OUR NATIONAL DISEASE Caused by Coffee.

Physicians know that drugs will not correct the evils caused by coffee and that the only remedy is to stop drinking it.

An Arkansas doctor says: "I was a coffee drinker for many years and often thought that I could not do without it, but after years of suffering with our national malady, dyspepsia, I attributed it to the drinking of coffee, and after some thought, determined to use Postum for my morning drink."

"I had the Postum made carefully according to directions on the pkg. and found it just suited my taste. "At first I used it only for breakfast, but I found myself getting so much better, that I had it at all meals, and I am pleased to say that I have been relieved of indigestion. I gained 19 pounds in 4 months and my general health is greatly improved."

"I must tell you of a young lady in Illinois. She had been in ill health for many years, the vital forces low, with but little pain. I wrote her of the good that Postum did me and advised her to try it."

"At the end of the year, she wrote me that she had gained 40 pounds in weight and felt like herself again."

Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Read "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs.

Postum comes in two forms:

Regular Postum—must be well boiled. 15c and 25c packages.

Instant Postum—is a soluble powder. A teaspoonful dissolves quickly in a cup of hot water and, with cream and sugar, makes a delicious beverage instantly. 30c and 50c tins.

The cost per cup of both kinds is about the same.

VALUE OF THE GARDEN

Usefulness Cannot Be Measured in Money Alone.

Farmer Will Find It Profitable to Devote Small Patch of Land to Vegetables—Location Should Be Near the Home.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

If the value of the home garden were to be estimated in money alone it is safe to say that the returns from a small plot of land devoted to this purpose would be from eight to ten times greater than the value of the cotton which could be raised on the same area. Many southern farmers will refuse to believe this. It is, however, a fact that experts in agriculture have thoroughly demonstrated. For several years past, canning-club girls have made annual net profits of from twenty to fifty dollars on gardens only one-tenth of an acre in extent, and in Alabama this year products worth $700 were raised on seven-tenths of an acre. The usefulness of the garden, however, cannot be measured in money alone, and no man can afford to ignore the important part that an adequate supply of fresh vegetables plays in preserving the health of his family.

It is obvious that when a man buys vegetables he not only pays for the cost of production, but for the cost of transportation and marketing. He obtains, however, an inferior article. Many vegetables lose their characteristic flavor within a few hours, and none are so free from the danger of infection or so palatable as those which are grown at home. In practice, however, if the farmer does not grow his own vegetables it means that in a great majority of cases his family gets no vegetables at all. One result of this is a demand for tonics and other medicines in the spring, for it is a well-known fact that vegetables and fruits furnish many ingredients absolutely essential to human health. Where a monotonous winter diet fails to supply these ingredients, the human system suffers and recourse is had to medicine.

For reasons both of health and money, therefore, the farmer will find it profitable to devote to his home garden the small amount of land and the small amount of labor that it requires. The amount of land depends, of course, upon the size of the family. In a majority of cases, however, from one-fourth to one-half of an acre will be found sufficient to produce an adequate supply of vegetables throughout the entire year. Close attention must, of course, be paid to the rotation and succession of crops, the planting planned with forethought, and the cultivation done as carefully as that of any field crop. No specific arrangement can be laid down that would suit all requirements, and each grower must devise plans to meet his own conditions. In this he is strongly urged to seek the assistance which county agents, state agricultural experiment stations, and the federal department of agriculture can give him.

There are, however, certain fundamental principles which apply equally to all gardens. The garden should always be located as close to the house as good ground can be secured. This means that the garden can be cared for at odd moments, when it would be neglected if it were at an inconvenient distance. The vegetables should be planted in long rows in or intervals of ten days or two weeks, until the hot weather sets in. Cabbage is also desirable, because it is economical in the use of land and may be sown through a large part of the year. For spring and early summer, good varieties are the Jersey Wakefield, Charleston Wakefield, All Head Early and Succession. In most sections of the South it will hardly pay to attempt to grow cabbage during midsummer, but a fall crop as well as a spring crop should be grown. Cauliflower is generally regarded as a greater delicacy, but it is not so hardy as cabbage. For further information on these and similar vegetables such as celery, lettuce, cucumbers, egg-plant, etc., the prospective gardener should apply to his state experiment station or to the division of publications of the U. S. department of agriculture for the various farmers' bulletins on these subjects.

Although, as has already been said, the choice of vegetables to be grown in the garden must be determined by individual tastes and circumstances, spinach should not be omitted. This can be grown in the open throughout the fall and winter all along the coast south from Norfolk, Va., and inland through the lower tier of southern states. In the colder regions, a little protection may be necessary during the severest weather, but two or three inches of hay, straw or leaves will usually be found sufficient. Seed planted in the autumn will furnish greens throughout the winter and early spring. Spinach should be sown in drills twelve to fifteen inches apart, at the rate of one ounce to 100 feet of row. For the average family, three or four ounces of seed will be found sufficient.

In an article of this kind, however, it is obviously impossible even to name all the products that a garden may be made to yield. The farmer who has hitherto neglected the possibilities of a half acre or so devoted to the purpose should begin with the simpler and most useful vegetables and gradually increase the variety in his garden as his experience and knowledge of vegetable growing grows.

No mention has been made in this article of potatoes, for their importance in the family diet entitles them to an article to themselves, which will follow shortly.

Sick Women Made Well

Reliable evidence is abundant that women are constantly being restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

The many testimonial letters that we are continually publishing in the newspapers—hundreds of them—are all genuine, true and unsolicited expressions of heartfelt gratitude for the freedom from suffering that has come to these women solely through the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Money could not buy nor any kind of influence obtain such recommendations; you may depend upon it that any testimonial we publish is honest and true—if you have any doubt of this write to the women whose true names and addresses are always given, and learn for yourself.

Read this one from Mrs. Waters:

CAMDEN, N.J.—"I was sick for two years with nervous spells, and my kidneys were affected. I had a doctor all the time and used a galvanic battery, but nothing did me any good. I was not able to go to bed, but spent my time on a couch or in a sleeping-chair, and soon became almost a skeleton. Finally my doctor went away for his health, and my husband heard of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and got me some. In two months I got relief and now I am like a new woman and am at my usual weight. I recommend your medicine to every one and so does my husband."—Mrs. TILLIE WATERS, 530 Mechanic Street, Camden, N.J.

From Hanover, Penn.

HANOVER, PA.—"I was a very weak woman and suffered from bearing down pains and backache. I had been married over four years and had no children. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound proved an excellent remedy for it made me a well woman. After taking a few bottles my pains disappeared, and we now have one of the finest boy babies you ever saw."—Mrs. C. A. RUCKROBE, R.F.D., No. 5, Hanover, Pa.

Now answer this question if you can. Why should a woman continue to suffer without first giving Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial? You know that it has saved many others—why should it fail in your case?

For 30 years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills. No one sick with woman's ailments does justice to herself if she does not try this famous medicine made from roots and herbs, it has restored so many suffering women to health.
