the cross-pieces or cleats on the door and should be nailed on the outside to give the back a smooth surface. A ventilator is shown at "C." This furnishes ventilation for two or three animals when all the doors are shut; if more ventilation is desired, it can easily be secured by opening the small sliding door in the rear. This simple plan of ventilation avoids any direct drafts upon the animals and proves very efficient.

Proper Way to Feed a Horse.

The stomach of the horse is quite small—that is, it will hold about two gallons. If the horse is fed his grain first, then hay and then watered, the grain will be pushed out of the stomach before it is digested.

The best way is to water first, then feed some hay and then the grain. In case the horse is warm it would not do to give all the water it would take, but it should be given a little even then.

WAGON FOR HAULING STOCK

Conveyance is of Practical Worth in Carrying Dairy Cow or Other Animal Short Distance.

The wagon here illustrated has proved of practical worth for carrying a cow or other animal short distances. The ideas may be adopted by any practical farmer, who with the aid of his home blacksmith or wagon maker can construct a similar wagon, says a writer in the Farm and Home. The axle for the rear wheels is dropped by means of right angles 10 to 14 inches from the hub, making it truly a "low down." There is plenty of room in front for the small wheels to cramp under the box in making sharp turns, and still leave room for the head and shoulders of the upright animal. The semi-circular arches or braces are of wrought iron flattened and bolted, running well down from the top of the box. The rear gate can be lifted off the wrought iron bracket hooks on which it rests at each of its four corners.

SPRING PIGS QUITE SCARCE

Thrifty, Well-Marked Sows Should Be Kept for Breeding—Apple Orchard for Pasture.

Pigs are scarce and high. The cause is largely due to the high price of all kinds of grain. The brood sows have been fattened and sold—the result is a scarcity of shoats and pigs the country over. It will take at least a year before the farmers will be able to fill up their pens. The thrifty, well-marked female pigs should be saved for breeders.

After the male pigs before they have made much growth. It is best to have this business done by an expert, as there is less risk of loss. After altering place the pigs in a dry pen, having a bed of clean straw. Give sweet skimmed milk mixed with wheat middlings. As soon as the cuts heal turn into grass and clover pasture.

For the early fall market feed mill feed slop all they will eat twice a day. When the fodder corn is well eared and the grain is in the milk, cut up a few stalks and spread over the pasture once a day. Spread it out thin so that each one will get its full share. Give wood ashes and burnt wood twice a week. Keep the feed trough clean and dry. Slop slop, dirty troughs and yards are sure to breed cholera and swine plague. Breeding stock should have the range of a good clover pasture. There is no better pasture for sows with pigs than the apple orchard. The fallen fruit will do when clean, and the grass and clover grazed close. If the sows are well fed they will not injure the trees.

Good Walkers.

Some firms who use heavy horses make an absolute rule that their teams shall not be driven beyond a walk. Two results of such a course are apparent to the casual observer. First, their horses are in good condition and from that fact it is safe to rely on the statement of the owners that they are not always replacing horses that should have many years of usefulness before them. Second, their horses soon learn to walk fast.

LIVE STOCK NOTES

Feed all the small potatoes to the sheep and pigs.

The experienced shepherd always provides his animals with an abundance of salt.

Potatoes may be fed to cows and hogs when the market price is comparatively low.

There is considerable danger in feeding well-fed ewes too highly on wheat, corn and alfalfa hay.

Blue grass makes an excellent fall and winter pasture if the farmer lets it grow rank early in the season.

If the young ewes are not in good condition there is likely to be a great deal of trouble about lambing time.

One thing very noticeable in concrete barns is lack of dust and barn vermin which includes mice and rats.

Success in pork production is largely affected by the attention given to the health and comfort of the brood sow.

All farm animals get hungry for a change of diet about this time of year. Here is where the roots come in handy.

All beef and mutton will hereafter be raised on the small farms and farmers must learn how to meet the new conditions.

It is stated that over 10,000 swine have been immunized against hog cholera by the Ohio department of agriculture since January 1, 1910.

When ewes run free and are given little feed with no shelter, there is no doubt but it proves fatal to success in the production of a large crop of lambs.

Young pigs should have the best of care and get to eating nicely while on the mother. They should not be weaned until they are nine weeks old if good results are obtained.

CURED HER BABY OF ECZEMA
"I can't tell in words how happy the word 'Cuticura' sounds to me, for it cured my baby of itching, torturing eczema. It first came when she was between three and four weeks old, appearing on her head. I used everything imaginable and had one doctor's bill after another, but nothing cured it. Then the eczema broke out so badly behind her ear that I really thought her ear would come off. For months I doctored it but to no avail. Then it began at her nose and her eyes were nothing but sores. I had to keep her in a dark room for two weeks. The doctor did no good, so I stopped him coming.
"For about two weeks I had used Cuticura Soap for her every day, then I got a box of Cuticura Ointment and began to use that. In a week there was a marked improvement. In all I used two cakes of Cuticura Soap and one box of Cuticura Ointment and my baby was cured of the sores. This was last November; now her hair is growing out nicely and she has not a scar on her. I can not praise Cuticura enough, I can take my child anywhere and people are amazed to see her without a sore. From the time she was four weeks old until she was three years she was never without the terrible eruption, but now, thanks to Cuticura, I have a well child." (Signed) Mrs. H. E. Householder, 2004 Wilhelm St., Baltimore, Md., May 10, 1910.

WELCOME WORDS TO WOMEN
Women who suffer with disorders peculiar to their sex should write to Dr. Pierce and receive free the advice of a physician of over 40 years' experience—a skilled and successful specialist in the diseases of women. Every letter of this sort has the most careful consideration and is regarded as sacredly confidential. Many sensitively modest women write fully to Dr. Pierce what they would shrink from telling to their local physician. The local physician is pretty sure to say that he cannot do anything without "an examination." Dr. Pierce holds that these distasteful examinations are generally needless, and that no woman, except in rare cases, should submit to them.
Dr. Pierce's treatment will cure you right in the privacy of your own home. His "Favorite Prescription" has cured hundreds of thousands, some of them the worst of cases.
It is the only medicine of its kind that is the product of a regularly graduated physician. The only one good enough that its makers dare to print its every ingredient on its outside wrapper. There's no secrecy. It will bear examination. No alcohol and no habit-forming drugs are found in it. Some unscrupulous medicine dealers may offer you a substitute. Don't take it. Don't trade with your health. Write to World's Dispensary Medical Association, Dr. R. V. Pierce, President, Buffalo, N. Y.—take the advice received and be well.
