

AFTER 7 YEARS SUFFERING

I Was Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Waurika, Okla.—"I had female troubles for seven years, was all run down, and so nervous I could not do anything. The doctors treated me for different things but did me no good. I got so bad that I could not sleep day or night. While in this condition I read of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and began its use and wrote to Mrs. Pinkham for advice. In a short time I had gained my average weight and am now strong and well."—Mrs. SALLIE STEVENS, R. F. D., No. 8, Box 31, Waurika, Okla.

Another Grateful Woman. Huntington, Mass.—"I was in a nervous, run down condition and for three years could find no help. I owe my present good health to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Blood Purifier which I believe saved my life. My doctor knows what helped me and does not say one word against it."—Mrs. MARI JANETTE BATES, Box 134, Huntington, Mass. Because your case is a difficult one, doctors having done you no good, do not continue to suffer without giving Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. It surely has cured many cases of female ills, such as inflammation, ulceration, displacements, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, and nervous prostration.

Johnson and the Smart Children. Full of indignation against such parents as delight to produce their young ones early into the talking world, Samuel Johnson gave a good deal of pain, by refusing to hear the verses the children could recite, or the songs they could sing. One friend told him that his two sons should repeat Gray's Elegy to him alternately, that he might judge who had the happiest cadence.

"No, pray, sir," said he, "let the dears both speak at once."

DAME NATURE HINTS
When the Food is Not Suited.

When Nature gives her signal that something is wrong it is generally with the food; the old Dame is always faithful and one should act at once. To put off the change is to risk that which may be irreparable. An Arizona man says: "For years I could not safely eat any breakfast. I tried all kinds of breakfast foods, but they were all soft, starchy messes, which gave me distressing headaches. I drank strong coffee, too, which appeared to benefit me at the time, but added to the headaches afterwards. Toast and coffee were no better, for I found the toast very constipating. A friend persuaded me to quit coffee and the starchy breakfast foods, and use Postum and Grape-Nuts instead. I shall never regret taking his advice.

The change they have worked in me is wonderful. I now have no more of the distressing sensations in my stomach after eating, and I never have any headaches. I have gained 12 pounds in weight and feel better in every way. Grape-Nuts make a delicious as well as a nutritious dish, and I find that Postum is easily digested and never produces dyspepsia symptoms."

YOUNG CORN GROWER

Louisiana Lad Given Title "Champion of World."

Stephen Henry Raised 139.8 Bushels of Corn on 95 Per cent. of an Acre at Cost of Only 13.5 Cents Per Bushel.

Master Stephen G. Henry of Melrose, La., has been awarded the title of "Champion corn grower of the world." Stephen is sixteen years of age and joined the boys' corn club of his parish when it was organized three years ago. He began making a good record during the first year of his membership in the corn clubs. He has been a winner of premiums from the start, and in 1911 he won sweepstakes at the Louisiana state fair. He won a gold watch offered by Gov. Sanders, a prize of $100 offered by the State Bankers' association and in a contest with 46,000 boys at the National Corn Show held at Columbus, Ohio, Jan. 31st to Feb. 11th, 1911, he won first prize and was awarded a runabout automobile. He raised 139.8 bushels of corn on 95 per cent of an acre at a cost of only 13.5 cents per bushel.

With eleven other youthful corn growers from eleven other states, he visited the national capital last December. The boys were received by Prof. O. D. Martin, special agent in charge of the boys' demonstration work and introduced by Dr. S. A. Knapp to Hon. James Wilson, secretary of agriculture. The boys were rewarded by President Taft and congratulated on their splendid and unparalleled efforts. They also met many senators and congressmen from different

VALUE OF PEANUTS AS FOOD

Never Been Appreciated in South Where It Will Grow on Larger Portion of Uplands.

(By DR. S. A. KNAPP.) The value of peanuts as a hay and food crop has never been appreciated. The peanut will grow on the larger portion of the uplands of the south. As a crop for varied uses nothing excels it. It can be made profitable

PLEASE A PATIENT

SOME GOOD DIVERSIONS FOR THE SICK ROOM.

Must Never Be Forgotten That Immediate Surroundings Exert a Great Influence—Flowers Always an Interest and Delight.

The immediate surroundings exert a great influence upon the general state of the mind and health of the patient. Take a room with the walls of a plain color; the pictures are a source of unceasing pleasure. Have about eight prints; the next week, under the pretense of cleaning, replace the pictures with others. The patient will discover after a time an entirely different lot hung in their place. Each week the same thing can be done. The patient is sure to take an interest in them, and be glad to talk of them with friends.

A second interest and delight are the flowers. Of course, only living plants would be allowed to stay in the room all the time, but a broad shelf can be attached near the bed, and the patient will love to watch each new leaf and bud unfold day by day. An ever blooming cyclamen and a red geranium are good plants. A glass bowl, with two or three goldfish, are a good idea, as they will interest a patient wonderfully, watching the graceful movements and exhibitions of intelligence.

I heard of a patient who was too ill to read, but a friend brought in some seed catalogues. It was wonderful what a lot of pleasure the patient got out of them. It required so little mental effort to just look at the pictures and read the names, with here and there a description.

