

NORFOLK'S OCEAN RESORTS ARE ENJOYING A GREAT SEASON.

Virginia Beach and Cape Henry, the Mecca for Thousands of North Carolinians.

It is seldom that two Summer Resorts, such as Virginia Beach and Cape Henry are found within twenty miles of the live, hustling, up to date city such as Norfolk, Virginia. This proximity is a most happy combination. It allows the visitors to the Beaches to run into the city for a few hours now and then, for shopping a dinner at one of the splendid hotels in Norfolk, or to make excursions, with Norfolk as a central starting point, to the various places of interest around the city the Navy Yard, Shipyard Fortres Monroe, etc. And all the while there is the splendid surf at Virginia Beach or Cape Henry to return to after a day in the city.

This attractive arrangement, together with the fact that good accommodation at either Virginia Beach or Cape Henry can be had way up into October at a very moderate cost from $10.00 to $15.00 per week per person as a rule, make Norfolk's two famous beaches unsurpassed as vacation and outing locations, when the pleasant social life there is taken into consideration.

At Virginia Beach there is dancing each night to the music of the best orchestra ever engaged in the South. There are afternoon concerts, at which a program of popular and classical music is impartially given. There are hotels and cottages, each with bath houses extending for some two miles along the wide beach. From these the visitors gazes out on the great big Atlantic Ocean to the East, over which the sun and moon rise in mid summer splendor.

At Cape Henry to the Northwest, there are great sand hills, and pine forests and in land lakes semi wild scenery of surpassing beauty. The two light houses at Cape Henry are widely known, this spot being of historic interest. There is a pavilion here which is famous for its sea food dinners, and oyster roasts in winter.

Altogether, it will be hard to find more attractive places, from the standpoint of natural beauties where the vacation can be spent amid such congenial surroundings and at such a moderate cost as at Virginia Beach or Cape Henry.

The following is a partial list of the Hotels and Cottages at Virginia Beach and Cape Henry. A card to any of those will bring a reply, giving rates, and reservations may be made for a few days or a few weeks, of safe surf bathing, and other invigorating or restful diversions:

The Ferebee, the Arlington, the Virginia Beach, the Waverly and many other high class family boarding houses.