It is like greeting old friends. And the announcement of a new variety of some favorite kind of flowers was quite exciting. As the patient's mind began to regain some of its activity he planned what he would have this year in his garden.

Then he drew diagrams, and laid it out carefully—here the formal garden, here old-fashioned and wild flowers, and beyond the vegetables. Of course, it took endless rearrangements, and he was brought all the illustrated garden catalogues procurable.

It was great fun and amusement. A friend coming in would greet him with: "I've discovered a new variety of such a flower we simply must have," and discussed the garden quite seriously. As spring approached a small box was brought, in which he put two or three seeds of several kinds of flowers. After the third day some-

HOUSE GOWN OF CASHMERE

Remarkably Pretty Little Dress With New Ideas That Make Effective Touches.

This little dress is to be made in cashmere of a soft, deep blue, and, of course, in all-in-one princess form, though the waist is sufficiently defined by an encircling band of brighter blue satin, whose shading shall be matched by the little tie, and the scarf which, when tied round the hair, gives such a pretty finish to the whole toilet, as well as the collar. Make this, by the way, from piece satin of the softest, cut on the cross, and just hemmed all round, and let it be sufficiently long to

General Farm Notes

Spray, spray, and spray again. Leave the herd in pasture only a short time at first. Three or four inches is deep enough to plow the orchard. Go over every rod of fence before turning the cows out. More mules die of accident and old age than from disease. The busy fanning mill is owned by the profit-making farmer. A mule seldom gets sick more than once and he generally dies then. It will save time and cash to keep the herd from forming bad habits. Oats, like rye, require phosphoric acid and potash and very little nitrogen. Do not be in too much of a hurry to force a horse's coat to shed in the spring. Don't let up on the feed because it is nearly time to put the cows out in pasture. George Washington was the first breeder of high-priced mules in this country. Pure bred draft horses are coming slowly in this country, but they are surely coming. If the feed in the bin or the hay in the mow is getting low, don't cut down the cow's ration. It is said that short legged fowls fatten a great deal more quickly than long legged ones.

be drawn round your head, and tied in a jaunty little bow rather towards one side at the back. It should measure, say, seven inches at its widest part, in the center, and taper at the ends to two or three, and I am quite sure that you will be so well pleased with its effect that you will speedily provide yourself with other scarves to repeat and emphasize, some special touch of color in all your different gowns.—London Madame.

thing pushed through the earth, and nearly every morning there was another seed coming up. It was exciting to guess which would come up next, or which would get its second leaf first. When bigger a few of the seedlings were planted in pots and kept on the window shelf. When they came into bloom he was proud of them. Fond as you may be of plants that are given you those you have watched grow seem much more your own.

BLOUSE FOR SPRING WEAR

Collarless Garment That Will Be Appreciated as the Warm Season Comes On.

The new aspects of our old friend, the blouse, are so distinctly attractive that there will be special interest and pleasure in making choice of those which are to complete your spring costumes. The design shown here is one of the best, its Magyar modelling making it most comfortable, while the absence of any collar-band gives still further proof of up-to-dateness, and a welcome freedom for the neck, too, which will be specially appreciated as the season advances and the weather grows warmer. Fancy net is the fabric which is thus advantageously used, the pointed revers being of handsome lace, while the chemisette which appears between is of finely tucked net with pipings and buttons of satin to introduce some dainty touch of color.

For Knitters. Just a word to women—few though they be—who knit socks and stockings. Do the heel with a reel of ordinary machine twist, using it and the wool together. The stockings will wear twice as long as if they were of the wool alone.

STENCILING THE RAG RUG

Properly Done, It Will Make a Really Charming and Unique Bit of Furnishing.

Have you thought that rag rugs can be made things of beauty by stenciling them? Take a rug woven all over of white rags, for instance; stenciled in some conventional designs in a queer blue or green, it becomes a fit covering for your bedroom floor, a really charming and unique bit of furnishing.

Another pretty variety is the rag rug made of all sorts of bright colors, woven without respect to design, and then finished with a stenciled border of some solid harmonizing color.

Colors should be bought in the raw tint, and then diluted to the shade desired with white lead or common white paint. The latter is better, as the linseed oil contained in it sets the color and makes the rug washable.

For the Needlewoman.

Heavy gray linen is much used for the background for embroideries which are to be employed as house decorations. Bedrooms and living rooms for country houses are furnished in gray in many instances, and the linen is used for bed hangings, cushion covers, table cloths and window hangings. Ambitious needlewomen are embroidering these articles in quite elaborate designs in several colors. For one bedroom a set of hangings for the bed and windows is being made of the gray linen embroidered with designs of wood fairies and fuchsias in tones of violet, green, pale yellow and fuchsia red.

Wool Flowers.

The very latest Paris modification of the artificial corsage bouquet is the single flower, an orchid, a chrysanthemum, or what not, worked in delicate shades of fine wool, wonderfully wrought both as to form and color, and nested within the scarf around the wearers' throat.

This does not sound very attractive, I know, but really these wool flowers are lovely, and anyone who knows how to make paper flowers should know how to make these also. They are much more durable than the silk and rice-paper creations, and can be easily cleaned.
